MAJ. BALDWIN'S WORK.

The Congressman-Elect Putting His Time to Good Use Among the Officials at Washington.

Has Formed an Acquaintance With Speaker Crisp that is Likely to Prove Very Beneficial.

The Major's Information Leads Him to Believe that no Extra Session Will be Held.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—[Special to The Herald.]—Maj. Baldwin, the congressman-elect from the Sixth Minnesota district, has in a quiet way been getting his bearings since his arrival in Washington, and when seen by The Herald correspondent today, said that he was now satisfied that he had taken the best course in coming to Washington several months before becoming an actual member of the lower house of the national congress.

Maj. Baldwin, as has been previously telegraphed to The Herald, has spent a great deal of time in making the acquaintance of members of the present house, and, also, in making himself known to those men who will be his colleagues in the Fifty-third congress, and who will probably be able to do him a great deal of good when he has any legislation of interest to his district that he tries to get through that branch of congress. He has had several personal interviews with Speaker Crisp, and is very much pleased with the way in which he has been treated by this official. In the event that Speaker Crisp is re-elected to his present position, this acquaintance will, of course, be very beneficial to Maj. Baldwin.

The Duluth congressman-elect has visited the different departments almost daily since he arrived here, and at the present time is on good terms with the officials who are in charge of the many departments in Washington. From Maj. Baldwin, it is learned that he has some little anxiety regarding the forest reserves as the president has been setting aside lands in other states, but that he has obtained this information as he has already obtained, the major has little fear of anything being done in that direction in Minnesota during President Harrison's term of office.

The major has spent some time investigating the probability as to whether there will be any increase in the Duluth harbor appropriations, and the result is that he does not think that any noticeable increase at any rate will be had during this session.

During the little talks The Herald correspondent has had with Maj. Baldwin, he gives out the impression that, from the information he has secured, he does not think there will be an extra session of congress next spring. He is of the opinion that unless some emergency should arise that would render it necessary for an early extra session, he does not believe that one will be called before next September. He is also of the opinion that it may yet be found unnecessary to have any extra session.

RESCUED FROM DEATH.

Five Young Men Plunged Into the St. Clair River by Floating Ice.

HURON, Mich., Jan. 2.—Five young men of St. Clair, while attempting to cross St. Clair river in a small boat last evening, were surrounded by floating ice and their boat capsized. The ferry boat was sent to help them and succeeded in reaching them after much difficulty.

The young men, although suffering terribly from exposure, will probably all recover. The boat on her return trip brought her wheel and is now floating helplessly down the river. Another of the ferries has gone to her assistance.

WHITE WILL BE SENATOR.

The California Legislature Will Elect a Democrat to Succeed Felton.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 2.—A sensation was caused last night by the withdrawal of W. W. Foote, Democrat, from the senatorial contest. He and his chief supporters declare in favor of Stephen M. White, the only other Democrat in the field.

This practically insures the election of White to succeed Charles N. Felton, Republican. Balloting for senator will begin the second Tuesday after organization, the legislature is assembling today.

Mr. Cleveland's New Year.
NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Mr. Cleveland spent New Year's day quietly at his home. He had few callers. Wm. R. Grace, who had just returned from Washington, made a visit to him in the forenoon, wishing him a happy New Year, and informally discussing everyday affairs for half an hour or more.

After Iron Hall Officials.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 2.—Thomas F. Colbert, chief of police, left here for Philadelphia last night to bring Somerby and the other indicted Iron Hall managers back to this city to be tried for embezzlement. He is armed with requisition papers issued by Governor Chase.

Dry Kiln Burned.
BRANFORD, Minn., Jan. 2.—The dry kiln, house and sheds of J. J. Howe & Co.'s saw mill were burned last night, together with about 100,000 feet of valuable lumber. Loss, $15,000; insurance, $10,000.

Mr. Blaine's Condition.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather of the past twenty-four hours, Mr. Blaine continues to improve. He passed a very comfortable night and is reported as being much better.

THE RECORD OF THE YEAR.

Investment Interests of the Country During the Past Twelve Months.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Henry Clews, in his financial circular this week, reviews the past year in regard to investment interests of the country. Touching the monetary question, he says: "There is no question that more seriously occupies public attention than this one—will congress be found willing to thus act? This is really the most important problem that we have to carry over into the New Year; and yet we may hope that our legislators will not fail to enact the explicitly declared verdict of the late election on this issue. So far, therefore, as respects our own country, the symptoms indicate however, the ominous silver cloud of danger may soon disappear from the horizon."

Next in importance among the events of the year, is the emphatic demand for a change in commercial policy asserted by the results of the November election, and therefore its coming has excited less interest than might have been expected. Not less, however, is the foreshadowed change, one of vast importance, Mr. Clews expresses a hope that the changes in the tariff will not be made at one stroke but through more gradual approaches.

Another important feature in the financial movements of 1892 has been the largeness of our exports of gold, which is all the more significant as following the preceding year of large like outflow. In the case of each of the two years, the trade balance has been so largely in our favor that at a net import rather than large net export, specie, as they stand, however, are to be explained only on the supposition, confirmed by observation, that very unusually large amounts of our securities have been returned from Europe; and that occurrence finds its explanation in our silver policy having raised distrust as to whether our investments may not be more profitable in that form of money. Much must depend on whether 1893 provides a remedy for that distrust by suspending the Sherman silver act.

So far regarding railroad investments, 1892 has been an uneventful but on the whole very satisfactory year. The creations of new line have been upon a strictly conservative basis, nor is there in any direction any symptom of forthcoming speculative enterprises. The earnings have at least kept up to the usual rate of progress, so that dividends have been maintained. Under all the circumstances, although the ship of affairs has encountered some perilous weather in 1892, yet she enters on the voyage of 1893 with fairer skies and with prospects of smoother sailing for the port of 1894.

DIED FROM HIS INJURIES.

Millionaire Beardsley Fatally Injured in a Struggle With Burglars.

BRIGHTON, Conn., Jan. 2.—James W. Beardsley, a millionaire resident of this city, and the donor of one of its largest public parks, died at his home last night as a result of injuries received on the night of Dec. 23. He was 70 years of age.

The robbery was one of the boldest ever committed in this section of the state. Early in the evening three masked men entered his home, which is situated in the suburbs. They placed revolvers at the head of the aged man, and compelled him to deliver up $100 in money and a valuable gold watch.

A servant was then compelled to take out of the robbery the money and the watch, while he selected such articles as he cared to take away. Mr. Beardsley was kept with a coked revolver at his head for half an hour, while the other robbers were ransacking the place. When the intruders left, they threatened to kill every member of the family if they made an outcry.

Both have been drinking heavily and ever since and steadily failed until last Saturday night. The detectives are working upon a clue that they think will lead to the detection of the thieves, who are now wanted for murder as well as robbery.

TOOK A DOSE OF LAUDANUM.

The Wife of a Seattle Broker Ends Her Sinful Career.

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 2.—Mrs. Nellie Brundage, wife of Charles M. Brundage, a broker, committed suicide in the Grand View hotel yesterday morning by taking a dose of laudanum. Solomon R. Chute, who formerly boarded with Mrs. Brundage, arrived ten days ago from Telluride, Col., and since his arrival here he and Mrs. Brundage have been living together.

Both have been drinking heavily and went out, and when she returned said she had taken a dose of poison. Chute, who is a lawyer and has a wife in Brooklyn, La., did not believe the woman. At 3 o'clock yesterday morning he awoke and found her unconscious beside him. She died soon after.

Chute went down town and also took a dose of laudanum. His courage soon failed him, however, and he went into a saloon and took a dose of mustard and salt to relieve his stomach of the poison. When he returned to the woman's room, he was arrested.

A letter found on Chute's person read as follows: "Send notice of death to George Chute. See Patterson, Olympic block. I love the woman. Save the letters and send to my father." Mr. Brundage recently suspected his wife of infidelity and left her.

An Editor Censured.

BOSTON, Jan. 2.—For a number of years Frank K. Foster's paper, the Labor Leader, has had the indorsement of the central labor union and has been advertised as the official organ of that body. Saturday the union passed a vote censuring Editor Foster and withdrew its indorsement from his paper.

He Hanged Himself.

ITHACA, N. Y., Jan. 2.—Moses Maybrey, a respected citizen of this place, committed suicide this morning by hanging himself in his barn. He was 55 years old and a truckman by occupation. No cause is known for the act.

TUNNEL PLANS ARE IN.

The Board of Public Works Opened Them This Morning Promptly at the Hour Advertised.

Eighteen Plans, Which Come from All Sections of the Western Continent, Have Been Submitted.

Brief Description of the Plans, Together With the Estimated Cost—Prize Not Yet Awarded.

The board of public works today, in accordance with the conditions laid down in their advertisements, opened the plans submitted by civil engineers from the different places on this Western continent. There were eighteen drawings submitted, one firm sending in two totally different. Some are very neatly gotten up, and are models of draughtsman's work. Others are surprisingly rough. Several, however, have had limited time and poor opportunities for getting up their specifications, which must be taken into consideration. One firm refused to make drawings because they considered the prize—$1000—too small for a firm of their size and dignity to compete for. The list of contestants who submitted plans and estimates, so far as they can be learned, are as follows:

Chas. H. Buckelew, Plainfield, N. J., $587,556. Accompanying his drawings and explanations was a model of his tunnel constructed of steel sections, put together by men on the interior, access being had by means of manholes with tall shafts.

R. W. Grace, of Philadelphia, submitted a scheme for a pontoon bridge to be raised and lowered in the waters of the canal. It is ingenious but conditions not calculated upon hardly make it practicable or desirable in this case.

C. C. Conklin, of Scranton, Pa., at a cost of $683,500 thinks his concrete tunnel, lined with brick, would be a winner. "M. E." some modest engineer of Scranton, Pa., submitted plans but The Herald reporter was unable to find an estimate of cost attached.

H. M. Chance, Philadelphia, Pa., submitted a plan which embraces four independent circular tunnels formed by steel shells covered with masonry. The cost is figured at $388,620. A second set of plans submitted by the same man provides for a monolithic mass of concrete surrounded by a continuous sheathing of steel plate, the whole to cost $653,772.

A. S. Dandridge, Baltimore, Md., figures that a tunnel formed by his iron cylinders will cost $500,000. Wm. Barclay Parsons, of New York, also has a plan based on concrete and cast iron plates.

G. W. Pearsons, at present headquartered at Mobile, Ala., calls his scheme "the concrete tunnel," a frame of whaleback steel covered with wood being the design, the whole to cost $1,362,955.

Charles F. Mueller, of St. Louis, submitted plans with complete details. Brick arches with stone and concrete work in an excavation first made is the process in the excavation work.

M. Wyndom, of Chicago, figures that a permanent tunnel of masonry across the canal, with timber street approaches with interest for eight years, added will cost $281,000. With permanent masonry street approaches and value of extra money figured in, he estimates the cost at $388,000.

Edward Bolton, of Boston, sends some neat plans and specifications for a brick tunnel laid in Portland cement at a cost of $475,340.

M. Foltz, of the Great Northern railway, has a scheme which he thinks can be made at an expense of $450,000.

J. W. Howe, of Cambridge, Mass., submits a plan for a masonry tunnel constructed with the help of the freezing process in the excavation work. The total cost is estimated to be $1,052,032.

D. W. Church, of Chicago, for a tunnel of brick and stone work figures the cost at $716,375.

The plan of C. F. L. McQuiston, of Butler, Pa., is based on an excavation dredged on the line of the tunnel and their placing a cylindrical shield of steel plates over which there shall be constructed arches of masonry, with excavation packed between the shield and the arch masonry. That plan calls for $626,418.73.

E. C. Moore, of Brooklyn, submits plans for a tunnel estimated to cost $537,230.78. O. B. Schmall, of Cincinnati, competes also but no estimate was found attached by the reporter.

St. George Boswell, of Quebec, has a scheme based on crib work blocks, with openings in the center for the tunnel. These blocks are to be sunk in a trench dredged to the proper depth and to rest on piles driven for that purpose. The draughting on Boswell's plans was very neat and the cost was estimated at $623,358.

PERSONAL.

Judge R. S. Tyler, of Fargo, N. D., is in the city today.

C. W. Wells arrived from Saginaw this morning.

Thomas D. Merritt returned today from a week's trip to Saginaw.

S. E. Wallis and wife, of St. Paul, are at the Spalding.

Dan McDonald and James Devanney, two well known West End young men, leave Wednesday for a course of training at St. John's university, Collegeville, Minn.

W. S. Merton, of Albany, N. Y., returned home last evening after a visit with his daughter Mrs. D. N. Willis.

Ralph McKennie left Saturday evening for St. Paul. He will do legislative work for the Pioneer Press.

D. Weyerhaeuser, of Rock Island, Ill., registered at the Spalding last evening.

A VERY FINE EXHIBIT.

Commissioner Moore Tells How Duluth Will be Represented at Chicago.

World's Fair Commissioner H. B. Moore is very much pleased with the outlook for a splendid exhibit from Duluth at the great Columbian exposition this year. In conversation with a Herald reporter this afternoon, Mr. Moore said:

"I have received from the chief of the department of liberal arts a communication stating that Minnesota will receive for her public schools exhibit an allotment of space proportionate to her population, together with items for her university, normal schools, etc. The plan first proposed was to obliterate state lines in this exhibit, and while the present plan is hardly just it will enable Minnesota to make a most creditable exhibit. Under present rules Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia having a larger population than Minnesota get a little more space than Minnesota."

"Our state board has been very liberal in allotting for the relief map of Duluth and Duluth harbor 24 by 24 feet of the go by 60 feet, the size of the state building. The Duluth natural history exhibit will be very complete. The mineral exhibit is well under way and will be a most excellent exhibit of our ores and the building stone and soils of the state."

"The flour exhibit from Duluth will be a very attractive one. The Imperial Mill company intends to expend some $5000 on its exhibit. The Duluth window in the state building, in charge of the ladies of Duluth, will be especially attractive. It is proposed when the fair is over to bring this window to Duluth and have it permanently placed in our new library building when that is erected. The ladies in many different ways are doing their full share to make the Duluth exhibit a creditable one, and I assure you their efforts will do Duluth, and Minnesota as well, no discredit."

"Taken as a whole, the exhibit of Vermilion and Mesabo products, our education exhibit, our milling interests, our manufacturing, our natural history, our harbor exhibit, showing our elevators, boulevards, incline roads, principal buildings, and many other things of lesser note, will be one that Duluth may well feel proud of."

IT LOOKS VERY LIKE LEE.

The Todd County Man's Chances for the Speakership Appear Bright, But No Caucus Arranged.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 2.—[Special to The Herald.]—It looks very much like Lee's election to the speakership if current rumors around the hotels can be believed. This cannot be predicted surely until all the members get here tonight. About one hundred are here now. Lee's election is very favorable to Johnson's chances for the chief clerkship of the house.

Rumors are quite current here that Boggs has decided to withdraw in favor of Lee. Mr. Boggs states that he has not yet pulled out and does not intend to until he gets what he wants. In this event Mr. Boggs will secure an important chairmanship, probably on railroads.

The meeting of the candidates for the speakership for the consideration of holding a caucus at a m. adjourned till 2 p. m. Greer does not want to go into caucus and the Democratic papers appear to be encouraging his men with hopes of aid. It is probable a caucus will be held anyway, as it is not believed that he can swing enough votes to the Democrats to defeat the Republican candidate.

Lee's men are not in good spirits over Greer's opposition to the caucus. The city is full of Duluthians, and they are all doing Duluth good and making a good impression.

GLEASON HOLDS THE FORT.

Mayor Gleason, of Long Island City, Refused to Vacate Today.

LONG ISLAND CITY, Jan. 2.—This morning Mayor Gleason rode to the city hall in a buggy, and all along the line he was loudly cheered. On reaching the city hall he found a crowd of about 1000 persons and a large force of police. At noon Horatio S. Sanford appeared at the mayor's office accompanied by his lawyer, Mr. Stewart.

The two rival candidates shook hands. Then Mr. Sanford made a formal demand for possession of the office. Mayor Gleason replied: "I have been lawfully re-elected mayor of this city and have a proper certificate to show this. I have been sworn in and have taken my seat and shall continue to discharge the duties of mayor for another term. For this reason I refuse to comply with your demand."

Mr. Sanford and his lawyer then left and proceeded to the office of City Treasurer Blackwelder, where a large party of Mr. Sanford's friends were waiting. After a consultation, it was decided to send the president of the board of aldermen, Clavin, to Mayor Gleason and demand that he vacate the office and that President Clavin should be allowed to temporarily take charge of the office.

President Clavin, accompanied by Lawyer Stewart, arrived at the mayor's office shortly after 12 o'clock. A formal demand was made upon Mr. Gleason for the office, but he refused to give it up. President Clavin and Lawyer Stewart then retired and will go before Judge Cullen tomorrow and present the matter to the court.

Earnings of the Railroads.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—A report on the income of railways for the year ended June 30 last places the gross earnings of all railroads in the United States at $1,227,711,638, an increase of $125,059,993 over the previous year. The operating expenses for the year were $814,722,080, being an increase of $83,854,189, which leaves an increase in net earnings of $413,161,114 or $2472 per mile of line.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

OR, HOW WILLIAM BURNETT'S NEW YEAR'S CALL WAS MISAPPLIED.

(Copyright, 1892, by American Press Association.)

Two men having the same name called on business at the residence of Colonel Tom Taylor, one New Year's day. In itself that would have been nothing of a startling nature, however, but the circumstances which brought to the colonel his military title. The colonel himself never volunteered the information, and no one of his acquaintances had courage to seek it at headquarters. The general belief finally settled upon the theory that the man's name and his ability to command obedience to his purposes at all times earned for him the title without the formal baptism in blood upon the field of battle.

Colonel Taylor was a widower, possessed of one child, a large fortune, an eccentric disposition and an abiding belief in himself. Nobody could recall the circumstances which brought to the colonel his military title. out of such a fit of abstraction, and what she had to say to him was for the time being deferred.

An interruption to the scene of silence came when a servant brought in the morning's mail and laid several letters before the master of the house. He turned his immediate attention to the correspondence.

The contents were important, as Annie knew by the snorts, wheezes, coughs and grunts which accompanied the colonel's perusal. The daughter quietly watched her father as he read his letters, trying to read their contents by the reflection from his face.

"No bad or unpleasant news anyhow," was her mental comment after studying the signs.

Annie Taylor was as beautiful as she was will, wilful and untamed in the conventionalities of the world. Her mother died when Annie was five years old, and after that sad day she never knew a woman's watchful care, and her maiden heart grew wild like the flowers of the field.

After the death of his wife Colonel Taylor would have none but servants about his person, and Annie was growing to womanhood with no gentle hand to restrain the impulsive nature inherited from her father. She had been away at boarding school, it is true, but there she found restraint only by rule, and her waywardness was judged in not curbed. She was at home spending her winter holidays with her father, as had been her yearly custom.

Having finished his last letter Colonel Taylor lowered his chin, rolled up his eyes, and looked at his child over his spectacles as if he were a mischievous studying an article of virtue, and merely snorted, "Haugh!"

"Good news, papa?" asked Annie, returning his stare over her coffee cup.

"Yes," snarled the colonel sentimentally. Then he made a charge at the broiled chicken on his plate.

"What?"

"You're not going back to school."

"No!" It was an exclamation with a rising inflection, full of heavenly ecstasy and accompanied by clasped hands, a joyful smile and a suppressed shriek of delight.

"You're going to get married!"

"No!" This time the exclamation had the falling inflection. The clasped hands dropped into her lap with a dull, sickening thud, as they say in the accident column of the newspapers, and the suppressed shriek of delight gave way to a suppressed mixture of moan and sob.

The colonel merely grunted, scowled and drank deep of the contents of his cup.

"I—get married? Why, papa! I've never been in love, even once."

"Great Scott! And what of it? There's plenty of time for love—after you are married. Why, you're only seventeen."

"But—but no young man has ever had a chance to show me any attention and make love to me!" she was saying earnestly when her father interrupted with a bang on the table with his fist.

"Very?"

"When did you kindly arrange all this for me?"

"Fifteen years ago his father and I were bosom friends. When his son was ten years old and I was twenty, we were betrothed. I then took an oath that, so far as my power extended, my daughter should marry William Burnett when she grew to womanhood."

Annie sighed. Then she meekly asked: "When am I to see this affianced husband?"

"Today," she flushed and half started from her chair.

"He has written that he expects to call on Jan. 1; that is today."

"So kind of him. Then I am to understand that these arrangements have been forming between you for some time?"

"Certainly, by mail."

"It wasn't thought advisable to consult me about them?"

"Why not? What was the use of boring you over preliminaries? You and he can fix up little minor details which we may have forgotten."

Annie knew her father's eccentric nature; his passion for indulging strange whims; his exaction of explicit obedience from her, but she never dreamed he would demand such an absolute surrender of her future life. She didn't know what her will, if she had any, was in this instance. If her unknown cousin were handsome and his portrait suggested it might not be so bad to leave school and become a bride. All girls wanted to get married some time, she knew, but all girls of her acquaintance expected to do a great deal of flirting first, fall in love—whatever that was—and make a choice among many of them before they would consent to be treated unlike other girls. For the first time in her life she felt like rebelling against her father's edict.

"Well, I hope not. That picture made me look like a guy."

"That's what I thought, and I hated it. I made up my mind I'd hate you, too, but I don't."

"Then you like me?" he ventured, growing bolder by infection.

"Oh, so much more, a million times, than I thought I should."

"But I hate your father."

"Oh, yes, you will. He wouldn't have any one else. Why, it was all arranged when you were ten years old."

"As an angel," he thought. Still he must humor her.

"Maybe we will not agree upon terms," he said.

"Why, yes? He can't expect me to enter into an engagement without recompense."

"Recompense?" she gasped.

"To be sure. I am a poor man and—"

"I care not if you are penniless. But papa said you were rich."

"He is mistaken."

"That makes no difference. I love you all the more. But you do not love me as you should not."

"Love you," he fairly shouted. "I do! I do! I swear it. I love you better than my life."

"Then kiss me."

He forgot it was a lunatic who confronted him, and instead that mobbing a girl, he kissed her on the forehead, turned face. In a moment she was clasped in his arms, and their souls met upon their lips in a sweet first embrace.

Crazy she undoubtedly was, but harmless as a babe and with method in her madness which was wholly refreshing. At the moment he was willing to join her for life in any asylum to which she might be assigned.

In short, the young collegian was a helpless victim of the sweetest and most unexpected, overwhelming influence which ever assailed mortal man. He was in that reckless mood of mind and soul which made him ready to do to any act of madness in which she would lead. Therefore he did not recoil when she took advantage of him in the kissing and squeezing to hold her head away long enough to say:

"And, now, suppose we surprise papa when he comes home? Let's go right off and get married. Will you?"

Would he? There was another "tackle" move becoming to a member of a football team than to a baseball pitcher.

"Surprise papa?" he thought as he accompanied her hastily down the street.

"Papa will be paralyzed from astonishment."

What troubled him most was a fear that marriage with a lunatic would not hold in law, and maybe, after all, they would take her from him and lock her up in a "private retreat."

"So you are William Burnett?" beamed the minister to whose residence Annie conducted the astonished man. "Well, it is all right, I know, because Colonel Taylor told me yesterday Miss Annie was to marry you, and my services would be required soon to make you two man and wife."

Burnett's astonishment increased until he thought his brain would burst before his heart gave way to the strain.

Was the minister also crazy, or was he merely gratifying a whim of one he knew was daff and whom it might be dangerous to deny anything?

The ceremony was performed. The minister pronounced them man and wife, and in a maze of sweet delirium Burnett accompanied his new made wife back to her parental home.

The servant who admitted them said: "A gentleman is in the parlor, Miss Annie, to see you."

"Who is it, Jane?" inquired Annie with a show of some annoyance. "I will not see any one today."

"He says he has an appointment with your father."

Oh, it must be that baseball fellow. Why did you let him in? Send him away at once, Jane. I want nothing to do with that class of people."

Why this sudden aversion to baseball players? Was it a new turn in her madness? Was he about to be thrust over the walls of paradise? While he stood in a whirl of new wonderment the man in the parlor came out into the hall. Annie grasped convulsively at her husband's arm the moment she saw the stranger. The latter advanced with outstretched hand, and smilingly said:

"Don't you know me, Annie?"

She forced she did. It was the portrait in her father's library parlor.

"Who are you?" she managed to gasp.

"Who am I? Why, your cousin, William Burnett. Am I welcome?"

She turned her frightened face upon the man at her side, whose perturbation was almost as great as her own.

"Then—who are you?"

"I also am William Burnett, but no relative of yours, save what the ceremony just now made me. I called to see your father about a baseball engagement, and I begin to fear there has been some mis-

He didn't finish the expression of his fear.

Annie fainted, and he had just time to save her from a hard fall upon the tessellated floor.

The events which followed during the next few days and weeks as the sequel to the strange adventure of one of the William Burnetts cannot be related herein. They would fill several volumes instead of several columns, and this is a sketch—not a serial. The sayings and doings of Colonel Taylor when he arrived home and learned what had occurred in his absence would, if properly set forth, furnish enough "copy" to be continued in our next issue, until some time in March.

gradually growing worse. Three years ago I got down so low that I could scarcely walk. I looked more like a corpse than a living being. I had no appetite and for five weeks I ate nothing but gruel. I was badly emaciated and had no more color than a marble statue. Hood's Sarsaparilla was recommended and I thought I would try it. Before I had finished the first bottle I noticed that I felt better, suffered less, the inflammation of the bladder had subsided, the color began to return to my face, and I began to feel hungry. After I had taken three bottles I could eat anything without hurting me. Why, I got so hungry that I had to eat five times a day. I have now fully recovered, thanks to

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, Minn., Jan. 2.—Another cold wave is now sweeping down from the Northwestern country. The lowest is 25 below zero at Winnipeg. While at Helen, Minn., it is 44 above, a range of 70 degrees in less than a thousand miles. Some of the temperatures this morning are: below zero, Moorhead, 25; Pineapple, 12; St. Paul, 6; the market, 4; Port Arthur, 4; and Duluth, 2, above zero. Minn. City, 25; LaCrosse, 5; Fort Snelling, 4; and Haver, Minn., 18. No reports are received from the West, Southwest or East.
Generally fair weather prevails in the Northwest, and there is no prospect of the existing conditions being disturbed for a few days to come.

The highest temperature here yesterday was 39; falling to 2 below zero during the night.

Duluth, Jan. 2.—Fair, colder, west to north winds.

Legislative Reports.

The Minnesota legislature will meet tomorrow in biennial session. This session promises to be of great importance and interest to the people of the state.
There are many measures that will be formulated and discussed by the members of the legislature, in which the people of Duluth and the tributary district will be greatly interested. The proposed enactment of a general law regarding the incorporation and powers of cities will arouse much discussion, and Duluth will have a keen interest in all the provisions that are suggested.

The election of a United States senator to succeed Senator C. K. Davis will be a prominent feature of the session, and although the indications are now that Mr. Davis will receive re-election by the unanimous support of the Republican senators and representatives, still there is nothing so uncertain as politics and there may be an exciting senatorial contest.

The Herald proposes to give full and complete reports of the legislature's doings, and they will be bright and gos-sipy as well, paying particular attention to those subjects in which Duluth and the surrounding district is especially concerned. The services of a special correspondent, who is well equipped for the work, have been secured and The Herald's reports can be relied upon for accuracy and completeness. They will also be given in advance of all others in this vicinity. The legislature rarely holds night sessions, and consequently The Herald will be able to present a full account of the proceedings on the day on which they occur.

A Wise Measure.

The Cloquet Pine Knot calls the attention of the newspapers of the state to the importance of a bill to be introduced at an early date in the legislature, compelling villages, townships and school districts to publish their proceedings and financial statements in their several local newspapers, in the same manner as the proceedings of the county commissioners and the financial statements of each county are published. It is claimed that these proceedings would be carefully perused by the people and would be of much interest, as at present very few people are well informed as to the financial condition of their respective townships or school districts.

The active co-operation of the newspapers of the state is asked in impressing on the representatives of the state legislature the importance of the passage of such a law. The Herald has no hesitancy in taking a stand in favor of such a law. It believes that too much publicity cannot be given to the proceedings of all public bodies which have control of the expenditure of the moneys contributed by the taxpayers. The school boards handle large sums of money annually, and the only method which the people now have of studying their expenditures is in the annual reports issued in pamphlet form and in limited numbers.

There is no denying the fact that the proper place to publish these financial statements is in some local paper of general circulation where they will reach all the people. The proceedings of the school boards, and also those of village and township bodies, should also be placed within the reach of the people by official publication in the newspapers. It is therefore hoped that the legislature will pass a measure covering these points during its coming session.

The union of Lakeside with Duluth is the initiative step in the more complete amalgamation of all the cities and villages around the Minnesota side of the head of the lake into one grand city of Duluth. Perhaps, in the future when there is that new state of Superior of which the Ashland papers now dream, the Wisconsin suburbs may also come under the sheltering wing of the parent city of Duluth.

What a wretched piece of business is the Chinese exclusion law. The poor Celestial, who was caught in Duluth after living eight years in this country, is to be sent back to China, and it will cost fully $2,500 to carry out the sentence. This is costly foolishness.

Genius and Suicide.
Does the development of genius have a suicidal tendency? This will seem a startling question to many and perhaps absurd to most people, and yet there are good reasons for questioning whether such a tendency is not the abnormal development of a genius in any one direction. In the January number of the Popular Science Monthly, Dr. Charles W. Pilgrim cites many cases to show that evidence is not lacking to warrant the assumption that genius is a special morbidity condition. Among the names of men of genius who have ended their own lives he mentions the following:

Haydon, the celebrated historical painter and writer, overcome by debt, disappointment and ingratitude, laid down the brush with which he was at work upon his last great effort, "Alfred and the Trial by Jury," wrote with a steady hand, "Stretch me no longer upon this rough world," and then with a pistol shot put an end to his unhappy existence.

Richard Payne Knight, the poet, Greek scholar, and antiquary, was a victim of melancholia, and finally destroyed himself with poison.

Burton, the vivacious author of "The Anatomy of Melancholy," who had the reputation of being able to raise laughter in any company, however "mute and mopish," was in reality "constitutionally depressed, and it is believed that he was at last so overcome by his malady that he ended his own life in a fit of melancholy.

Kleist, poet and dramatist, brooded over suicide, attempted it once unsuccessfully, and finally, by agreement with Henriette Vogel, who believed herself affected with an incurable disease, repaired to a small inn near Potsdam, where they ended their lives together.

Lossmann, the humorous writer, like Burton, put an end to himself in a fit of melancholy.

Sir Samuel Romilly, a man of brilliant genius, by whose efforts the criminal laws of England were remodeled—a man loved for his sweet nature and upright manliness—while overcome by grief at the death of his wife, with his own hand sought rest beyond.

Michael Angelo, after receiving painful injury to his leg by falling from a scaffold while at work upon "The Last Judgment," became so melancholy that he shut himself in his room, refused to see any one, and "resolved to let himself die." Fortunately, his intentions were frustrated by the celebrated physician Baccio Pontini, who learned by accident of his condition.

Other cases are recalled, and evidence is produced to show the morbid condition of the poets Byron and Shelley, and that they also actually contemplated suicide.
In the face of these facts, it is not strange that the anthropological school, of which Lombroso is the brilliant master, is daily gaining converts. Yet we are reminded that centuries ago Seneca taught that there was no great genius without a tincture of madness, and Cicero spoke of the furor poeticus. It is also more than a hundred years since Diderot exclaimed: "Oh, how close the insane and men of genius touch! They are chained, or statues are raised to them."

Latter-
time speaks of the mental disease called genius; Pascal says that extreme mind is akin to extreme madness, and everybody is familiar with Dryden's couplet:

"Great wits are sure to madness near allied,
And thin partitions do their bounds divide."

This is not a pleasant theory, Dr. Pilgrim admits, but, as Lombroso says, does not the botanist find the same thing; and "has not nature caused to grow from the same germs and on the same clod of earth the nettle and the jasmine, the aconite and the rose?" If the unhappy lives referred to teach us anything, concludes Dr. Pilgrim, "they certainly show the necessity of guiding with the utmost care the physical, the moral, and the intellectual course of the erratic child of genius." If the early training be wrong, disappointment is sure to result, and
"the huddled knowledge," as Disraeli says, "like corn neglected in a well-stored granary, perishes in its own masses."

Free Text Books.
County Superintendent Stultz, who was a member of the committee on text books in the late convention of the county superintendents in St. Paul, says that the committee made a report which was unanimously adopted favoring free text books and, without dictating any particular plan, urging the legislature to pass a law which would bring about the desired result.

Superintendent Chapin, of Becker county, made the best argument in favor of the plan. He began by inducing six districts to make the experiment. The neighboring districts, finding that the people were so well pleased with the plan, adopted it one after another until it is now the rule in that county. They find it to be economical, the cost in the common schools being only 25 cents a pupil per annum. This seems incredible, but he gave the figures to substantiate his statement. One result was a largely increased attendance by pupils who had been unable to attend school
by reason of the expense of books.

As the question of free text books will undoubtedly come before the legislature at an early date, the experience of Becker county should inspire school districts in other counties to inquire into the matter and, if they decide that free text books should be introduced in all districts, urge their representatives in the legislature to support the measure.

It is a cold day when the morning paper cannot sell the Duluth & Winnipeg railroad to some person. Yesterday was another warm, balmy, summerlike day, and consequently this much sold road was transferred by the News Tribune to C. P. Huntington, the Southern Pacific magnate. It also threw the South Shore road into the bargain, but for some unaccountable reason failed to tell the price paid. It will now occupy space for several days denying the sale, and then—another "fake" story will be sprung.

The Milling World, published at Bu-falo, calls Minneapolis "the boss Kentucky mule of the Northwest," on account of her kicking over alleged railroad discrimination in favor of Duluth in the matter of freights. Without expressing an opinion whether the charge is correct, the Milling World reminds Minneapolis that "she has for years enjoyed just such discriminations in her favor," and she should not complain too loudly now if other towns can secure advantages of that sort.

The action of the Duluth real estate exchange in deciding to give a dinner to its members and a number of noted people from other cities has set the Minneapolis real estate men to discussing the advisability of doing likewise. Dining by commercial bodies have many favorable features to commend them, and their results are certain to be profitable in numerous ways. The retail grocers' banquet here was productive of much good.

A recent medical publication quotes
a German scientist as asserting that no communi-bacilli were found in cigars or tobacco prepared in Hamburg during the cholera epidemic there; that tobacco smoke arrests the development of cholera bacilli and quickly kills them; and that no communication of cholera by means of cigars or tobacco has been discovered in any epidemic and appears unlikely.

Did you make any resolutions? If so,
do they still stand solid?

AMUSEMENTS.

"Queen of the Arena."

"Queen of the Arena," or "The Gipsy Circus," will appear at the Temple this evening. This is an operatic circus comedy brim full of novel features. The first act is an operatic comedy similar in character to "Fra Diavolo." The second act is a mask ball, containing many humorous situations and novel specialties.
The stage act is a marvel in stage production, being a complete and genuine circus, in which will appear Madeline Murray, the charming English girl, riding her beautiful Arabian horse Monarch, executing a high school manege act as witnessed only in the ring of a circus;
also Prof. Oatman with his educated ponies and laughable donkeys.

The dramatic and operatic personnel of the Queen of the Arena is said to be of great merit. Among them may be mentioned Margaret Shaw, the terpsichorean soubrette; Elena Elwood, prima donna soprano; Minnie Leahy, prima contralto; Charles F. Long, prima tenor;
C. H. Livingston, prima baritone.

Odette Musin, Violinist.

Odette Musin's appearance at the Temple Wednesday will bring out all lovers of high class music. The San Francisco Chronicle says of her:
"Musin stands beyond any comparison with any violinist who has played in this city. He stands abreast of the few who in all times have surpassed all others on this wonderful little instrument. His technique, of course, is of the very highest perfection, but behind that is that indescribable something that we call genius. He draws from the strings the notes in all their fullness and breadth of tone, and they come with that intangible quality of sympathy which carries every sound direct to the soul of the listener."

Very Funny.
"I had a funny experience today," remarked Dunleigh. "I had taken my seat in the car and opened the window, when all of a sudden a fellow back of me leaned forward and said, 'I beg your pardon, sir, but did you ask me if the dust annoyed me?' I didn't know what to make of him, but I shook my head and took up my paper. Five minutes later, blam! if that chap didn't touch me on the back and say, 'Did you ask me if the wind was too much for me?'
and I hadn't said a blessed word to him.
Guess the fellow was drunk or crazy."

Three of "The Boys."

I noticed a curious incident in a Broadway car the other day. The car wasn't exactly crowded, but there was only one seat left. The car came to a full stop, and I thought a lot of women would come in looking for seats, and was debating with myself as to my chances of getting a "Thank you" in case I gave up my place.

To my surprise the newcomers were men, not women. Still I wasn't astonished that the car had stopped, for each one of the trio walked with faltering step. Each one had white hair as well, and it was apparent that the youngest was at least seventy years old, while the oldest may have antedated him by ten years.

Seeing the single unoccupied seat they all passed before it, and each offered it in turn to the other.
"Sit down," said the eighty-year-old.
"I am younger than you are."
"Not at all," said he of seventy-five.
"The seat should be yours. You are the oldest."

"Settle it between yourselves," said he who was at least seventy. "I am one of the boys yet, and it amuses me to see you old fellows quarrel about your ages like a lot of girls."

Soon after the seventy-year-old and the seventy-five-year-old got off the car and before any of the three had consented to take the seat. Then with a sigh of content the eighty-year-old sank into the place, murmuring, "We boys will be boys."

I verily believe had we gone to the end of the route one of the three would have died of old age.—New York Herald.

"Can't you answer me now, Miss

"Mr. Shackelford," she replied, after a pause, "do you think you ought to ask a young woman to be your wife who doesn't even know your name?"

"My name!" he exclaimed. "Surely I have signed it often enough in my notes and letters to you!"

"You have always signed it Harry D.
Shackelford. That is not your full name.
What does the D. stand for?"

he said, rising to go. "It stands for Den-

It's a Family Necessity!

THE EVENING HERALD,

THE PAPER OF THE HOME AND FIRESIDE!

It is the largest and newest paper printed at the Head of the Lakes. It gives

More Local News,
More Telegraphic News,
More News Features,
More Special Articles

That inure to Duluth's supremacy than any other Duluth paper. It is essentially the women's paper; its bright and crisp society gossip, its many features pertaining directly to the homes, and the recognition of the cause of the gentle sex make THE EVENING HERALD especially of interest to them.

The independent course pursued by THE HERALD in politics has won for it many friends who are not prejudiced by party ties, and who approve of a fearless newspaper, but who loathe and despise a hide-bound organ, that only reverberates the sentiment of some party platform that has nothing in common with Duluth or her varied interests.
THE EVENING HERALD has given several examples of its independence the past year and will continue to do so whenever in its opinion the good of Duluth demands it. If you do not take it, subscribe for it.

The business man reads it and advertises in it to the exclusion of all others, because it GIVES THE NEWS and is read by double as many readers as all other Duluth papers.

The laboring man and the artisan want THE EVENING HERALD because it is delivered fresh from the press at a time when his day's labors are ended and he has the long winter evenings to read to himself and family all the day's happenings of his own city and from every nook and corner of a busy and heedless world.

DID NOT KILL SNELL.

Tascott is Declared by a Leading Chicago Detective to be Innocent of the Murder.

The Deed Committed by a Man Still Living Chicago, Who Now Supports Tascott.

He Has Spent a Fortune Keeping Tascott Away and Covering Up His Own Tracks.

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—Whether William B. Tascott is in Alaska or not he did not murder Millionaire A. J. Snell. "The man who murdered Snell lives in Chicago and is well known. He does not want to have Tascott caught and he is furnishing him money all the time to keep away from Chicago." So said Detective John A. Dier last night, after being shown the dispatch from Spokane, Wash., published yesterday to the effect that Jules Beauvois, a miner recently returned from Alaska, declared that in Sitka, Juneau and other places he saw and conversed with Tascott.

Detective Dier passed more than two years making investigations of the mysterious robbery and assassination of Snell, and is equally positive that the deed was committed by a man still living in this city.

"Jules Beauvois knew Tascott in Chicago and would therefore be able to recognize him in Alaska," although Tascott is much thinner-faced than he was when the murder was committed.

"You have seen him then since the murder of Snell?"

"I did not say so, did I," laughingly replied Mr. Dier. "I have kept pretty close track of him, though, and he could have been arrested a dozen times within the last two years if anybody had wanted him very bad. I have no further interest in the Snell-Tascott case than a desire to see the right man brought to justice for that murder. I worked two years on the case and spent $6000 of my own money in following up the matter. As a result I am enabled to declare that Tascott never murdered Snell."

"The man who did the killing lives in Chicago and has spent a fortune keeping Tascott out of the way and in covering up his own tracks. There were four men implicated in the robbery and murder—the man who did the killing, two other men and Tascott. Tascott was taken into the scheme under the pretense that robbery alone was contemplated. He was placed on watch on the outside of the house and the other three men entered. After rilling the safe of valuable papers they made a noise, which brought the old man Snell into the room, and this man to whom I have alluded killed him."

"At the sound of the shots Tascott, according to his own story and from other evidence I have secured, ran away. He met a policeman not far distant and inquired if the officer had heard of any shooting in the block. Tascott remained in town a day or two and then went to St. Paul where he remained three weeks, during which time he received by express a big package of money from Chicago with instructions to leave the country."

CHILE'S POLICY PEACEFUL.

President Montt Believes Wars in South America Are Ruinous.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The Herald's cable from Valparaiso says: The Valparaiso Herald prints an authoritative statement of the general, internal and foreign policy of the government of President Montt.

Congress and the cabinet are engaged, it says, in framing laws which will tranquilize Chile and will re-establish the country on a firm basis. It is the intention of the government to do everything in its power to prove to the world that Chile is the foremost South American republic.

Chile, it is announced, will never act in an aggressive manner toward her neighbors, but will always be ready to aid them in preserving their autonomy and to place themselves in such a position as to be free from the wild outbursts of revolution to which many of them are now liable.

The idea of a war between Argentina and Chile is said to be absurd. The latter country will make no bellicose threats. In the judgment of President Montt, war between South American republics means ruin to all parties concerned.

The Herald correspondent at Buenos Ayres telegraphs that the people of that city were alarmed last night by rumors of an impending revolutionary attempt to unseat the president. Troops were under arms, but matters quieted down. It is fully believed there that a revolution throughout Argentina is imminent.

CONDITIONS OF EXTENSION.

The Panama Canal Company Must Accept or Quit Altogether.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The Herald's cable from Panama this morning says: The government will impose the following conditions in granting an extension of time to the Panama Canal company: The debt to the government amounting to 6,500,000 francs is made 8,000,000 francs and is to be paid in four equal instalments, the first payment to be made in May, 1902.

An inventory is to be made of all the property now possessed by the company on the isthmus, and the latter is to bind itself not to transfer or dispose of any of it without the consent of the government. Any disputes which may arise are to be settled by the supreme court of the republic.

FOUR LIVES WERE LOST.

Snow Plow on the Great Northern Struck by an Avalanche.

SPokane, Wash., Jan. 2.—Particulars have been received of the wreck of a snow plow on the line of the Great Northern with a loss of four lives. The disaster occurred near Javastation, sixty miles east of Kalispell, Mont.

The dead are: A. L. Morden, brakeman; John A. Dier, a Western Union line man; a fireman whose name is unknown, and an Italian conductor, whose name is also unknown. Another man, Peter Lemieux, was seriously injured.

The accounts received here are conflicting. It seems the snow plow was standing on the track and was struck by an avalanche, which came down the mountain past which the line runs at that point.

MADE A BOLD STROKE.

The Chesapeake & Ohio Now Controls Ferries and Steamboat Lines.

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 2.—The Chesapeake & Ohio railroad has made a bold and winning stroke. Quietly for months it has been securing all the important ferries on the Ohio and Kanawha rivers from Charleston to Cincinnati.

In addition, it is given out on excellent authority that they have secured control of every steamboat line navigating the two rivers, except the White line, and they are negotiating for that. The result is to give the Chesapeake & Ohio control of 300 miles of magnificent river business, and affords it the means of harassing any rival road on the opposite side of the river, should one appear, without cutting railroad rates.

A Bishop in Trouble.

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 2.—Bishop Fitzgerald, of Little Rock, has been appointed by Archbishop Janssens, of New Orleans, as administrator of this diocese, vice Bishop Brennan, and he took charge yesterday, celebrating high pontifical mass at St. Patrick's church. Bishop Brennan has had trouble with the priesthood and has gone to Rome to lay the matter before the pope. Friends of Brennan are sure that he will be reinstated.

Horses to Be Sold.

RACINE, Wis., Jan. 2.—Nine palaces of horses are to be sold at auction, and tomorrow the Hickory Grove farm horses belonging to the estate of the late J. C. Case, will be sent to New York, to be sold at the American Art Institute building. Jay-Ey-See and a few others will be left on the farm, and the rest of the horses will be continued but not so large a sale.

A Swell Affair.

PARIS, Jan. 2.—Hon. T. Jefferson Coolidge, the American Minister to France, Mrs. Coolidge and Miss Coolidge gave a brilliant New Year's reception last night at their hotel on the avenue Marceau. The member of the American colony, a large number of diplomats and the leading men in French political life were present.

The Kaiser's Threat.

BERLIN, Jan. 2.—All the reports of the speech delivered by Emperor William at the New Year's reception yesterday concur in stating that his majesty, referring to the army bill, said that the reichstag would be dissolved if the bill was not passed.

Reports of Standing Committees.

City Property and Buildings.

To the President and Common Council of the City of Duluth:

Your committee to whom was referred the matter of the investigation of the municipal court room submit herewith a communication from the board of public works recommending the payment of $200 deducted from the salary of the building inspector.

The report was accepted.

Streets, Alleys and Bridges.

To the President and Common Council of the City of Duluth:

Your committee to whom was referred the application of the Northwestern Plumbing and Heating company of Duluth for permission to erect a pipe and lamp in front of the building on Michigan street would most respectfully report that they have considered the same, and recommend that the permission be granted.

The report was accepted.

Finance.

To the President and Common Council of the City of Duluth:

Your committee to whom was referred the communication of the mayor in regard to the labor market in Duluth in relation to the decision of the supreme court in the Portland arena case, together with a statement of the consequences thereof on city finances, would most respectfully report that they have considered the same, and recommend that in so far as the matter of the payment of labor on the Duluth contract is concerned, the city attorney be and is hereby requested to examine the contract and find and ascertain and report to this council whether the city cannot pay the laborers on said contract without paying to the bond, and would most respectfully report further that they have considered the Duluth arena assessment matter and find that a city with $80,000 of good assets directly securing an indebtedness of $25,000 is in serious danger of financial ruin, and although the city may be temporarily embarrassed, measures have been taken which will cure all defects and render the assessments in question valid and collectible as soon as the legislature convenes.

We further recommend the reference of the matter to the finance committee.

CHAS. A. LONG, Chairman of Committee.

Referred to finance committee.

BURNED SEVEN HORSES

The A. Booth Packing Company Suffered a Severe Loss by Fire Early This Morning.

The Stable and a Storage House, in Which Was Fishing Apparatus, Were Totally Destroyed.

Seven Valuable Horses Suffocated and Burned—Loss is Nearly Eight Thousand Dollars.

The Duluth branch of the A. Booth Packing company was visited by a disastrous fire this morning about 4 o'clock which entailed a loss of $7,800. The well known horses, seven in number, Kit and Fly, Belle and Maud, Daisy and Dick, and old Dan, the ex-circus trick horse, were suffocated by the smoke. Their selling value was considerably above $2000, half that amount being offered for the first named team. The stable and the old Truelsen ice house, used as a wooden stock, twine and net storage house, were destroyed. The ice house contained a large amount of stock packages, such as tubs and boxes, pails and kegs, and a large number of expensive ponies and other fishing nets and seines. The fire was confined to the stable and old ice house by the strenuous efforts of the firemen.

One of the machinists at the Crawford steam engine works claims he saw the fire before anyone else, but he did not know there were any horses in the barn and he believed the alarm had been turned in. Dan McDonald, who sleeps over the Booth office, was awakened shortly before 4 o'clock by a bright light streaming on the ceiling of his room and rushed out in his underclothes and stocking feet to the barn and opened the door, but the smoke drove him back and the horses were evidently suffocated when he reached there. He sent in the alarm and the department responded quickly. A recapitulation of the total loss is about as follows: the amounts being under the actual figure if anything:

Horses.....$2,000
Harnes.....500
Barn and contents, hay, straw, feed, etc.....500
Ice house (used for storage of fishing apparatus).....500
Contents of ice house exclusive of note, etc.....1,200
Fisherman's note, etc.....2,500
Total.....$7,800

The blanket policy of insurance held by the Booth company only covers the loss on the package stock in the ice house. The impression is that the fire was due to the presence of tramps sleeping in the hay loft over the horses, as on several occasions the employees and police have driven them from the premises. Manager Coventry and the employees were on hand shortly after the alarm was turned in.

THE SURPLICED CHOIR.

It Sang for the First Time Yesterday at St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

Yesterday, at St. Paul's church, Duluth's first surpliced choir made its appearance. The chancel has been enlarged so as to accommodate about forty-five singers, thus making a vast improvement in the appearance of the building. Rev. Mr. Barker has for a long time been anxious to have a surpliced choir, and yesterday his wishes were realized. The choir now consists of about twenty boys and twelve men, fully vested in cassocks and surplices, whose reverent demeanor and good singing greatly added to the impressive nature of the services. In addition to these there are about twelve ladies, nine sopranos and three contraltos.

The boys have been trained for about three months by Mr. Cuntance, the organist of the church, who is to be congratulated on the great success attending his work, while the very existence of the surpliced choir is only another proof of Rev. Mr. Barker's interest in the welfare of his parish and his indomitable energy in carrying out improvements. Mr. Barker's principle in arranging the music of the church is to admit, as far as possible of the congregation joining in the psalms and hymns and responses, making the choir the leaders, not the sole performers, of the musical and responsive portions of the service. That this end is furthered by the more complete choral rendering of the service was proved by the hearty manner in which the large congregation united with the choir in the church litany, which for the first time was sung instead of being read. The members of the congregation feel deeply grateful to their rector for the many privileges he has afforded them and particularly for this latest introduction of an ancient custom of the church.

Collier, financial secretary; Frank Cole, treasurer; E. Drown, sergeant-at-arms; Vanderby, guard; H. Miller, trustee; E. Cheppell, trustee. The place of meeting has been changed to Hennricksen's hall.

THE MUNICIPAL COURT.

A Few Individuals Who Commenced the New Year Badly.

In the municipal court this morning the calendar was called, three motions heard and court adjourned for the remainder of the day. In criminal matters business was light. John Tolley for getting drunk on the New Year was given ten days in jail. John Black was found guilty of being a vagrant, but so that he might start in on 1893 a free man, the judge suspended sentence.

Not only did Saloonkeeper M. Ponti forget all New Year resolutions not to drink his own tanglefoot in 1893, but he drank so much that he became very turbulent. An officer locked him up until he sobered up a little when he was released on $20 bail. He failed to appear this morning and $12 of the $20 were declared forfeited.

LEE IS ELECTED.

Both the Branches of the Legislature Were Organized This Morning by the Republican Members.

Three of the Old Alliance Senators Came Over to the Republican Side for Organization.

A Joint Senatorial Caucus Called for Tomorrow Evening When Davis Will be Renominated.

Greer and Nine of His Supporters Refused to Attend the House Caucus—Boggs Withdraws.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 3.—[Special to The Herald.]—Both branches of the legislature met at noon today. The senate was organized by the Republicans, three of the old Alliance senators having come over to the Republican side. In the house W. E. Lee, Republican, was elected speaker, after which a recess was taken until 3:30. The entire ticket nominated by the Republican caucus last night will go through.

The Democrats and Alliance members each put up a candidate for speaker. The Democrats nominated a full ticket, but the Alliance men nominated no one, except a man for speaker.

A joint senatorial caucus has been called for tomorrow evening. Davis will be renominated and re-elected to the United States senate.

LAST NIGHT'S CAUCUS.

Greer and Nine of His Supporters Would Not Attend.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 3.—[Special to The Herald.]—Greer refused to go into caucus yesterday and when it became generally known Republicans were nearly panicky. They feared a deal between Greer and Democrats to defeat Senator Davis and great hustling was done in the afternoon to get all the Republican members out to the caucus, which was called for 8 p. m., in spite of Greer's refusal to join. Representatives of the First congressional district represented by Greer's friends to be solid for him were invited to the caucus for the sake of Davis to be present at the caucus. Before 6 o'clock many of the Greer men had pledged to attend the caucus. Phillips, candidate for clerk, openly asserted that he was going to get even with Duluth politicians and would lead the chief clerk of the house in spite of them, even if it involved the defeat of Davis. Kendall is his only active Duluth supporter here.

It was 3:15 p. m. when Greer walked out of the room where the meeting of candidates for speaker was being held in the Merchants, and the door was slammed and bolted after him. He refused to say anything to the reporters, but five minutes later the other three candidates walked out, saying that they had agreed to a caucus and named a committee to call one. This committee consisted of one man from each congressional district, as follows: J. R. Nelson, First; O. O. Lane, Second; A. T. Koerner, Third; P. H. Horton, Fourth; E. F. Comstock, Fifth; J. M. Markham, Sixth; E. T. Young, Seventh.

The question then was how many men Greer could hold out of a caucus. It was freely predicted that this action would keep away more than the required fourteen and that caucus would amount to nothing. Bets were freely made at the Merchants' that there would not be a majority of the members at the caucus and that the speaker would be chosen from the floor of the house. Those who bet on a majority attending the caucus were badly astray. Only ten Republican members remained away.

The Republicans assembled in caucus were a fine body of men apparently as high in intelligence as any who have ever assembled at the capitol. The result of the caucus was decidedly encouraging to Senator Davis supporters and delegates Greer, who bolted the Republican caucus to innocuous desuetude. It was very harmonious and left the Twin cities largely out in the cold. At the caucus, E. F. Comstock called the meeting to order and recommended D. M. Sullivan, who beat Doan for representative, for chairman. Sullivan was chosen, and Bob Dunn, of Princeton, was then elected secretary. A resolution was passed to hold a senatorial caucus, after it was shown that sixty-two members were present showing that only ten were absent.

Mr. Boggs withdrew from the contest at the last moment, having reached an understanding with Lee regarding an important chairmanship, so rumor says. Mr. Boggs addressed the caucus as follows:

"I came to this city to get the speakership if I could. I was an earnest and have remained in the fight up to this time. I have been charged with making a fight simply for place. I shall not take any place given me for this reason. On account of these charges I have kept still until now, when it becomes my duty to declare to my friends my position at this time." He thanked his friends for their support and gave them freedom to vote for whom they would. "I have received great kindness at the hands of the members," he said, "and I hope to preserve their friendship as they have mine." He then retired from the room amid great applause. W. A. Fleming nominated William E. Lee for speaker. Mr. Hopkins nominated O. B. Turrell, of Redwood county. The result of the informal ballot was, 41 for Lee and 14 for Turrell, which was declared formal and unanimous. Lee's speech declared for reform in the matter of outlay in expenses and appropriations. He said that he wanted the appropriations put back on the basis of the Republicans four years ago.

F. A. Johnson, of St. Paul, was nominated for clerk unanimously; M. J. Dowling, assistant clerk; second assistant clerk, George A. French, of Monticello; engrossing clerk, S. B. Molander, of Mora; enrolling clerk, A. C. Belyea; postmaster and assistant enrolling clerk, Edward Johnson; sergeant-at-arms, Basil Smour, assistant, J. W. Wells. After a vote of thanks to the chairman and secretary, the caucus adjourned.

The Senatorial Caucus.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 3.—The Republican senators caucused last night. Three Alliance senators, Dedon, Wood and Matt, were present, and Honipie will also act with the Republicans, giving them the organization. The following officers were selected in caucus: Secretary, Ed Folson; assistant secretary, J. G. Fowler; enrolling clerk, L. D. Miller; engrossing clerk, C. W. Foote; sergeant-at-arms, E. E. Benn.

AN EXTRA SESSION LIKELY.

But it Will Not be Called Until Next Autumn.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The recent conference between the president-elect and Speaker Crisp was expected to result in some authorized announcement on the subject of an extra session. While these anticipations have not been realized, as Speaker Crisp has studiously refrained from giving out any statement as to what passed between Mr. Cleveland and himself, something in the nature of a statement on "good authority" is passed around among the Democratic leaders.

This runs to the effect that while no definite decision will be made on the question of an extra session of congress until February, by which time the cabinet of President-elect Cleveland will probably have been selected, the probabilities are decidedly against an extra session of congress before next autumn.

Mr. Cleveland, it is said, has said to Democratic leaders in congress that he will call congress together in special session. He also told them, it is reported, that it would not be convoked before autumn, unless the financial situation and the condition of the treasury made it absolutely imperative that congress should meet in the spring to provide the government with the amount of revenue to meet necessary expenses.

REFUSE TO PAY THE TAX.

Serious Times in Kentucky Over Payment of a Railroad Tax.

PRINCETON, Ky., Jan. 3.—The tax payers of Muhlenburg county are up in arms over an attempt to collect the railroad tax of the county voted about twenty years ago for the building of the Elizabethtown & Paducah railroad.

No tax has been paid for nearly twenty years, although every legal process has been gone through to force the people to pay it. A short time ago certain bond holders got a judgment against the county. The collection has been begun, and many of the citizens swear they will shed blood before they will pay a cent.

Various threats have been made against the collector. The people have fought the collection of the tax through the courts, until they have finally come to the point where they will have to resort to physical force or pay the debt, which now amounts to about $80,000, or about one-half of the assessable value of the property in the county.

BIG STRIKE IN GERMANY.

Twenty-two Thousand Coal Miners Out and striking is Reported.

BERLIN, Jan. 3.—The authorities are agitated by the serious character of the strike of the coal miners in the Saar district and yesterday four battalions of the Twenty-ninth and Sixty-fourth regiments and a large force of gendarmes were ordered to the scene of disturbance.

The number of strikers has increased rapidly and now they number about 22,000. Many of them have arms and serious rioting is reported at several points in the district.

The leaders of the strike have forced thousands to join them, who would have preferred to remain at work, and their object appears to be not so much to obtain an alleviation of the conditions under which they have been employed as to cause an insurrection.

Sentences Commuted.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The president has commuted to six months imprisonment in the jail at Guthrie, Oklahoma, the sentence of one year's imprisonment in the Minnesota state penitentiary imposed in the cases of Frank H. Woodruff, William H. Shirley, Andrew B. Woodruff, Henry L. McCullough, Wm. B. Stewart and James L. Wallace, each of whom were convicted of perjury in the "sooner" land cases.

Took His Own Life.

BOSTON, Jan. 3.—News has been received here by Arthur White that his brother, Dr. Eugene White, of this city, who went abroad last July for his health, committed suicide on Dec. 20, in Regents park, London, by shooting. Arthur White will sail today for England. "I cannot understand this sad business at all," he said.

Mrs. Maybrick's Illness.

LONDON, Jan. 3.—The Baroness de Rouques denies the truth of the report that Mrs. Maybrick, her daughter, is merely feigning illness. Such statements, she says, are not only false but cruel.

An Entomologist Dead.

LONDON, Jan. 3.—John Obadiah Westwood, M. A., F. R. S., honorary president of the British Entomological society, died yesterday. Professor Westwood was born in Sheffield in 1805. In 1860 he was elected to fill the place of the illustrious Humboldt as corresponding member of the Entomological society at Paris.

The Weather.
U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN.,
Jan. 3.—Some very decided contrasts in temperature are shown in the past 24 hours. A cold wave from the north, which has been moving westward since the 28th, has reached Duluth, and the temperature has fallen from 42 to 38 over the city. The temperature at Duluth, however, is not so low as it is in some of the other places. At Duluth, the temperature is 38, at St. Paul, 32, at Minneapolis, 30, at Chicago, 28, at St. Louis, 26, at Kansas City, 24, at Omaha, 22, at Denver, 20, at Salt Lake City, 18, at Portland, 16, at Seattle, 14, at San Francisco, 12, at Los Angeles, 10, at San Diego, 8, at Phoenix, 6, at Albuquerque, 4, at Santa Fe, 2, at Las Vegas, 0, at El Paso, -2, at Austin, -4, at Dallas, -6, at Fort Worth,
-8, at St. Louis, -10, at Chicago, -12, at Milwaukee, -14, at St. Paul, -16, at Minneapolis, -18, at Duluth, -20.

Duluth, Jan. 3.—Fair, probably followed by snow; continued cold weather today; followed by rising temperature tonight; northwest winds, becoming variable.

Local Forecasts.
H. H. BROOKS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The storm central in the middle St. Lawrence valley Monday morning has moved northeast of the region of ex-citation. The pressure has decreased rapidly in the Northwest and a storm of considerable energy is central over the middle Saskatchewan valley. An area of high pressure isolated from the Pacific coast to Texas, and has pressure high from the lake region to the Gulf of Mexico.
The temperature has fallen throughout the central valleys, the lake regions and the Atlantic coast states. The greatest fall occurring from the upper lake region over northern New England, where it is 20 to 30 degrees. In the Rocky mountain and Northwest the temperature has risen. Snow flurries are occurring in the lake regions and light rain or snow has fallen in the Ohio valley and Pennsylvania.
Continued cold and generally fair weather is indicated for the middle Mississippi river to the Atlantic coast. In the lake regions snow flurries will occur. From the Mississippi river to the Rocky mountains the weather will be warmer with increasing cloudiness.
For Minnesota and Dakota: Snow or rain; warmer Wednesday morning; cooler in western portions of the Dakotas; southerly winds; southerly winds. For Wisconsin:
Fair, except perhaps a snow flurry at Lake states; warmer; winds shifting to southerly.

A National Quarantine.
The question of national quarantine is attracting considerable attention at present.
It is touched upon at some length in the message which Governor Flower delivered to the New York legislature today, and in view of the importance of quarantine regulations at the port of New York the governor's views will be read with considerable interest. He does not oppose national quarantine, but he objects to an exclusive national quarantine, holding that while there is a field for national quarantine in the inspection of immigrants leaving foreign ports, the inspection in this country and other regulations at home may be safely left to the state quarantine officials.

Governor Flower's remarks also voice
the feelings of the New York chamber of commerce which recently declared against national quarantine. This action prompted the Chicago Inter Ocean to say that "it may be in a spirit of selfishness that the New York chamber of commerce protests against the inefficient system of state quarantine, and resolves in favor of one under national control, but while the motive to prevent commercial intercourse may simply be panic from the continued importation of rags that have been used in the cholera hospitals of Hamburg, or worn by the lepers of Asia, its effect is toward preservation of the health of the nation. The opposition of Tammany to national quarantine is selfish, but of the order of un enlightened selfishness. It would risk a national epidemic to conserve the patronage of a few places in the hands of the officers of one state." The Inter Ocean is bitterly partisan, and this will account for the fling in the last sentence.

Still, the Chicago paper is right when it says that the boards of trade and chambers of commerce of all great cities may do well to resolve in unison with New York.
For cholera travels fast and assumes many disguises. If it once gets a firm foot-hold in New York no system of local quarantine can exclude it from Philadelphia, Chicago and the other great cities of the continent. Especially is Chicago, that has made such vast preparations for the World's fair, interested in the enforcement of national quarantine.
Kindred to this is the problem of suppression of poverty-stricken, ill-fed and disease stricken immigrants. The physical condition of all persons landing at our ports should be a matter of anxious solicitude and of vigilant inspection.
Both as a sanitary and as an economic measure, Senator Chandler's bill for the total suspension of immigration for one year from date of its passage is worthy of consideration in a spirit devoid of par-tisanism. With national quarantine and stringent repression if not absolute suspension of immigration, there is little reason for dread of an invasion of cholera. But it will be folly unspeakable to neglect the use of all possible precautions against such a calamity.

There are plenty of arguments in favor of a national quarantine, says the New York Times, and Mr. Reed, the secretary of the Pan-American medical Congress, puts some of them very clearly when he says: "I am thoroughly impressed that we are spending more money for quarantine service than any other country in the world; that we are interfering more effectively with our commerce than any other country in the world, and that we are receiving less protection in return than any other country in the world. What a national quarantine made clear and definite, with no possible misunderstanding as to authority, regulations could be imposed that would not amount to an embargo upon commerce, and that would give us increased security, for the reason that it would result in concert of action and in responsible centralization of authority."

In the same line the secretary of the state board of health of Pennsylvania writes: "I would reiterate here what I have always maintained in my publications upon the subject, that a national quarantine, liberally supplied with every appliance that modern science can suggest, would very greatly lessen the existing imposts upon commerce; that the restrictions on commerce and travel would be diminished and periods of detention would be lessened, and even in the matter of fees the impositions would probably be less serious than with the present disjointed system."

These general arguments are quite ample to justify the establishment of a national quarantine, and it will probably be established in spite of the opposition of Governor Flower and other officials in New York.

Superintendent Kiehle.
The county superintendents did not endorse Superintendent Kiehle for reappointment. A resolution was offered declaring that they would not take any action to promote the private interests of any party whatever. After some amendments and considerable discussion, this was postponed indefinitely.

When many of the superintendents left for home, a resolution was sprung upon the convention asking for the reappointment of Superintendent Kiehle.
This was defeated by adjournment.

The general feeling was not of opposition to the present incumbent, but a desire to leave the governor entirely free to appoint the best man he can find for the position. If he decides that he can not do better by a change, the superintendents will be content. This statement is made, because an impression has been created that Superintendent Kiehle was endorsed by the county superintendents for another term. The determined effort made by Mr. Kiehle to get this endorsement and the strife which it stirred up has certainly not raised him in the eyes of the people.

A Great Change.
The sudden development of the flour milling industry at the head of Lake Superior is pointed out by the Milwaukee Wisconsin to be the beginning of the end of the supremacy of Minneapolis as the great milling center of the world.
The mills are coming to the water-side, where lake transportation can be had direct from the rollers.

Minneapolis flour must be transported by rail to Duluth and Superior, and there transferred to vessels. This entails expense that must be figured into the selling price in competition with millers who ship direct from their mills by lake.
The Wisconsin well says that the railroad companies have helped the Minneapolis out as much as possible, but the economic conditions are so clearly in favor of the lakeside milling centers that new enterprises will surely locate at the head of the lakes in preference to Minneapolis. In the very near future Minneapolis must yield the palm to Duluth and Superior as the great milling center of the world.

The New Ore Docks.
Referring to The Herald's recent interview with Lon Merritt, in which he said that "the new combination of iron mines, railroads and the Standard Oil company with the American Steel Barge company would build ore docks and centralize their operations at Oneota," the Superior Leader today says:
"The Herald misquoted Mr. Merritt, who, in his interview with the Leader,
said he would like to have the ore docks at Oneota where he owns property, but that money talks and those who are furnishing the money are favorable to Superior."

The Herald did not misquote Mr.
Merritt, and there is no better proof of this fact than the sale by Mr. Munger to the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road for $300,000, of the Erie pier at Oneota.
The company already owns the Ontario pier, and on these two piers the ore docks are to be erected at once. The Superior paper need no longer cling to the absurd idea that the docks are going on the Wisconsin side of the bay.

The insulting reference to Mr. J. K.
Persons made in the News Tribune's report of last night's council meeting was certainly not justified by any action of Mr. Persons. That gentleman declined to serve as alderman from the Seventh ward, because he did not believe he would be acting honorably towards Mr.
Rothermel, who was also recommended by the old Lakeside council, or towards the rest of his former colleagues, should he accept the office under the circumstances.

Thirty representatives and fourteen senators are booked to take a trip to Hawaii, according to a Washington correspondent, the object being "to counteract the influence which Englishmen are exercising against American commerce."

If the members of congress propose to pay their own expenses, all right. The public treasury should not be looted to give these men a holiday jaunt.

It is pleasing to learn from a Chicago detective that Tascott is not wanted for the murder of Banker Snell, but that another man now living in Chicago committed the deed and has his tracks well covered. We may now escape the perennial story about Tascott being caught, while men with gold filling in their front teeth will feel at liberty to smile with perfect safety.

The Duluth candidates for speaker and clerk of the house apparently were lost in the shuffle.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Queen of the Arena."

The "Queen of the Arena" drew a fair house both at the matinee and evening performances at the Temple last evening. The musical features and special-comprised the entire show and outside of them the performance amounted to nothing. The quartets, trios, duets and solos were all good. The trained horses were good but not any better than others which have been seen here. The same may be said of the acrobats. The dogs were the best feature and some of their feats were remarkable especially the walking of the wire.

Ovide Musin's Company.

The members of the Ovide Musin company which comes to the Temple tomorrow evening are: Ovide Musin, violinist; Annie Louise Tanner-Musin, prima donna; Inez Farmer, mezzo soprano; Pier Delasco, basso; and Edwina Scharf, pianist. Of Annie Louise Tanner-Musin the New York World has said:
"In all respects, after M. Musin, Mme.
Tanner-Musin was the success of the evening, and her wonderful execution, her clear, beautiful runs, her delicate saccato, brought the house to her feet.
She sang, beside the Artur number, the Proch air and variations and an encore which she concluded with a very clear generally."

The other members have all received equally flattering notices and a fine concert may be expected.

Alexander Salvini.

The engagement of Alexander Salvini at the Temple, on Friday and Saturday evenings, is exciting great expectations.
Young Salvini, the son of an illustrious father, has been a much talked of sonago of late years. At first he found the struggle a hard one, for the public was prone to think he was doing much as others have done, the simply using capital of a name. It has watched him closely, however, and has recognized in short order that the Salvini escutcheon is taking on a brighter polish instead of being dulled by his awkwardship.

Hanged to a Tree.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Last night a masked mob of fifty men overpowered the sheriff and took Henry Duncan, who was in jail without bail, charged with killing a man named Stephens with an ax last Friday, and hanged him to a tree. Duncan was also accused of having killed three more persons.

A LIBERAL OFFER.

What She Offered Them to Stop Cigarettes.

"Oh, dear! Do you think my boys will ever give up smoking cigarettes?"
sighed Mrs. Winslow.

I endeavored to reassure her. I thought in all probability they might eventually.
Certainly the wisdom of riper years would render them less inclined
To take the little papered shams for flavor.
That is, if they lived long enough—a saying clause which I discreetly kept to myself.

"I wish you would speak to them about it," she continued. "I've done everything I can. I've even offered to keep them in cigars if they would only give up those horrid cigarettes. But they don't care for cigars."

To me this was a somewhat surprising statement. I knew they never refused mine. Perhaps they were too polite.

"What kind of cigars?" I inquired, with courtly veiled suspicion.
"Oh, the best," said Mrs. Winslow. "I asked Colonel Warrington about the brands, and he recommended one he called 'Invincibles.' I would never ask my boys to smoke poor tobacco."

I hastened to apologize, but suggested that to keep three boys supplied with "Invincibles" would require an invincible bank account.

"I know it, but I don't mind the expense. Why won't you speak to them and induce them to accept my offer?
You know they think so much of what you say," urged my hostess.

I was duly flattered. "I shall be delighted to do my best," I replied. "And I must say I don't see how the boys could have refused so liberal a proposition.
But I must be going now. Ah, I think that is Jack out on the lawn. I will stop and speak to him as I go by." Then I said my adieux and left the parlor.

As I crossed the lawn I observed that Jack was just in the act of lighting a cigarette. Although he has triumphantly passed his freshman year at college, and consequently knows more about most things than I do, the boy and I are very good friends, and I felt no difficulty about approaching him. Besides I saw an opening. "Hello, Jack! Lighting another coffin nail, eh? Won't you throw it away and try a cigar?" I said generally.

"Thanks. With pleasure!" he exclaimed eagerly as he extended his hand.

"Why do you smoke those things?" I asked.

"Because they're cheap," said Jack philosophically. "Cigars play the deuce with one's allowance, and the matter simply won't stand pipes. She hasn't been talking to you about us, has she?" he concluded sharply.

"She told me the offer she made to you."

"What offer?"
"She said that she had offered to keep you in cigars if you would give up smoking cigarettes. And I think you are foolish not to jump at the chance."

"What do you think she meant by that?" he asked.
"She said she meant 'Invincibles.'"
"Yes, I guess she did," replied Jack.

smoking cigarettes she'd give us each an elegant thirty cent cigar every Saturday night."—Harry Romaine in Harper's

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

Notice is hereby given, that an application has been made to me by Edward McBe under the provisions of Chapter 42 of the general statutes of 1878 and acts amendatory thereof for a deed of so much of lots 22, 23, 24 and 25 of block 102, in the city of Duluth, formerly called Portland, in the county of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, as lies within the limits of lots twelve (12) and thirteen (13) in block sixty-seven (67) in Portland of the city of Duluth according to the recorded plat thereof.

Said application will be heard before me at the court house in the city of Duluth on the 25th day of January, 1893, at ten o'clock a. m.

And all persons claiming said lots or any part thereof or any interest therein, are hereby summoned and required to appear at said time and place and make any objections that they may have to the granting of said application.

And it is further ordered, that notice of such application and hearing be given to said summons served upon, all persons in interest by publication hereof in the Duluth Evening Herald once in each week, for three successive weeks before the said day of hearing.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of two hundred and sixty-two dollars and fifty cents ($262.50) which became due on or before the 27th day of August, A. D. 1892, upon a certain mortgage and promissory note executed and delivered by Nell McLachlan, Jr., and Nell McLachlan, his wife, and Charles d'Autremont, Jr., and Hattie H. d'Autremont, his wife, all of Duluth, Minnesota, to Clara A. H. H. Smith, of Anckerly, N. Y., dated the 27th day of August, A. D. 1890, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the 29th day of August, A. D. 1890, at 5 o'clock a. m., in book 22 of mortgages, at page 66, and such default having continued for the period of thirty days and upwards, whereupon, pursuant to the provisions of said mortgage, the entire sum thereby secured, to-wit: the sum of two thousand five hundred ($2,500) dollars, with interest from the date thereof at the rate of seven (7) per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, may, at the option of the senior mortgagee, holder of said mortgage, come at once due and payable, and the said Clara A. H. H. Smith, the owner and holder of said mortgage, having made and declared her election that the entire sum secured by said mortgage should become and be at once due and payable, wherefore there is now due, payable and unpaid on the sum secured by said mortgage the sum of two thousand five hundred ($2,500) dollars principal, and three hundred and ninety-four and eighty-four cents ($248.84), interest, making in all two thousand eight hundred and nineteen dollars and eighty-four cents ($2,819.84), and no suit or proceeding in law equity or otherwise being now pending, or having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and thereof, the sale of mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described therein and covered thereby, all that tract or parcels of land lying and being in the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, described as follows to-wit:

Lot number nine (9), block number eighteen (18), of the Bay Front division of Duluth, first rearrangement according to the recorded plat thereof, together with all the hereditaments and appurtenances thereto belonging or in anywise appertaining, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder, for cash, by the sheriff of said county of St. Louis, at the front door of said county house in the city of Duluth, in said county and state on the 10th day of February A. D. 1893 at ten o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within

THE CHAMBER MEETS.

Five Delegates Chosen to Represent Duluth at the Deep Waterway Convention at Washington.

J. L. Torrey Wants the Delegates to Go Early and Lobby for His Bankruptcy Bill.

Thomas Freeman, a Disconsolate West Duluthian, Takes the Short Route to the Other World.

The chamber of commerce directors met this morning and elected delegates to the deep waterway convention. Those chosen were: Secretary Thompson, M. R. Baldwin, C. H. Graves, E. R. Brace and C. A. Long. All of these gentlemen will attend.

A communication from J. L. Torrey urged the delegates to the deep waterway convention to be in Washington a day or two before the convention and call on their representatives in congress and urge the passage of the bankruptcy bill.

A proposition from the Western Review offering to furnish a World's fair souvenir was laid on the table. J. C. Guillette, of the National Epworth League of the Methodist church, asked for some views of Duluth to be exhibited by him in a stereograph. The secretary was instructed to send them. A proposed amendment to the bylaws increasing the privileges of members somewhat, was laid over until a meeting at which two thirds of the directors are present shall be held.

ENDED HIS LIFE.

Wearied of This World, Thomas Freeman Takes the Short Route to Another.

Thomas Freeman, a laborer, aged 50 years, committed suicide yesterday by taking an ounce of arsenic. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon he went into the Grand Central drug store on Grand avenue and purchased to cents worth of the drug, remarking that he wished to kill some rats about the place he lived. He at once crossed the street to a saloon opposite and calling for a glass of water, he took a few sips and then he died. Dr. Hutton was called, but too late to save his life, and after suffering terrible agony for several hours, he died between 2 and 3 o'clock this morning.

The poor old man was out of both work and money and evidently became discouraged to keep up the struggle for existence. He had been refused food at his boarding house until he could pay his board bill and the last 10 cents he possessed were used to put an end to his miserable life. The body was taken to Durkan's morgue at an early hour this morning.

LEGISLATION IS NEEDED.

A Matter Affecting Duluth That Requires Early Attention.

To the Editor of The Herald:

While the question of charter revision and needed legislation for the city are being agitated I wish to call attention to a subject in that connection which, it seems to me, deserves the most careful consideration by those who are to have these matters in charge.

In just one year from this time the village of West Duluth is to become a part of the city of Duluth.

Since May 1891 the affairs of West Duluth have been administered under a law passed at the last session of the legislature relating to villages having a population of 3000 or over. This law provides for the establishment of such villages of a municipal court. West Duluth established such a court at the time the law went into effect and the court is still in operation.

The special act of the legislature passed at the same session providing for the union of the two municipalities makes the following provision:

"Section 7. The municipal court of the village of West Duluth, a municipal corporation existing in the territory described in section two of this act, shall be organized at the time of actual annexation of said territory as provided in this act shall not be abolished, but the same shall continue and be a municipal court of the city of Duluth to the same extent and with the same powers as it then shall have in the said village of West Duluth."

The jurisdiction and powers of the municipal court of the village of West Duluth are substantially the same as those of the municipal court of the city of Duluth now existing. After January 1st, 1893, the city of Duluth will, then, have two municipal courts with exactly the same powers and jurisdiction. A glance at the law will show that no provision whatever has been made for distinguishing one of these courts from the other. Each will have to be designated as: "The municipal court of the city of Duluth." It will readily be seen that this would lead to endless confusion. If process is issued out of one of these courts and served on a man who is to be known in another state of affairs for a city to have two courts of exactly the same name, powers and jurisdiction existing in different parts of it?

Then too the transition from a municipal court of the village of West Duluth to a municipal court of the city of Duluth will raise some very queer questions. If the law is left in its present form, the annexation act does not provide for the continuation in office of the officers of the court but only provides that the court itself shall continue to exist. Who will be judge of the new municipal court of the city of Duluth? It is possible that the judge elect in West Duluth this coming spring would hold over or that a vacancy would occur which could be filled by appointment. But how would this be with reference to the clerk of this court? Section 10, of sub-chapter 9, of the law under which the municipal court of the village of West Duluth is established, provides:

"The office of clerk of said municipal court shall be filled by the recorder of such village. But after Jan. 1, 1894, there will be no recorder. The village has ceased to exist and consequently all of its officers are defunct.

Call attention to these defects in the existing laws to show the need of legislation to properly put this municipal court in shape as a municipal court of the city of Duluth if it is to be continued as such. If the city of Duluth does not want two municipal courts then the West Duluth court had better be abolished as an act passed at the coming session of the legislature. It is much easier to remedy these defects by legislation than by litigation. A single contradiction in the law governing the village of West Duluth with reference to the form of its improvement bonds compelled that village to go to the expense of procuring the interpretation of the statute by the supreme court before it could dispose of a single bond.

The defects which I have here pointed out are not the only ones in the statutes governing the court in question and its transformation into a court of the city of Duluth but time and space will not permit me to expose all the imperfections of these laws. The foregoing will suffice to show that something should be done regarding the matter. The coming session of the legislature is the last one that will be held before the union of the two cities takes place. There is no other opportunity to put the law in proper form.

The matter does not concern the people of West Duluth alone, but concerns the citizens of Duluth as well. The two cities united will have to bear the burden of supporting this extra court and the burden of any litigation that grows out of any imperfections in the laws governing it. Respectfully,

H. H. PHELPS.

R. S. Munger left for the East last evening and announced before going that the Duluth & Winnipeg road would probably be sold at a meeting of the board of directors on Thursday next in New York. He could not say who will be the purchaser.

Not a Lawyer.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Referring to your issue of Dec. 31, I wish to correct some inaccuracies in your correspondent's account of the result of the recent suit of John Edwards vs. American Steel Barge company.

The case was not in admiralty and was brought in the United States court because of the plaintiff being a subject of the king of Sweden.

In justice to the legal profession and myself, I wish to say that while I looked after the matter from its inception for Capt. McDougall, it was not as a lawyer.

THAT COAL MONOPOLY

Governor Flower, of New York, Directs Attention in His Annual Message to the Combination.

The Consumers Are at Its Mercy and the Serious State of Affairs Challenges Attention.

The Governor Opposes the Idea of an Exclusive National Quarantine and Gives His Reasons.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 3.—Governor Flower in his annual message says: The financial condition of the state is very satisfactory. There is practically no state debt. The following table shows the financial operations of the treasury during the last fiscal year:

Cash in treasury to credit of general fund, Oct. 1, 1891, $5,231,270. Receipts from all sources during the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1892, $6,553,093. Total, $11,785,263. Payments from general fund during the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1892, $10,083,776. Balance in treasury Oct. 1, 1892, $1,701,487.

Considering that no tax was laid during the last fiscal year for the general purposes of government, this is a particularly gratifying showing. In regard to the Buffalo strike the governor says: The peace and good order of the state were threatened in August last by lawless demonstration during the strike of railway switchmen at Buffalo. The existence of a labor controversy incited evil-disposed persons to destroy property and endanger human lives. The sheriff of Erie county was unable to quell the disturbance and called upon the commanding officer of the Fourth brigade to order out two regiments to assist in the protection of property and preserving the peace.

Later on a request was made for more assistance, and orders were at once issued to the adjutant-general, and portions of the First, Second and Third brigades were at Buffalo within forty-eight hours from the issuance of the orders, making the entire force of militia on the ground number 7166 men. The presence of this large force prevented further violence and restored civil order. On August 25, 26 and 27 the troops were withdrawn and there has been no disturbance.

In regard to common school education the governor says: The number of children of school age during the year 1892 was 1815,710. The number attending the public schools was 1,073,093, leaving 772,246 children to be educated in private or parochial schools or without instruction in any schools. The total amount expended for public schools for the year was $71,344,516—an increase of $865,598 over the preceding year. The governor favors a carefully guarded compulsory education law.

The energy and intelligence which have been displayed by the state's world's fair commissioners gives assurance that New York will be foremost in the representation of exhibits at the exposition which opens in March next.

In regard to the coal combination he says: There has been formed a powerful combination between certain railroads and coal companies with the apparent purpose of exacting higher prices from the consumers of anthracite coal. The combination operates in a similar organization in certain respects which make competition absolutely impossible.

So far as is now known, practically all the anthracite coal in the state is obtained in three counties in Pennsylvania and 85 per cent of the entire traffic is controlled by the coal combination. The consumers are at the mercy of the combination. It can raise the price of anthracite coal as high as it can find purchasers. The price of anthracite coal has increased 75 cents a ton within a year. The only apparent limit to the extortion is the refusal of the people to buy. In that case they must use bituminous coal, of good or perish with the cold.

These conditions present a state of affairs that challenge serious attention. Have the people of this state any means of relief against such a monopoly of a natural and necessary product? The question is worthy of your earnest attention.

So far as the executive can ascertain there seems to be a strong current of popular sentiment throughout the state in favor of the postponement of the election of delegates to the constitutional convention from the second Tuesday in February until the general election in November. The expense of an election in February would be between $600,000 and $700,000 which should be saved to the taxpayers if possible.

In regard to the cholera quarantine the governor says: During the months of August, September and October last this country was threatened with cholera and the quarantine facilities at the port of New York were shown to be entirely inadequate for coping properly with this dread disease under existing circumstances. Owing to the vigilance and fidelity of the health officer and his deputies, however, cholera was prevented from gaining an entrance through this port and both our own citizens and those of other states were fortunately spared from the pestilence.

The subject of an exclusive national quarantine is just now exciting considerable discussion and seems to commend itself to the approval of many of our citizens. I cannot but think that this is a superficial conclusion, formed upon impulse and based upon theoretical rather than practical conditions. I am not opposed to a national quarantine, but to an exclusive national quarantine such as is merged in the federal government powers. This field offers opportunity for real service to the country and for an exclusive national quarantine without incurring any of the disadvantages.

Our great danger from cholera and other pestilential diseases is not from their origin in this country, but from their introduction from abroad. A rigid system of inspection at foreign ports under the direction of the consular service would form the best kind of national quarantine. As for the rest, it can safely be left to state jurisdiction and control.

GOVERNOR M'KINLEY'S SAY.

He Renews His Recommendations for Improving Canals.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 3.—Governor McKinley's message to the Ohio legislature says that during the fiscal year ending November 15, 1892, the total receipts of the state were $6,915,082, being $5,544,491 of revenues received from all sources during the year and a balance of $1,370,591 on hand at the close of business hours on Nov. 15, 1891.

The total expenditures during the year ending Nov. 15, 1892, from all funds were $6,158,671. Of the sum on hand on Nov. 15, 1891, $1,065,705 belonged to the sinking fund and the remainder to the credit of the general revenue fund. The receipts for the year ending Nov. 15, 1892, for the general revenue fund were $3,707,675 including the donation of $83,000 by Wayne county for the experiment station and $74,725 accumulated fees from the secretary of state's office for the preceding year which were withheld from the treasurer on account of pending litigation. The total amount paid out during the year from this fund for state expenses was $3,733,560 or $56,888 in excess of the receipts for the year.

The receipts for the year would have been adequate to meet all expenses and leave a balance in the treasury, but for the extraordinary deficiencies of the preceding year, which had to be provided for out of the revenues of the current year. The state institutions have been maintained during the past few months at a lower cost. The new managements of the institutions for the most part have been in charge but a few months, and have had little opportunity to show that improvement which the governor believes the future will make manifest. He renews his recommendations as to canals, that the legislature create a body with engineering, legal and business qualifications, to improve the canal property and increase its usefulness to the people of the state.

WHAT THE DOCTORS SAY.

Two Facts That Are Likely to Stir the Medical World.

PARIS, Jan. 3.—The Herald's European edition publishes in a weekly article "What the Doctors Say," two facts likely to make a stir in the medical world. The first is an explanation of a new treatment for nervous diseases by injecting beneath the skin a solution of phosphate of soda, which in its way is not modified by passing through the digestive tracks, but is taken up in its original form and acts directly on the nervous system. A portion of the organism for which it has the greatest affinity.

Albert Robin uses a solution of five grammes of phosphate of soda in 10 grammes of distilled water.

The second fact is the researches of an English physician, Mr. Mapother, on the hair, as a focus of vitalized matter. The hair contains no less than five per cent of sulphur, and when gray 20 per cent of silica and 10 per cent of iron and magnesium, he claims that two of the forms of food that nearly everyone takes each day—beef and milk—have by their chemical composition the effect of annihilating these mineral elements of hair and withering at the roots.

Mr. Mapother thinks that different albumenoid foods, starch, particularly particularly dark colored ones, which contain 22 per cent of silica, have a powerful effect in making the hair grow. The races of the world are divided into three groups, those living on starchy substances and vegetables.

THIS IS ANOTHER STORY.

Rudyard Kipling, the noted English writer, is now a father.

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., Jan. 3.—A daughter was born on Tuesday afternoon to Mrs. Rudyard Kipling, wife of the well-known English writer, who is spending the winter here with his wife's relatives.

The family residence of the Bales, Besswood, and the Bliss homestead are located about four miles north of the village on rising ground, commanding a long stretch of Connecticut river scenery, the mountain opposite and the terraced village sloping down to the river.

Kipling is having a $10,000 house built in this lovely spot, which will be named "Cedar Nest." Meanwhile he is living in the little white painted story and a half cottage built for a farmer on the Bliss estate. It is a wee mite of a nest, and might properly have been the name of the writer has chosen for his more pretentious house.

But Kipling pronounced it "just big enough for two," and was much pleased that they could all live so near together. He will now probably hasten to change his comment to "just big enough for three."

Mrs. Kipling was Miss Carolyn Bales, a sister of C. Wolcott Bales, the writer, who died abroad recently and who wrote in collaboration with Mr. Kipling. She is a little under medium height, slender and petite, and has dark brown eyes and brown hair.

DEMS LEAVE THE HALL.

Unexpected Complications in the Organization of Montana's Legislature.

HELENA, Mont., Jan. 3.—The legislative situation developed unexpected complications yesterday. The state auditor did not put either of the Choteau contestants on the list from which he called the house to order.

A. J. Davidson, the sick Democratic member, could not be taken to the place of meeting. The auditor having called the roll and had the members sworn in, then called the election a temporary chairman, a function which is denied him by the claims of Democrats and they left the hall, leaving the house without a quorum, and that body adjourned until 5 o'clock Tuesday.

Two of the Populists have fallen in with the Republicans and one with the Democrats, leaving the balance of power with the contested member from Choteau, which place Hamilton, democrat, holds a certificate for and has been sworn in.

TOOK A BACKWARD TURN.

Mr. Blaine's Condition is Not so Favorable Today.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Mr. Blaine's condition has taken a backward turn. Dr. Johnson made his regular morning call shortly before 11 o'clock.

When a reporter saw him at his residence he was preparing to visit Mr. Blaine and did not seem alarmed over the information imparted by the reporter that Mr. Blaine's butler had stated this morning that Mr. Blaine had passed an uncomfortable night and was not feeling so well.

For the past two days Mr. Blaine has suffered from constipation, and yesterday his condition was not so favorable as it had been for several days preceding.

NATURAL GAS DECREASING.

The Supply in the Ohio Gas Belt Is Giving Out.

FINLAYSON, O., Jan. 3.—It has been finally settled that the natural gas supply of this great gas belt is no longer equal to the demand. The pressure is so low that it is useless for heating purposes in homes even.

But what appears to be a calamity may prove to be a blessing, as several of the largest factories here are experimenting with crude oil for fuel and have found it almost as cheap as natural gas, far safer, more easily controlled and always uniform in pressure.

The hundreds of industries here and at Lima, Bowling Green, Perrysburg and Toledo are preparing to use crude oil, a move that will be regarded with interest in manufacturing circles the country over.

RETAIN THEIR TRADE.

Counterfeiters, When Sent to Prison Frequently Discover Means of Carrying on Their Illegal Work.

A Prisoner Who Made Bogus Nickels and Found Opportunities to Circulate the Spurious Coins.

Was Induced to Confess and Show the Prison Warden How He Made the Nickels.

Counterfeiting is often successfully carried on within the walls of a prison like the Ohio penitentiary, and the bogus coin made by convicts has at times gained a considerable circulation among the inmates. Shut up from the outside world, a little world all by themselves—the criminals resort to many expedients to kill time and to prepare for emergency, incident to their return to freedom after the expiration of their sentences.

One of these necessities, and often the most pressing one, is the lack of money. Some few of the prison population are counterfeiters, and while the burglar and safe blowers attempt to make and carry out with him a set of tools for cracking safes and opening windows and doors the counterfeiter puts in his spare time making molds and with them bogus coins. Few people probably are familiar with the method of making counterfeit coin, and the process, while not a complex one, is interesting, especially when carried on in a state prison. Under several different warden convict counterfeiters have carried on their nefarious business. One of the earliest attempts in this line was the manufacture of nickels a few years ago. Deputy Warden Playford, then captain of the night watch, accidentally overheard two convicts talking behind a building, and with the clew thus afforded succeeded in nipping a flourishing private industry not only at variance with the prison rules, but also the laws of the United States.

The conversation alluded to was to the effect that an expert engraver and counterfeiter named Rich was making and circulating bogus nickels among the convicts. Captain Playford that night went to Rich's cell near midnight, and awaking the counterfeiter out of his slumbers told him that his scheme had been discovered, and that his pals had "given the snap away." Rich, supposing that his confederates had "peached" on him, confessed the whole matter and volunteered to go with the captain to one of the workshops and turn up the counterfeiter's tools and the coin. A lantern was procured, and Rich, being released from his cell and accompanied by the officer, went to the specified workshop, finding a loose brick out of the wall, he drew forth a box containing eighty-five shining nickels.

On being examined it was found that these coins were so perfect as to render detection almost impossible. Rich next examined another box from a pile of cinders under a blacksmith's forge, and opening it disclosed the molds with which the coin had been made and a quantity of alloy. At this same time it was ascertained that Rich and his confederates were engaged in another Yankee-like trick of making counterfeit plugs of tobacco for sale among the other convicts.

These plugs were made by steaming blocks of cherry wood, cut to the proper size, and covering them with sycamore leaves obtained in the yard. The steamed blocks were then dyed a rich tobacco color, and the deception was made complete by the addition of genuine tin tags saved from real plugs of the weed. Thus furnished, the bogus plugs were calculated to deceive the very elect. Of course there was always a "kick" when the buyer attempted to take a chew of the tempting luxury, but the counterfeiter had pocketed the money and refused to give it up. The last attempt at counterfeiting was made a little over a year ago, but this time the work was done on a more extensive scale, the imitations being of silver coins—the dime, twenty-five cent piece and dollar. The mold for the dime was not found, but a lot of coins of this denomination showed that they had been recently made in the prison.

The artist has made an accurate sketch of the twenty-five cent mold, which has been reproduced in the cut. This pair was made of plaster of paris. Each block is 2 1/2 inches square and one-half inch thick. The impression of the quarter was taken while the plaster was soft, an office being made through which the liquid metal could be poured in. The spurious coins were made after the old fashion of bullet molding, the faces of the two halves being firmly fastened together and the molten alloy then introduced through the office.

THE TWENTY-FIVE CENT MOLD.

The dollar mold is a more pretentious affair, consisting of two hinged pieces of wood, measuring, when opened, twelve inches in length. The blocks are two inches wide and three-fourths of an inch thick. The ends are fastened together with small brass hinges. The matrix is made of two plates of metal set in the wood, as shown in the cut. The two blocks of wood close like a nutcracker, the molten metal of which the coins are made being poured in through a small funnel shaped opening. As soon as the bogus dollar was cast and had cooled it was removed and was ready for circulation as soon as it had received a few finishing touches at the hands of the engraver.

In addition to a considerable quantity of bogus coin the officers recovered several pounds of the alloy used by the counterfeiter. It is a bright, shining metal, closely resembling silver. All of the coins made by these expert scoundrels were extremely clever samples of the "quack." There are still a number of counterfeiters confined in the prison, but in view of past experiences such a close watch is kept on all their movements that it is next to impossible for them to practice their hidden art.

One of the men is Miles Ogle, a celebrated Ohio river counterfeiter, who has had as successful a career as any of the later day members of his profession. He is perhaps the most famous representative of his class now living. Ogle was received at the Ohio penitentiary Dec. 19, 1890, on a sentence of fifteen years received at the United States court at Memphis. He is a native of New York city, and his first serious trouble was at the outbreak of the late war, when he was sentenced for a term of years in an Indiana prison for killing a man.

In 1877 he was convicted in Pittsburgh of counterfeiting and did eight years in the Western penitentiary of Pennsylvania. A little over a year after the completion of this sentence he was picked in Cincinnati, the arresting officers making a rich haul, finding no less than $3,000 on his person. The bills counterfeited were those of the Third National bank of Cincinnati, which he was engaged in "shoving" when taken into custody. Five indictments were found against Ogle, and he was found guilty on four counts, the court imposing fifteen years' imprisonment at hard labor and a fine of $5,000—the extreme penalty of the law.

Ogle did most of his crooked work on a flatboat while floating in midstream down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers. Among his greatest achievements was the engraving of a plate for a twenty dollar gold treasury certificate. From this plate he is credited with making $28,000 worth of United States certificates. He also made a ten dollar bill that was pronounced a perfect counterfeit. It is said that the United States marshal president of Hungary, a perfect giant in head and stature. He is more than a head taller than the average man and is as stout as an Indian.

Dr. Hermann Strecker, of Reading, Pa., has a collection of butterflies which is commencing to attract attention. It numbers over 100,000 specimens and represents some thirty years of collection on the part of the proprietor.

Oscar Wilde was asked if he had ever been counted among the throng of Mrs. Langtry's admirers. He replied with solemnity: "For three long years I sat at Mrs. Langtry's feet. I had nothing but my life to give her, and I gave her that."

The late Anne Shibley, of Covington, Ky., gave $100,000 to various Methodist churches in the course of his life and was for years a Sunday school teacher. The estate he left is valued at $2,500,000. He had only one child, a son, who survives him.

Dr. Nansen, the arctic explorer, is only thirty-one years old, stands over six feet high and is endowed with a splendid physique. His features are of the pure Scandinavian type, and his mouth, which is expressive of great resolution, is covered by a long beard.

Henri Rochefort evinces his undying hatred of the Germans in various ways. The most pronounced and public is the keeping of a standing notice in the business office of his newspaper. "No advertisements accepted from Germans under any circumstances."

Engene Field was delayed in reaching the city in which he was to give readings at Northampton one evening recently, owing to the committee's failure to send a carriage for him to the railway station. This was Mr. Field's chance to introduce him as "the late Mr. Field."

J. W. Yancy, of Woodville, Va., is an interesting man to meet. He is nearly eighty years of age, and has lived in the city since 1824 and taught Aleck Stephens reading, 'rithm and 'rithmetic. He says Lafayette refused a bowl of eggnog at Riverview on the ground that he never indulged.

CHINESE MAXIMS.

Riches only warm the heart, but virtue adorns the person.

Riches never come even by chance to him whose destiny it is to be poor.

A great talker never wants for enemies; a man of sense talks his little and listens much.

The first counsel of women are the wisest and their last resolutions the most dangerous.

Drunkenness does not produce faults; it discloses them. A man does not change manners; it unmasks them.

It is better to play the role of assassin than that of calculator; the assassin inflicts death but once, the calculator a thousand times.

He who applies to become virtuous resembles a man who climbs up a steep mountain; he who plunges into vice one who rolls from the top of a precipice.

One demands for things from a woman—that virtue dwell in her heart, that modesty beam on her forehead, that sweetness flow from her lips and industry occupy her hands.

He who insults me to my face can yet be an honest man and my friend, but he who praises me on all occasions is a fool who despises me or a knave who wishes to cheat me.

ELECTRIC SPARKS.

The filtration of electricity is new. The process of engraving on glass by electricity is exhibited at the American institute fair.

It is estimated that about 150,000 incandescent lamps are burned in New York every night.

It is said that the application of electricity to agricultural work is one of the most promising fields now open to the electrical engineer and manufacturer.

In England during the financial year of 1891-2 the total number of telegrams of all sorts which were dispatched amounted to nearly 70,000,000 and brought in $2,250,000.

The use of electric motors for driving travelling hoists in machine shops is quite recent, but offers great advantages on account of the compactness of the motor and the ease with which it may be controlled from any distant point.

A novel invention is a drawing and dotting pen, which is operated by an electric motor, as in the case of dental machines. The ink is contained within the pen, which also serves as a needle bar having a reciprocating motion given it by the motor.

EPICUREAN MORSELS.

Onions are more nourishing than any other vegetable. And now they say chopped cabbage in celery salad adds to the palatability thereof.

Put fresh fish in salted water for half an hour before cooking it. It hardens the fish and improves the flavor.

The flavor of a young roasted chicken is improved by placing inside of it a bouquet of parsley, a small onion and fresh butter the size of a walnut.

All kinds of cooked fish can be served with salads. Lettuce is the best green salad to serve, but all cooked and cold vegetables will go well with fish.

MASCULINE MENTION.

Ex-Governor Garcelon, of Maine, is eighty-five years of age and still an expert horseman.

John Wesley used the expression, "Cleanliness is indeed next to godliness," in a sermon on "Dress."

Colonel James Cavanaugh celebrated his twenty-fifth anniversary as colonel of the Sixty-ninth regiment of New York recently.

Eddie Gould is a member of a New York canoe club, and until a very few years ago used to participate in "upset races" and other aquatic high jinks.

Gilbert A. Beaver, of Bellefonte, Pa., the son of General James A. Beaver, is a young man of excellent oratorical ability. He is preparing for the Presbyterian ministry.

Ex-Judge Charles P. Daly is said to be the oldest "first night" in New York. He saw Edmund Kean's American debut in 1821 and Fanny Kemble's debut in 1822.

Mr. D. F. Murphy, stenographer of the United States senate for forty-four years, is regarded as one of the most accurate stenographers in this country if not in the world.

M. Brissot, the ex-premier of France, has been a journalist for thirty-five years. His political life has been one of apoplexy and his private life not only blameless, but exemplary.

General George Stuart White, who has been quoted as commander in chief of the British forces in India, is a gallant old soldier and wears the Victoria cross. He became a second lieutenant in 1868.

His excellency Dr. Alexander Weickel, the new minister-president of Hungary, is a perfect giant in head and stature. He is more than a head taller than the average man and is as stout as an Indian.

Dr. Hermann Strecker, of Reading, Pa., has a collection of butterflies which is commencing to attract attention. It numbers over 100,000 specimens and represents some thirty years of collection on the part of the proprietor.

Oscar Wilde was asked if he had ever been counted among the throng of Mrs. Langtry's admirers. He replied with solemnity: "For three long years I sat at Mrs. Langtry's feet. I had nothing but my life to give her, and I gave her that."

The late Anne Shibley, of Covington, Ky., gave $100,000 to various Methodist churches in the course of his life and was for years a Sunday school teacher. The estate he left is valued at $2,500,000. He had only one child, a son, who survives him.

Dr. Nansen, the arctic explorer, is only thirty-one years old, stands over six feet high and is endowed with a splendid physique. His features are of the pure Scandinavian type, and his mouth, which is expressive of great resolution, is covered by a long beard.

Henri Rochefort evinces his undying hatred of the Germans in various ways. The most pronounced and public is the keeping of a standing notice in the business office of his newspaper. "No advertisements accepted from Germans under any circumstances."

Engene Field was delayed in reaching the city in which he was to give readings at Northampton one evening recently, owing to the committee's failure to send a carriage for him to the railway station. This was Mr. Field's chance to introduce him as "the late Mr. Field."

J. W. Yancy, of Woodville, Va., is an interesting man to meet. He is nearly eighty years of age, and has lived in the city since 1824 and taught Aleck Stephens reading, 'rithm and 'rithmetic. He says Lafayette refused a bowl of eggnog at Riverview on the ground that he never indulged.

CHINESE MAXIMS.

Riches only warm the heart, but virtue adorns the person.

Riches never come even by chance to him whose destiny it is to be poor.

A great talker never wants for enemies; a man of sense talks his little and listens much.

The first counsel of women are the wisest and their last resolutions the most dangerous.

Drunkenness does not produce faults; it discloses them. A man does not change manners; it unmasks them.

It is better to play the role of assassin than that of calculator; the assassin inflicts death but once, the calculator a thousand times.

He who applies to become virtuous resembles a man who climbs up a steep mountain; he who plunges into vice one who rolls from the top of a precipice.

One demands for things from a woman—that virtue dwell in her heart, that modesty beam on her forehead, that sweetness flow from her lips and industry occupy her hands.

He who insults me to my face can yet be an honest man and my friend, but he who praises me on all occasions is a fool who despises me or a knave who wishes to cheat me.

One Drawback.

"Give me one year of August," a White mountain hotel proprietor was once heard to say, "and I should be ready to retire."

Like this was the feelings of a boy mentioned by an exchange. He was selling bits of smoked glass during the late solar eclipse.

"How much apiece?" inquired a passer-by.

"Five cents," said the boy.

The man bought one, but thought the price a little high.

"You ought to make money on that rate," he said.

"Yes," answered the thrifty youngster, "it would be a pretty good business if the dull season wasn't so long."—Youth's Companion.

THE VICTIM DECIDED.

Captain Jack Crawford, the Well Known Poet Scout, Tells a Good Story of Border Life.

A Lynching That Did Not Occur Because the Proposed Lynchers Could Reach no Agreement.

While the Posse Argued the Matter of Hanging, the Prisoner Settled the Case Satisfactorily.

There was a wide difference of opinion as to whether the culprit should be hanged on the spot or taken to the county seat and dealt with according to law. The advocates of the latter proposition were largely in the minority, yet so ably did they plead their cause that the majority hesitated with the rope about the offender's neck, removed the uncomfortable noose and consented to "argue the matter."

The strange scene was enacted by the blaze of a campfire in the foothills of the Oscura mountains, in New Mexico, near the eastern rim of the barren desert known as the Jornada del Muerto, or Journey of Death. The prisoner, a slimy built young man of about twenty, with a rather pleasing countenance, belonged to the somewhat numerous army of tramps who choose this semitropical climate for a winter field of operations, and becoming footsore had mounted a horse which was hitched in front of a store at La Jota and galloped away. Organized pursuit struck his trail two hours later, and after the desert had been traversed, horse and rider were overtaken at the spot where the conference was being held.

The usual remedy for such aggravated cases—the rope—was at once prescribed, and the case was about to be administered when "Kannel" Deisel, a soi-disant attorney at law, ventured a protest, and said that, although he had suggested the punishment of the thief and had taken part in it, he was opposed to summary justice and hoped the case might be allowed to take its course through the legal channels. He found a number of adherents among the members of the party, and, as before stated, the noose was taken from the neck of the trembling wretch until the matter which so vitally affected his fortune could be satisfactorily adjusted.

"I don't see," said "Bone" Carroll, evidently the leader of the majority side of the question, "what the kick is made for. The fellow stole the horse and kicked a streak of desert dust in the faces of forty old men long before we winded his horse and tied him up. He played in the game and lost, and I say, the most of the fellows here, he ought to take the usual consequences and not make no row."

"But, look you, Bone," replied the "kannel," "this offense, as I view it, under the statutes for such cases made in Nevada, is not a capital crime. It is a capital crime only in the eyes of the law, which is a capital crime, punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary. Now, the taking of human life premeditatedly, without adequate cause or provocation, is, according to our statutes, murder. This fellow's act is not one which, according to the statutes, as afore stated, deserves punishment."

RAILWAY RUMBLES.

The Kennerly and Black Hills Railroad company has been reorganized.

On and after April 1, 1893, both the St. Paul and the Northwestern will run trains between Chicago and Milwaukee in two hours.

If Alpine railways continue to spring up in the future as in the past, there will soon be left no peak in all Switzerland which cannot be reached by one of the noisy little rack roads.

The most costly piece of railway line in the world is that between the Mansion House and Aldgate stations in London, which required the expenditure of close upon $10,000,000 a mile.

We have locomotive as well as human sprinters, and probably the fastest in America is No. 25 of the Central Railway of New Jersey, which recently made the remarkably fast run of a mile in thirty-seven seconds.

Heavier engines have been put on the Morris and Essex division of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western to haul the express trains that run through to Boston, Pa. They are the most improved type and have narrow tracks and extension fronts.

The great high bridge of the Southern Pacific railroad over Pecos canyon is remarkable for three things. It is the highest bridge in the country, being 323 feet above the river bed; it was constructed in six months, and only one man was killed in the course of its erection.

POWDER AND BALL.

Sweden has increased her army considerably. Soldiers in the Italian army are allowed cigars as part of their daily rations.

In honor of the brave sailor, Casabianca, and his worthy son, their names have been bestowed on a French torpedo boat.

In the museum at Washington is a breechloading cannon made in 1490. The date is cast in the iron. It is of 4-inch caliber and about four feet long.

In the Austrian army suicides average 10,000 a year. This does not include foiled attempts, and it represents 20 per cent. of the general mortality among the Austrian soldiers.

In Siam the flies are so numerous as to be a pest, and every soldier is compelled to catch as many as will fill a muslin bag before being permitted to claim that he has done a day's work.

Her Maunlicher's new rifle is said to be a much more perfect one than any yet produced. The rapidity with which it can be fired is much faster than that of the quickest firing rifle known.

CURIOUS CULLINGS.

A New York paper announces that a hotel in that city is to be enlarged by reducing the size of its immense rooms.

In the chapel of the Abercorn family at Paisley the closing of the door produces a sound which roars like distant thunder.

Two hundred years ago English law compelled barbers to display "a blood pot on a striped pole, the whole to be surmounted with a symbolical cloth of red material."

Americans have often marvelled that members of the house of parliament wear their hats during sessions. Blackwood's Magazine solves the mystery. They have nowhere else to put them.

In making railroad tunnels and in sinking wells and pits in Arizona, Nevada and Utah salt strata are said to be often struck at varying depths. It is further stated that hundreds of fish, perfectly preserved, are found in blocks of this pure rock salt.

GOLD DUST.

Affected humility parades poverty's crust. If you render each his own the remainder is yours.

Sincerity must not be sampled by its initial syllable. Eternity is indivisible—there are no fractions in heaven.

Sinners who swap repentance for reward claim the latter first.

THE END AT LAST.

He and Others Might Expect It

Mr. Charles R. Baird, the well known business and society man, fell overcome by exhaustion, while about to keep a social engagement last night.—Morning Paper.

Later information develops the fact that he had been under a continuous nervous strain in his business for some time and his prostration last night was simply the climax—the result of his overwork.

LOVERS DIE TOGETHER

A Terrible Tragedy in a New York Town Which Was the Result of a Quarrel.

Nora Abbott Had Some Words With Her Sweetheart and Shot Both Him and Herself.

They Were Attending a New Year's Celebration and the Tragedy Occurred Outside the House.

WHITEHALL, N. Y., Jan. 4.—A terrible tragedy occurred here Monday when Nora Abbott 26 years of age, shot and killed her sweetheart, Edward Smith, aged 21, during a quarrel. The couple were guests at a New Year's celebration at the home of Mr. Eugene Couter. After a time, those at the celebration noticed that the couple had disappeared. They thought but little of it for a time, but when two sharp explosions were heard a few minutes later, there was a rush out of doors.

There was a panic in a moment, and there was ample reason for it. Outside the house just beyond the porch line lay the bodies of Nora Abbott and Edward Smith. Both were dead. Nora clutched a revolver in her hand. The conclusion reached by those present from the position of the bodies and the bullet holes was that the girl had first killed young Smith and then turned the revolver upon herself.

What could have been the cause could not be imagined, unless it was the result of a quarrel. It was made plain, when doctors were called in to examine the body, that Nora Abbott had no womanly reason to take her own life.

WILL NOT FORGET FRIENDS.
Mr. Cleveland Will Reward Those Who Stood By Him.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—The question was asked Daniel S. Lamont yesterday, "What foundation is there for the published report that Mr. Cleveland is interfering in the senatorial contest in various state legislatures, and endeavoring to dictate the election of his own friends?"

"It is time," answered Col. Lamont, that the friends of Mr. Cleveland took some notice of this falsehood. I can state authoritatively that Mr. Cleveland has not dictated, interfered or even suggested the election of anyone in the states in which there are Democratic legislatures and where contests are being made.

"Has Mr. Cleveland expressed himself about these reports?"
"He has, most emphatically. I have received many letters asking if the reports were true. I may say that, in many of the states, Mr. Cleveland does not know who are candidates for the senate, except through general report. In New York, of course, Mr. Cleveland has stated his objections to Mr. Murphy as he had a perfect right to do, but he has not gone beyond his own state."

Col. Lamont was asked if he would tell Mr. Cleveland's attitude toward those who might be looked upon as having been anti-Cleveland men. He shook his head at first, and then was asked as to the truth of the story about in political circles to this effect: A prominent anti-Cleveland Democrat from up the state called upon Col. Lamont, and asked him about the treatment those men who had opposed Mr. Cleveland would receive, to which Col. Lamont replied that he did not care to speak about that matter, but that he could say Mr. Cleveland would certainly not forget the men who were in favor of him.

"That is true," said he. "I said it and it represents Mr. Cleveland's position."

SCALDED IN A SLEEPER.
Explosion in the Smoking Room of a Rock Island Car.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Jan. 4.—A serious explosion occurred in the smoking apartment of a sleeping car on the Rock Island railway Monday night. The compartment was occupied by Fred Leischer and Senator W. O. Schmidt, of Davenport. J. J. Richardson, Wm. Stackhouse and others, who were on their way to Des Moines to attend the meeting of the Democratic state central committee.

The steam pipe burst, the scalding vapor striking the occupants of the compartment full in the face. The door had become blocked and it was impossible for the men to get out. One of them finally kicked out a window and the train was brought to a standstill.

It was found that Messrs. Leischer and Schmidt were seriously scalded. They were taken from the train. Messrs. Richardson and Stackhouse were also badly burned, but they were able to continue their journey.

GORGED FOR FIVE MILES.
The Ohio River Blocked and Serious Damage Is Feared.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., Jan. 4.—The ice is running heavier in the Ohio river than has been known for years, it having attained a thickness of five inches with no sign of abatement. It was by the hardest effort that the ferry boats yesterday were able to make trips, and hundreds of passengers declined to cross by steamer.

At noon the ice gorged five miles up the river. At this point over 100,000,000 bushels of coal in boats are harbored. Below are steamboats and other craft fast to the bank. Much anxiety is being felt by steamboat men for the safety of these vessels.

The river is rising and the gorge is liable to break at a moment's notice. It is feared that the gorge will sweep everything before it, entailing a loss of millions of dollars.

A Righteous Verdict.
Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 4.—In the United States district court yesterday James Fisher, a colored man, was awarded $4750 damages. Fisher was a convict and leased to Cook & Reinman, contractors. He was unmercifully whipped by agents of the contractors, whom he sued after being liberated from prison. Cook & Reinman will not appeal nor can they pay the judgment.

A CHANCE FOR SATOLI.
The Papal Legate May Be Asked to Settle a Canadian Dispute.

MONTREAL, Jan. 4.—A serious split has taken place between the branches of the Catholic Mutual Benefit association in Canada. The order is very strong throughout the Dominion. When the supreme council of the order, composed of delegates from the United States and Canada, met in this city last summer, the grand council of Canada was granted supreme jurisdiction in the Dominion. Lately a number of the branches in the province of Quebec became dissatisfied with the Canadian grand council, and decided to form themselves under a separate grand council for the province of Quebec. The archbishop, who is the spiritual adviser of the Quebec branches, refused to give his sanction to the formation of a Quebec grand council, and the Canadian grand council threatened to oppose the formation of a new council in the courts.

Notwithstanding these threats, the dissatisfied Quebec branches have formed themselves into a grand council. In answer to their request for ecclesiastical approval, the archbishop flatly refused to give it or to permit religious services to be held for their benefit. There is talk of inviting Mgr. Satoli to come to Canada to arbitrate the matter.

THE HOMESTEAD TROUBLES.
Governor Pattison Touches on it in His Annual Message.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 4.—Governor Pattison sent his annual message to the legislature yesterday. It was practically a review of the operations of the state government for two years past. He referred to the spirit of insurrection at Homestead and said: "Under the plea of correcting abuses, civil authority was suspended, and the officers of the law were defied."

There is a balance in the treasury of $5,000,041.05 against $5,070,854 in 1891. The total public debt of the state on Dec. 1, 1892, was $8,391,462.

The governor points out the existing inequality in the operation of the tax laws, by which personal property pays only $10,000,000 and real estate $30,000,000, though the real and personal property of the commonwealth are about equal in their respective aggregate value.

The governor pronounces the Reading combine "an especially flagrant illustration of the manner in which the constitution is defied." The Baker ballot law is commended as satisfactory upon the whole.

A DECISION ALTERED.
Angry Women Judges Regarding an Important Change.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 4.—Attorneys and politicians were greatly astonished when they read in the Omaha papers what purported to be the supreme court decision in the Kruse-Norton contest case. It was recognized as not the decision delivered from the bench.

It contained a clause nullifying the certificate now held by Kruse. This did not appear in the oral decision. Chief Justice Maxwre made a sensation at the opening of court yesterday by asking how the offensive clause came into the printed decision.

Justice Post remarked that it was inserted by him (Post) and an attorney, after the chief justice had left the bench. The two justices had some angry words about the matter. It will be investigated.

Endorsing Murphy.
OSWEGO, N. Y., Jan. 3.—The Democratic county committee held a meeting here yesterday, and adopted resolutions endorsing the candidacy of Edward Murphy, Jr., for United States senator.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 4.—The Democratic city central committee passed a resolution stating that Hon. Edward Murphy, Jr., is entitled to the office of United States senator, and calling upon the legislature to elect him to that office.

Ex-Premier Abbott's Illness.
TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 4.—A cable from London to the Globe says: Recent reports show that ex-Premier Abbott's health is far from good. He is now in Italy journeying south by easy stages. He has made no gain in strength since his arrival in Europe. On the contrary, if anything he is weaker. He still hopes, however, to benefit materially by further rest in the South.

Lamont for Postmaster General.
NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—The Press this morning says that President-elect Cleveland has within the past twenty-four hours decided to appoint Daniel S. Lamont as postmaster general in the new cabinet. The Press also says Mr. Cleveland is considering the name of ex-Senator James B. Eustis, of Louisiana, for secretary of state.

Lost Both Arms and Legs.
WINONA, Minn., Jan. 4.—Ole Olson, a well-known fisherman of this city, was found near Fountain City in a frightful condition, both arms and legs frozen by exposure during the night. Amputation of all four limbs was necessary. It is not thought he can live. This sad disaster was the result of New Year's boozing.

Ordway Bobs up Again.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—"I am not a candidate to succeed Senator Casey, of North Dakota," said ex-Governor Ordway yesterday. "I am going to bismarck in a few days to look into the legislature, and may see to it to become a candidate after I get there, but I am not running after the place."

Haytian Minister Dead.
NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Hannibal Prince, minister from Hayti to this country, died Monday from typhoid fever at his home, No. 251 Lafayette avenue, Brooklyn. Mr. Prince was born in Hayti and was 51 years of age. He was the author of several works on finance and political economy.

Burned to Death.
LAWRENCEVILLE, Ky., Jan. 4.—Fire last night destroyed $20,000 worth of property in the business portion of this place. It started in the town jail and Dan King, a prisoner, was burned to death.

SWEET'S MEDICINE CO., Atlanta, Ga.

A Young Murderer.
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 4.—In the criminal court yesterday Judge Stowe presiding, Stewart Rodgers, aged 11 years, was placed on trial for the murder of James H. Stevenson, aged 12 years. The killing occurred Oct. 18 last, at which time the boys quarreled about a cat. The accused is the youngest murderer ever tried in Allegheny county. The opinion prevails that Rodgers will be acquitted.

Suspicious Cases.
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 4.—A government medical officer has arrived here to look into the recent epidemic at the state prison. His special care is to examine the viscera of the dead for cholera bacteria. Yesterday he would give no decided opinion but granted that the cases were very suspicious. Another convict is dying.

The Total Electoral Vote.
NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—The Evening Post says: The settlement of the Oregon contest makes it possible to give an accurate table of the vote for president as it should be cast by the electoral college and which will show: Total number of votes, 544; necessary choice, 272. Cleveland, 275; Harrison, 144; Weaver, 14. Cleveland's majority, 108.

Issue of Silver Dollars.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The issue of standard silver dollars from the mints and treasury offices during the week ended Dec. 31, 1892, was $541,609; for the corresponding period of 1891, $370,499. The shipment of fractional silver coin for the month of December, 1892, was $1,201,427, against $1,214,730 for the month of December, 1891.

A Suit for Libel.
NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—E. S. Stokes, of the Hoffman house, proposes to sue W. E. D. Stokes for $500,000 for malicious libel. He said this morning that he would try to have his cousin indicted this week for criminal libel. A lawyer is now engaged in preparing the papers.

Flour Prices Raised.
LEWIS, Jan. 4.—The Corn Millers' association has raised the price of flour to per cent stone. The association alleges that the advance was due to the scarcity of stocks.

Fall of an Aerolite.
MADRID, Jan. 4.—An immense aerolite fell here, Pinar del Rio, a town in the province of Valladolid. A number of scientists have gone from Madrid to examine it.

An Important Circular.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The treasury is preparing a circular for circulation relating to immigration, designed to supersede all other circulars issued on the same subject. The circular will be made public within a few days.

The Growth and Prosperity.
The wonderful growth of Galveston, especially that portion known as North Galveston, during the past few years, has been due not only to local improvements and the natural result of rapid settlement and capital liberally invested, but also to the rapid growth of manufacturing industries which here find an unusually profitable field. Thus we find a combination of conditions for continuous growth that is unsurpassed in any other portion of the country, namely, a genial and healthy climate, an industrial growth capable of supporting a large population, and agricultural attractions that cannot be excelled. The opportunities are just as good at the present time for making money, either in city property or small fruit farms. The latter class of farming always results in large profits to those who have been fortunate enough to invest.

The property of the North Galveston association cannot be otherwise regarded than as offering splendid inducements alike to homeseeker and investor. RAVAGES OF CATARRH.

How Two Sufferers Were Relieved.

The effects of catarrh of the throat and the distress caused in neighboring organs is shown in the case of Mr. T. W. Thatcher. In such cases the mucous membrane of the throat becomes swollen, red and congested and a nasty discharge collects there, that often makes the patient sick at the stomach. The membrane of the stomach often becomes inflamed by an extension of the throat trouble and results in dyspepsia, indigestion, vomiting, bloating or belching of gas or sour matter. "I was in such a distressed condition," said Mr. Thatcher, "that I would often have to throw up my meals because of the sickening nausea caused by the collection of slime in my throat."

Mr. T. W. Thatcher, a man of about 40 years of age, had been suffering from catarrh of the throat for some time. He had a bad taste in his mouth, breath had a bad, foul odor. He was more tired in the morning than when he went to bed. He had no appetite, no desire for food at all; ate because he knew it was necessary to eat in order to keep body and soul together.

Mr. Harry Foreman, a man of about 40 years of age, had been suffering from catarrh of the throat for some time. He had a bad taste in his mouth, breath had a bad, foul odor. He was more tired in the morning than when he went to bed. He had no appetite, no desire for food at all; ate because he knew it was necessary to eat in order to keep body and soul together.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, Minn.,
Jan. 4.—There has been a decided rise in temperature over the country since yesterday, only a narrow strip along Lake Superior, and over Northern Minnesota, and the country to the north of it reporting zero or below. While over the West and Southwest it is generally above freezing. The temperatures below zero this morning are: Winnipeg, 5; Port Arthur, 1; St.
Vincent and Duluth, zero; these at Duluth, 1;
Chicago, 3; Helena, Mont., 6; Calgary, Northwest Territory (usually a very cold place), 4;
Montreal, 4; Miles City, and Harro, Mont., 4;
Ottawa, 3; Chicago, 14; Cincinnati, 20; St.
Louis, 25; Kansas City, 22; and Duluth City, 10.Light snow has fallen at widely scattered places over the country and still continues over Indiana and Ohio. The heaviest was two inches at Winnipeg.An area of low barometer is central over Missouri this morning, but does not appear to be of much energy, and probably will move off without affecting this section.DULUTH, Jan. 3.—Light snow flurries, followed by fair, west to north winds.J. H. BROOKS, Local Forecast Official.WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—For Wisconsin: Show in eastern and southern portions, followed by fair Tuesday; warmer Thursday morning; clear, fair winds. For Minnesota: Fair, except snow in the southeast Thursday morning; clearing Friday morning; cooler in the evening; winds shifting to westerly.

The Speakership Contest.

The machine scored another triumph
at St. Paul by the election of William E.
Lee to the speakership of the house. It likewise obtained control of the senate and elected its slate there, by making a deal for offices with several Alliance senators. Mr. Greer made a hard fight against the machine, but he had neither the money nor the influences at his command to stand up against it. He made his protest, however, by refusing to go into the caucus controlled by the machine, and he continued the hopeless fight until the decisive vote in the house.Eight other Republican members also refused to enter the Republican caucus and thus be bound to abide by its decision. Among the number was Leonidas Merritt, of this district, who declined to give approval, even by his presence, to the deal which gave the speakership to Mr. Lee and the control of the important committees to the Twin Cities. Mr. Merritt's colleagues were not so independent. They walked into the trap and were swallowed up by the machine.There is not a word can truthfully be said against Mr. Lee's ability to make a first class speaking officer. He is a genial, courteous gentleman, possesses a good knowledge of parliamentary law and will be impartial in his decisions.
The opposition was not against him personally, but against the machine politicians who were back of him and whose pledges he must now carry out.It was asserted by the Lee men that Mr. Greer was unfriendly to Senator Davis and that his election to the speakership might mean Mr. Davis' defeat. This was a falsehood, concocted solely to injure Mr. Greer, who has personally assured Senator Davis of his hearty support. At the senatorial caucus tonight, Senator Davis will be renominated without a dissenting voice, and he has no more loyal friends than Mr. Greer and the Republican members who supported him.

Genius or Talent?

In a communication published in this issue attention is drawn to the frequent misapplication of the word genius, and its distinction from talent is very clearly pointed out. The article was prompted by some comments in a recent issue of The Herald upon a magazine article by Dr. Charles W. Pilgrim on "Genius and Suicide."The doctor took the position that genius had a morbid tendency, and cited several instances to show that many men of genius had either committed suicide or contemplated suicide.
Our correspondent dissents from the doctor's assertions, contending that they were men of talent only and not of genius, which is greater than talent and is a gift given to only one or two in a century and which cannot be acquired or developed like talent.Dr. Pilgrim, if called upon to reply to this criticism, would probably declare that The Herald's correspondent is captious and caving, and that Beethoven and Handel could lay claim to genius with no greater show of right than could Byron and Shelley. Beethoven and Handel had a genius for music, and it can with equal truth be said that Byron and Shelley had a genius for poetry. In neither case can it be said that it was a talent acquired by study or other mode of development.
Their genius was equally inborn, not acquired. The poetic genius of Byron and Shelley was as innate and inherent as was the musical genius of Beethoven and Handel, or the artistic genius of Michael Angelo."Genius," says Webster, "is connected more or less with the exercise of imagination, and reaches its ends by a kind of intuitive power." Could a more accurate description be written of these two poets to whom our correspondent refers?

Governor Nelson's Message.

The Herald publishes today a complete report of the inaugural message of Governor Nelson, delivered to the joint session of the legislature at St. Paul this afternoon. The message is quite lengthy, but it will be found very interesting and worthy of careful perusal. It is written in a vigorous style that is impressive, and it handles various questions of public importance in a decidedly energetic manner. It is evident that he is desirous that the legislature shall exercise rigid economy, and the executive veto may be expected to drop on any measure which runs counter to that policy.The governor's desire to apply the pruning knife to unnecessary expenditures is seen in his attack upon the appropriation placed at the disposal of the dairy and food commission. He recommends that the legislature reduce the grant for this department to one-half the amount voted two years ago, and that the work of the commission be restricted to its proper sphere.The railroads that refuse to grant facilities to those desiring to erect elevators and that fail to furnish cars when required are scored, and the legislature is reminded that it has full power to remedy this great evil. The legislature is also reminded that grain elevator companies which are now outside the control of the railroad and warehouse commission, can by legislative enactment be compelled to place themselves under the inspection department's control. His remarks on this point are very forcible.
There are many other points in the message deserving attention, to which The Herald may refer at another time.

To Advertise Duluth.

It is very desirable that Duluth should be well represented at the World's fair at Chicago. The benefits of the advertising that will be derived from a proper exhibit at the great exposition can hardly be over-estimated. It is, therefore, with pleasure that The Herald notes the appointment of a committee by the chamber of commerce to look after this matter. Commissioner Moore has been ceaseless in his efforts to get a good exhibit from this section and he has succeeded to a very great extent. He has also been instrumental in securing a good amount of space for Duluth, of which should now be utilized to the best possible advantage.The profile map which has been designed by Mrs. W. M. Prindle offers a feature that is most attractive and would be of great benefit to Duluth, if exhibited at Chicago, as it illustrates in a striking manner the harbor and shipping facilities of the city and shows all the principal industries and most prominent buildings. It is of course necessary to raise funds to have this map prepared, and The Herald trusts that there will be a liberal response from the citizens for this purpose.The city election is a month distant but candidates are already making their appearance. The Herald presents in another column today the latest gossip about the aspirants for aldermanic honors. Treasurer Voss and Comptroller TenBrook seem to be having things their own way. They are faithful officials and the people are disposed to retain their services.Democratic city and county committees throughout New York state are passing resolutions endorsing Edward Murphy, Jr. for United States senator.
Mr. Cleveland's opposition is thus being minimized. Mr. Murphy will be elected, and with Hill and Murphy in the senate President Cleveland will find himself, so far as New York appointments are concerned, in the same position as was President Garfield.The Herald's legislative reports during this session will be full and complete and they will be given in advance of all others. The election of Speaker Lee was given in yesterday's report and was copied by the morning paper today.
The report this evening contains Governor Nelson's inaugural address in full,
and of course the morning paper will have it tomorrow. The Herald always leads in giving the news.Interest in the senatorial contest in North Dakota will increase with the arrival of ex-governor Ordway. A senatorial fight in North Dakota without Ordway taking a hand in it would be a sorry affair. By the way, is it not time for Col. Lonsberry to be mentioned as a dark horse? The colonel always receives "honorable mention" in these contests.Dan Lamont is to be made postmaster general in the new cabinet, according to a dispatch from New York today. He would ably fill the position and, if unrestrained by the president, would be likely to wield the axe effectively.A poll of the South Dakota legislature shows that the resubmission measure will be carried. The people will have another chance to vote on the prohibition question.Notice.
All members of Gate City Lodge, No.
35, K. of P., are requested to be on hand this evening at 7:30 sharp to assist in the installation of officers and other business. Knights of other lodges cordially invited.

GENIUS AND TALENT.

It is Claimed One is Frequently Confounded
With the Other.To the Editor of the Herald:
Last evening's issue of The Herald contained an editorial headed "Genius and Suicide" commenting upon an article in the Popular Science Monthly, written by Dr. Charles W. Pilgrim. If you will kindly allow me space, I want to say a few words in reply.There is, perhaps, no word in the English language so persistently misapplied as that of genius, and a fool is frequently called a "queer genius." Talent is not genius. It has been said that genius is the highest development of talent. This is not true. Talent may be developed to a very high state, so much indeed that the strain upon the faculty may be so great as to produce insanity and result in suicide.Genius is something greater than talent and the Creator. Talent never gives the world anything new in art or science. It can only appropriate and teach that which genius has discovered, while genius can only discover that which the Creator has already created.
Genius, independent of known laws or rules, discovers new realms in the worlds of science and art. Talent in order to view those realms must follow in the footsteps of genius.Dr. Karl Marx said: "Genius makes its own laws and is not hampered by those of others. It is a large ship, equipped with sail and compass and glides out boldly over the broad waters.
Talent is a smaller vessel and must keep within sight of genius, while the common people are the little boats that keep close to shore."Genius sees things as they are, talent sees through the eyes of genius. Genius often lives in a world of his own, from the fact that he is fifty or 100 years ahead of the people around him, hence the appearance of eccentricity. It has been said that a genius and a fool may live next door to each other and the fool be mistaken for the genius and the genius for the fool.The persons referred to in the article mentioned undoubtedly possessed great talent, but with the exception of Michael Angelo none of them could lay claim to genius. Only he who gives the world something absolutely new can be called a genius.Galileo and Newton possessed genius, and Edison is certainly a genius of this age. In the musical world such men as Beethoven and Handel may lay claim to genius, while the late Richard Wagner was undoubtedly a great genius. Talent may give us a law or a production apparently new, but upon investigation it will be found to be only cunning, so to speak, from the works of genius, or the development of a law discovered by genius. Too great a development of talent in any one direction may produce a morbid condition resulting in suicide,
but that has nothing to do with genius.

"What odd English you Chicago peo-

Impetuous Colonel Calliper.
"Jason," said Mrs. Calliper to her husband as they sat at dinner, "as I was going down Broadway this morning I stopped to look in the window of a picture store. While I was standing there I saw coming up Broadway a man in working clothes, who looked as though he might be a laborer. He had a pleasant face and an independent manner. I rather liked his appearance, and yet he was not a man whom I would have expected to see take any particular interest in art, and I was a little surprised to see him turn toward the picture store, and I felt rather curious to see what kind of pictures would interest him most. As I glanced at him—""Cynthia," said Colonel Calliper, "I am surprised that a woman of your experience and observation should for a moment imagine that the love of art is monopolized by any particular set of persons. There are many persons of comparatively limited means whose love of the beautiful is inborn, and who may indeed be as discerning and as appreciative as those more fortunately situated in life.""Jason," said Mrs. Calliper, "as I was about to say when you interrupted me, I saw him walk up to the side of the window taking up of one pocket a pipe and out of another a match. He scratched the match on the wood at the side of the window and lighted his pipe, and—why, Jason, you look troubled!""Well, Cynthia," said Colonel Calliper,
"I should hardly expect a woman to joke at your time of life.""Well, Jason," said Mrs. Calliper, "we must be cheerful."—New York Sun.

Human Honesty.

The spirit of the glad Christmastide was in her heart, and she experienced an exultation deep and thrilling when she heard him scraping his feet on the front stoop and a moment later felt the impact of his cold nose on her cheek.

"What?"

Mustily she asked it while he nestled closer and closer to the coal stove.

"Do you find in me to love?"

"How?"

Promptly he replied, endeavoring the while to induce circulation in his ear."Can you ask me? Look at those lustrous eyes, those damask!"She grew more radiant still as he proceeded."Check, those dewy lips half bidding pearly teeth!"

"What?"

Like a startled fawn she leaped to her feet.

"Say!"

She glared into his eyes desperately.

"That again."

"Pearly teeth," he faltered in a dazed fashion.

"Do they look pearly?"

"As the gates of heaven."

"Real white?"

"As the driven snow."

"Pshaw! That's too mean. I bought them for the best cream tinted quality.
That shows!"

She hit her lip.

AMUSEMENTS.

Ovide Musin's Concert.

The Ovide Musin company will be heard tonight at the Temple in one of the grandest concerts ever heard in Duluth. Musin has surrounded himself with a company of artists who are receiving great praise everywhere. Of Musin himself the Chicago Tribune says:
"Of Ovide Musin what can be said that all the world has not already thought? Violinists stand upon royal ground with their simple instrument, and there is a trio of musical artists, Joachim, Wilhelm and Sarasate the Spaniard, who are glad to form a quartet with Musin as the fourth member.
Let these not be compared, for each has
in him his national and ancestral traits.
Musin has a brilliancy, an airiness and a glitter that are his own. He represented everything with his marvelous bowing and delicious fingering as he caressed the loving front of his living violin, and out from a mass of music and sounds grew and rose, distinct and clear, now swelling and swaying, again falling like the cadence of summer breathings and going away into melodious silence. At times you were overcome by his boldness, brilliancy and power, and then he embraced you with his sinking strains till you caught your breath and sighed."

Alexander Salvini.

On Friday and Saturday evenings the now famous romantic actor, Alexander Salvini, is to appear at the Temple Opera house in his elaborate scenic revivals of "Don Cesar de Bazan" and the "Three Guardsmen." The plays of old-time romance and chivalry require for their portrayal an actor rather than an entertainer. The prominent stage favorites of the present generation consist largely of the latter class, and perhaps it is somewhat due to this fact that these charming, inspiring stage pictures of a past but interesting period have not been seen of late. No thoroughly enjoy the exploits of a D'Artagnan or a Don Cesar, the identity of the actor should be absolutely subservient to the individuality of the character itself. This cannot be expected except from an actor of more than ordinary ability.

kept pace with its wants. An increase in the force of instructors has been made from time to time and is still needed, and such increase to my knowledge, intelligently calls for additional appropriations. The library and assembly room are located in the old main building, which was so injured by a fire in April, 1892, that the assembly room has been unit for use since that time.

The quarters occupied by the library affords very inadequate room and are wholly unsafe in case of fire. An assembly room sufficient for the great audience of students and a safe and commodious place for the large and valuable library, are among the most urgent wants of the university. The regents think that, with economy and advantage, these two—the library and assembly room—should be combined in one suitable and substantial building, and for this they appeal to you for a liberal appropriation at your hands.

Our normal schools are increasing in usefulness and in attendance, and seem to keep on advanced ground in all that pertains to their special lines of education. Our high schools have become excellent feeders for our university, and have, to a large extent, assumed the sphere, and absorbed the work of the old-fashioned academies, and thereby they have brought the advantages of higher education close to the doors of the mass of our people.

Our common school system—the priceless jewel of our liberty—grows in quality and effectiveness year by year. Through summer training schools, at the university and at other points in the state, as well as through teachers' institutes, the teachers acquire a skill and aptitude for their work, which greatly raises the standard of our common schools. Liberal appropriations for these training schools is money well invested, and there can be no serious objection to setting aside a portion of the one mill school tax for this purpose as recommended by the superintendent of public instruction.

The contract for the supply of text books for our common schools, which has been in existence for fifteen years, expired last August. We are now remitted to the status, which existed prior to 1877, under which the pupils supplied them with such books as the school board for the time being selected. Under this system books were dear, changes frequent, and there was an entire lack of uniformity. To avoid these drawbacks, some action, it seems to me, is urgently needed on your part. To secure the highest order of books, at the lowest possible price, with uniformity and stability, ought to be the central idea of any plan that may be devised.

The Judiciary. There are sixteen judicial districts in the state, with twenty-nine district judges, doing the most plain, or original trial work, and in addition to this there are a number of municipal courts, with considerable local jurisdiction. We can not well shut our eyes to the fact that this judicial force is in the aggregate, in proportion to our population, unusually large, and that the work is very unevenly distributed. In some districts there is very little to do, while in no district, do I think, is there any substantial overwork. I think it would be the part of wisdom and good administration to effect a judicious rearrangement of our judicial districts, so as to distribute the work more evenly and to leave each judge reasonable and proper amount of work to do.

The dairy industry of the state, especially in view of the fact that it is to that source we must look for relief when wheat raising ceases to be promising, deserves our earnest care and protection. In connection with the school of agriculture and the experimental station at St. Anthony Park is our dairy school, now in most successful operation. It is here where our dairymen of all classes can obtain proper instruction and training, by precept and example, by instruction and experimental work. And this is the proper place and sphere for it.

The department in charge of the state dairy and food commissioner, as a matter of both law and practice, seems to have no concern with purely educational and experimental work, but is limited, and in its very plan and purpose limits itself to police supervision and police protection. This work and this duty is undoubtedly necessary and essential, both for the protection of the consumers and the dairymen, and therefore should receive all proper aid and encouragement. But having in mind this limitation and distribution of work, it seems to me that the force employed and the salary roll in this department is out of proportion to the duties entailed and the work to be done. The salary roll is nearly $5,000—a greater sum than that of any other of the executive departments of our state government, except the grain inspection department, which much more than pays its own expenses from fees collected.

The present commissioner is in novise at fault for the existing order of things. He found it there when he entered the office. It came into being under the act of 1887, when the appropriation for the department was increased from $6,000, as it existed under the original act of 1885, to $15,000. To my mind, it would be whole-some and wise economy to return in this respect to the act of 1885. A $6,000 salary roll strikes me as ample for this department. I commend the subject to your consideration for such action as you may deem advisable.

Constitutional Amendments. At the last election two constitutional amendments were submitted to the people. One of them, that relating to special legislation, was adopted. This will necessitate the enactment of general laws to provide for those cases which subject matters inhibited by the amendment. The other amendment, that relating to taxation, was evidently rejected because it authorized, among other things, the substitution, in the case of railroad companies, of a mere license fee in place of a tax upon gross earnings. In 1890 the people declared themselves in favor of this tax by voting to reject chapter 101 of the general laws of 1889.

There is at present no adequate system of taxation for mining, express, parlor car and sleeping car companies. Under existing laws, insurance companies, both foreign and domestic, pay a tax of 2 per cent per annum upon their gross premium receipts, in addition to taxes upon real estate in case of domestic companies, and in addition to taxes upon real and personal property in this state in case of foreign companies. From this source we last year obtained a revenue of $127,244.25, while from the tax upon the gross earnings of railroads, we obtained a revenue of $804,091.43 during the same period. Thus from these two sources we obtained a total revenue of $931,335.75.

In the light of these facts and in justice to the other tax payers it would seem to be advisable and sound policy to enact a law proposing an amendment to the constitution, authorizing the levy and collecting a tax upon the gross earnings of all the companies and industries named in the rejected amendment, except such as are now paying these taxes, in addition to taxes upon real estate. A tax upon gross earnings is more remunerative, more equitable and more expanding than a mere license fee, unless such fee is measured by and based upon gross earnings. I believe an amendment of this kind would find favor with the people, and so I commend this important subject to your careful consideration.

Grain Elevators and Grain Inspection. Wheat raising is the leading agricultural industry of our state, and it is of such paramount importance, that a depression in the same vitally disturbs more or less all the commercial and manufacturing interests of our people. Everything therefore which pertains to the handling, marketing and transportation of our wheat crop, is not only a matter of the highest importance to our farmers, but is something that concerns every citizen, who has our prosperity and well being at heart.

In 1885 the legislature, in obedience to public demand, enacted a law for the purpose of regulating and controlling the weighing, grading and inspection of grain at the terminal points of St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth, and for the further purpose of regulating and controlling grain elevators and warehouses at these places. That portion of the law relating to weighing, grading and inspection, has been utilized and put into successful operation, and a portion of the grain at these terminal points, into their own hands. The following table indicates the growth and volume of business in the inspection department, from its origin to the present time:

And although the fees charged for the service are small, in fact less than anywhere else for the same work, yet the department is more than self-sustaining, and today has a large surplus on its hands, as appears from the following table:

A comparative statement showing earnings, expenses and balances for the several years since the establishment of the department, viz:
Year Ending	Earnings.	Expenses.	Balance.
Aug. 31—1887.....	$61,471 29	$62,154 89	$ 682 30
1888.....	61,401 51	64,731 39	20,291 41

1892.....	169,952 30	169,323 66	628 64
1893.....	175,701 73	175,428 52	273 21

This large surplus of nearly $85,000 should be utilized, by being covered into the revenue fund, for which appropriate legislation is needed at your hands. A further reduction in the inspection fees will prevent the recurrence of so large a surplus.

That portion of the law of 1885, which aims to regulate and control grain elevators and warehouses, has through the action of their proprietors fallen into well nigh utter disuse, as appears from the last report of the railroad and warehouse commission, to which I call your special attention. These elevators and warehouses that thus decline to submit to state supervision, all avail themselves of the weighing, grading and inspection provisions of the law, as all grain coming to them from interior points is weighed, graded and inspected by state officers, and thus while enjoying the benefits, they decline to share the burdens of the law. This is a condition, which, to my mind, calls for immediate and effective legislative remedy. That you have ample and plenary jurisdiction in the premises, is made plain by the supreme court of the United States, in the case of Munn vs. Illinois, to which I call your attention.

All Should be Under State Inspection. Under existing law the weighing, grading and inspecting of grain by state authority, and under state supervision, is limited to the terminal points I have mentioned and the city of St. Cloud. The grain, when it reaches these points, is either owned by local or terminal dealers in grain, or by big farmers, who can ship direct from wagon, in carload lots to the terminal dealers. It is these men therefore who, in their deal between each other, have the state's empire, both as to weights and grades. But the ordinary farmer, who is unable to ship in carload lots, and is obliged to sell his grain by the wagon load to the local dealers—and most farmers belong to this class—he has no state empire, either as to weight, grade or dockage. No state weigher, or state inspector, is at hand, or can be invoked to right his wrong, if any, but he is remitted to the vague and dilatory remedy of the common law. This discrimination in legislative protection and legislative relief, has always struck me as anomalous and unjust. And therefore I have always favored, and still favor some plan, neither restrictive nor burdensome, placing all grain elevators and warehouses, doing a public business, under state inspection and state supervision, to the end that the state may effectively and beneficially mediate between the warehouseman and the farmer.

But, in addition to this, the farmer needs prompt and unrestricted facilities for the erection and maintenance of grain elevators and warehouses at all stations and sidings, with necessary side tracks and switching accommodations for the same. Years ago it was the custom among railroad companies to give exclusive privileges to, or to discriminate in favor of particular elevator or warehousemen. While in most cases the railroads have abandoned this policy, yet there are still traces of the old evil in some quarters.

A notable instance is that of "The Farmers' Warehouse association of Farwell, Minnesota, vs. the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie Railway company," described in the report of the railroad and warehouse commission of 1891 on page 15. This association, having first applied for leave to erect a grain warehouse on the right-of-way at the station of Farwell, which application the company, without just cause, denied, then erected the warehouse on their own land contiguous to the right-of-way, and have ever since—now more than three years—been vainly endeavoring to obtain the necessary side-track facilities for the same.

Such conduct on the part of the railroad company, aside from mere technical facts, is unjust and irritating to the extreme, and tends to keep up a state of feeling between the producing and carrying interests of the country, which ought not to exist. The railroad company, in thus obstructing and defying this righteous claim of the association, obstructs and defies the state for lack of the humblest farmer in a case of this kind, ought to stand the whole dignity and power of the state. It is not for railroad companies to say who ought, or ought not, to have warehouse and side track facilities. All should be put on a foot of equality.

All discrimination should be eliminated to the end that untrammelled competition—one of the best regulators and protectors—may be secured and maintained. To entail the duty of maintaining grain elevators upon the railroad companies, as has been contended for in some quarters, would tend to give them a monopoly of the business, and thus stifle competition, which is far from desirable. In view of all these facts, which I have called your attention to, I cannot forbear to earnestly recommend that you devise and enact legislation that will promptly and effectively remove all such discrimination in all cases of this nature.

Economy Urged. While Minnesota is rapidly developing her vast mineral resources, and becoming a great manufacturing state, it is still in the pursuit of agriculture that a large plurality of her people are engaged. In these sections where dairy and diversified farming prevails, fair profits, as a rule, are secured, and the farmers are quite prosperous. But where wheat is the chief crop, and the main reliance, there, owing in part to the diminished and inferior yield of 1892, and in part to the unusually low price superinduced by a glut in the wheat market, arising from the large surplus of the great crop of 1891, and the general depression of the wheat crop of 1892, some depression, though none of a serious character, exists.

With an average wheat crop, not exceeding eleven bushels per acre, and an average price, not exceeding 55 cents per bushel, it is evident that our farmers are to some extent laboring under more than ordinary disadvantages and deserve more than ordinary attention at our hands. Under these circumstances we should not shut out our attention to keep the expenses of our state government, in all its branches, at as low a level as the needs of the public service will justify. And we should repress and eliminate, as far as we can, all that savors of sinecure, wherever it occurs, or wherever it may be invoked, at this juncture, refrain, except in cases of urgent necessity, from inaugurating or entering upon new plans or new enterprises in the expenditure of public money. We cannot give our farmers a better yield, nor better prices, but we can, at least, aid them to make the burdens of government rest more lightly on their shoulders.

My predecessor has administered the affairs of state economically and with great tact and wisdom, and has placed the public service on a sound and legitimate business footing, for which he deserves the gratitude of all friends of good government. I hope I may be able to approximate the high standard of public administration which he has placed before us.

And now, as you and I are about to enter upon the discharge of the duties assigned to us, may we from on high, and may our labors, under the blessing of a benign Providence, redound to the greatness and the goodness of our state and common country.

NEBRASKA'S LEGISLATURE.

The Democrats and Independents United in the House.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 4.—In the legislature today the organization in the house was proceeded with harmoniously, the Democrats and Independents dividing the minor offices. In the senate the deadlock was broken by the election of the Republican candidate temporary secretary.

This was brought about by the refusal of the independents to vote. This has no significance, and immediately afterwards a recess was taken.

HE PREFERRED TO DIE.

A Detroit Young Man Who Was Arrested Committed Suicide.

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 4.—Edward B. Farnsworth, son of a well known dentist of this city, committed suicide in the street this morning. Farnsworth had collected $50 on an order purporting to be signed by his father.

The order was dishonored and a warrant sworn out. Farnsworth was arrested this morning. When near police headquarters Farnsworth remarked: "Oh, God, I have to go in there."

A second later he drew a pistol and before the detective could prevent him shot himself in the right temple, dying in a short time.

Mormons in Mexico.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—A dispatch to the Washington Post from Santa Rosalia, Mexico, says: Elder John Stuart, of Salt Lake, who has obtained a concession from the Mexican government for the establishment of a Mormon colony here, arrived yesterday with twenty families comprising about 100 persons. The colony is expected to comprise 300 persons. The colonists will be allowed to practice their religion as they see fit.

Murphy Will Be Chosen. ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 4.—Chairman Plunkett today announced a joint Democratic caucus to be held in the senate chamber Jan. 10 at 8 o'clock p. m. to decide upon a candidate for United States senator. There appears to be no opposition to Edward Murphy, Jr. The Republicans will renominate Senator Hock.

Congress Today.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—At the close of the morning hour, the anti-option bill was taken up for consideration in the senate.

The house passed one pension bill and adjourned.

Stood by His Mother.

The following very pretty story about the little crown prince of Germany is told by a member of the emperor's household: "A clergyman was recently explaining to him that all men are sinners, whereupon the royal pupil asked gravely if his father, the emperor, was not an exception to this rule. 'No,' replied the clergyman, 'he is not. The Kaiser is a sinner, like every other mortal.' 'Well, I'm positive of one thing,' insisted the little prince, 'and that is that my dear mother is no sinner.'"

Return of the Black Cat.

In the autumn of 1889 a big black cat, the pet of Mrs. Sarah Van Dyke's family, at Schenckville, Pa., disappeared. He was a mammoth pussy, his only defects being the absence of an eye and a tooth, which he lost in an encounter with another cat. After a week went by poor old Tom was given up as lost. Recently he threw the family nearly into a fit of fright by appearing in the dining room. Where he has been all these six years is a knotty puzzle.

It is said that a number of fine hotels have been erected during the past year that have omitted the number 13 in numbering the room. Many hotels long in operation also have this peculiar omission.

Again in the Courts.

The basis of Dickens' "Jarmylee versus Jarmylee," the famous denunciations, in which claim is laid to one-half the ground of Birmingham, has been reopened. The property was valued at nearly $400,000 thirty years ago, and is immensely more valuable now. The new claimant is wealthy and has a carload of documentary evidence to support his claim.

ALLIED TO MADNESS.

Another Instance Which Goes to Prove That Lunacy is Frequently the Comrade of Genius.

William Watson, the Poet, Who Was Likely to Become Laureate, Placed in an Asylum.

Since Writing the Best Ode on Tennyson's Death, Success and Flattery Unhinged His Mind.

The poet news comes from England that Mr. William Watson has lost his reason and been placed in an asylum at Windsor. He was recently granted £200 for writing the best ode on the death of Tennyson and stood a good chance of becoming laureate. When he was arranged, previous to his incarceration, the evidence brought out the fact that about twelve years ago a love disappointment induced suicidal mania. He recovered under the influence of a sojourn in Algeria. Since the royal grant success and flattery seemed to have unhinged his mind. As a consequence friends in America and elsewhere have been receiving irrational telegrams.

His brother followed him to Windsor when the poet proposed that they visit Matthew Arnold's grave at Laleham. This is twelve miles distant, but he would not be dissuaded. Arriving at the long walk leading up to Windsor castle, they met an equerry containing the Duke of Edinburgh and members of his family. The poet rushed forward, and seizing the reins tried to stop the horses. He was placed under arrest.

At the station he said that Milton was Sampson reincarnated, and that he himself was reincarnated Milton. He said that during the night messengers flashed like lightning through his room, that Delilah had been reincarnated to tempt him, but he had kept himself pure. He made other similarly incoherent statements. The poet testified that the poet was insane, and he was accordingly sent to an asylum.

The following stanza from the poem about Tennyson is well worth reading. The master could not tell with all his lore. Wherefore he sang or whence the mandate sped—
 "Er's the finest sings, so I, he said,
 Ah, rather as the imperial high-angle,
 That held in truce the necked Attic slave
 And charms the ages with the notes that over
 All woodland chants immortally prevail!
 And now, from our vain plaques of gold
 He with divine silence dwells instead,
 And on no earthly sea with transient rear,
 Unto no earthly air he flies his sail.
 But far beyond our vision and our hall
 Is heard forever and is seen no more.

MADE OF HUMAN HAIR.

A Suit of Armor Worn by a South Sea Islander.

John L. Howard has just presented to the San Francisco Academy of Sciences a complete suit of armor brought from one of the Gilbert Islands. The coat of mail and helmet, all in one piece, is believed by The Chronicle to be a hundred years old, and looks, when off the wearer, like a big wicker chair. When on, the back of the chair apparently rises above the wearer's head, which passes up through the seat of the chair. The low arms, which are straps, pass over his shoulders. The seat of the portion of the lower part is the corselet, fastened around the body. This curious garment is made of coconut fiber, twisted around and around over thick cords, making a dense fabric stiff and stout as board. In color it resembles unstained linen.

HOW THE GARMENT LOOKS.
 The material is woven by hand, after which it is embroidered in regular patterns, suggesting grotesque human figures. This curious needlework is executed with cords made of twisted hair. The thickness of these garments is surprising, and neither arrows nor spears could pierce them. Judging by the fineness of the work the curious armor must have consumed years in making. With the suit of armor are two spears, one eleven feet in length, the other fourteen. They are long, pointed, with shark's teeth. The teeth are polished until they are smooth and white as ivory. Each town is sketched to the wood by a cord made of human hair, passing through a hole drilled in the tooth and another drilled in the wood.

The Business of Burglary.
 In many districts of northern Ohio, organized robbery is the regular winter employment of so large a proportion of the people that travelers are forced to avoid these regions. Robbers prey upon the people of the country as well as upon travelers. In many places families are obliged to have one member sit up all night with a light to discourage the thieves from attack, but the robbers are so well organized that in many instances they beset and overpower the watchers.

A WESTERN MAN'S PLUCK.

Despite a Terrible Wound He Makes His Way to a Camp.

James Gilmore, who is now walking about with crutches in Grand Rapids, Minn., is the hero of a story of courage that has seldom been equaled in the annals of the woods in the far north. He was up on the Big Forks river looking over the timber for the purpose of finding a suitable place and then taking a homestead. He had with him the usual outfit of a trapper, or explorer—blankets, provisions and gun. Of course a good sharp ax was included. As he was making his way through some thick underbrush with that implement in his left hand, some twigs caught the handle, and his leg was thrown against the keen edge with such force as to sink it clear to the bone, just above the knee.

"There was not much pain," he said, "but my leg refused to support me, and then I think I must have fainted. When I revived my first thought was to staunch the flow of blood, which I managed to do by unbuttoning my leathern belt and strapping it tightly and closely just above the wound. Darkness was by that time falling, the snow was eddying about me, and the wind was rising. Thumping my legs in black night, I tried to get to the edge of the forest, but I was unable to do so. The effort was a failure, the limb proving useless.

"There was, miles from any human being or habitation. Where I fell, however, the brush was quite thick. I managed in some way, I hardly know how, to crawl, or rather to shuffle, with my ax in my open space in which to lie easily. I also contrived to collect enough wood to make a little fire, for the cold was telling on me, and I was nearly frozen. Next I managed to get my blankets and unpack my sack. Over my fire of sticks I was enabled to keep it little, and from melted snow I made some coffee.

"It was nearly midnight before I got enough brushwood together by dragging myself from bush to bush. By the time I had the fire going the rest of the night.

When I cut down a bush I made short pieces of it, and with a pole pulled them into a convenient place. As I let I dragged myself back and rolled myself up in the blankets. I was very weak from loss of blood. I could not even sit up. I did not have to dare to any way, as I had the fire to keep up.

"That was Sunday, Monday the thermometer went down to below zero. Tuesday resolved to get to a camp of which I knew. In my pack sack was a ball of twine, such as experienced woodmen and packers always carry for emergency. That I measured into three equal lengths of about forty feet. The end of one was tied to my rifle, that of the second to the handle of the third and my bundle of blankets. With the loose ends attached to my well leg I would crawl the forty feet and then pull the second end to my hand. I repeated this until I had reached the end of the third and then again the process of the tedious march. During that day I managed to make about a mile, and at night found myself at the banks of a small frozen stream. I made a camp the same as I had the two nights previous.

"During that night I solved the problem of proceeding farther. With my sharp ax I chopped runners for a railed sled, and with the cord that had stood me in such good stead I lashed the pieces together. I then loaded on my pack, blankets and gun, together with myself, and with my iron pointed staff I pushed myself nine miles along that stream on the ice, getting within a quarter of a mile of a camp, which I reached Wednesday night, the fourth after the accident.

"There was no one there to give my injuries a professional dressing, but bandages were applied, and the next day, on the bottom of a spruce bark canoe, I was taken to a place where I could get medical aid. I began a sixty mile ride over a corduroy road. That was the most painful part of the journey, and it took me three days to get to Grand Rapids."

When Gilmore got there he was completely prostrated from the jolting he had received, while his injured limb was swollen to twice its natural size. In spite of all that exposure he is gaining strength, and the wound is healing nicely.

Skating by moonlight is a very attractive sport, and the moon is not always on hand. It is great fun to put on a suit of clothes and carry a torch. To make a torch, shred out a piece of old rope, then lay the tow flat on the ground, forming a band about ten inches broad. Just above the tow, spread a piece of old broom shaft, and having poured some tar over the tow roll it round the shaft, binding it tight with thick wire. A large Chinese lantern answers as well as a torch on a calm night.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of money and $500 dollars ($500), which is claimed to be due to the first day of November, 1892, upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Louis J. Tansie and Evelyn O. K. Tansie, his wife, mortgagors, to The Minnesota Loan and Trust company, mortgagee, bearing date the fifth day of November, A. D. 1891, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the twenty-first day of November, 1892, at 2:30 o'clock p. m., in book 7 of mortgages, on page 25.

Which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said The Minnesota Loan and Trust company, mortgagee, bearing date the fifth day of December, 1892, at 8 o'clock a. m., in book 32 of said mortgage records, on page 25.

And whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of twenty-one hundred fifteen and 45-100 dollars, including fifteen and 45-100 dollars necessarily paid for insurance, and whereas, the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: Lot number forty-four (44), East Fourth street, Duluth, Superior, First division, according to the recorded plat of said division, in St. Louis county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appur

HE IS THE WHITE KING

Charles T. Emmerson Has Returned to California After Making a Fortune in the South Seas.

The King of Apennina Liked Him and Gave Him the Exclusive Right of Trading.

By This Means He Was Able to Amass Wealth, Selling Goods at Fabulous Prices.

Among recent arrivals at San Francisco was Charles T. Emmerson, who is known as the American King of Apennina, a title of the Gilbert group, crossed by the equator, and 4,000 miles southwest of San Francisco.

He is a man something near sixty years old, a California pioneer and a civil engineer by profession, and his life is a story full of the strange and the wonderful.

King he has made a comfortable fortune, as most kings do, and is on very good terms with himself and those he sees.

C. T. EMMERSON.

It was not always thus. He delved for gold with Sandy Bowers at Gold Hill, lost a fortune in Nevada and Ely by unloading too quick and fought Apaches in Arizona in 1880 under Captain Parker. He also built toll roads in Utah, and has occasionally taken a turn at founding and running a sawmill in different mountain towns.

Between the acts he has been several times financially wrecked. He is very well known on the Pacific coast, and has reached San Francisco after six years' absence, partly for business and partly for pleasure.

In 1880 he chartered a small schooner and went for a trading tour among South Pacific islands. Touching at King of Apennina, he was met by a native chief, and the following written contract was drawn up:

KINGDOM OF APENNINA, Dec. 18, 1880. This agreement, made this 18th day of December, 1880, by and between T. Emmerson, King of Apennina, and C. T. Emmerson, of California, stipulates that if the said C. T. Emmerson will remove his goods to my island and settle with me he shall be entitled to the following: First, to a furnished mannaup, good kiki (foot) and five dollars a day; second, he shall be accorded the exclusive right of trading in the kingdom of Apennina; third, he shall be manager of all my affairs, my brother on all occasions, and shall be as though he and the present king were joint rulers in Apennina, for a king in fact shall be.

And it is further stipulated and expressly understood and set forth that if either shall violate this contract, if they on that island, on the other, the person so injured shall have the right to kill the offending person.

T. EMMERSON, King of Apennina. C. T. EMMERSON.

"I sold him lumber," said Mr. Emmerson, "at $5 a thousand feet, and got fabulous prices for everything. For post hole augers I got $3 each; for $12 Singer sewing machines, $75 each; for some patent grinders, $20 each; for bolts of calico of 45 yards each, $8; for some tinners' pots, $10 each; for a toy children's penny safe, $35, and so on through a thousand things. Many of the things the king had never before seen, as, for instance, the post hole auger, but I explained to him that they were the very things he wanted. When he was on his trips in his canoes, I told him he could get one of them down on the beach anywhere and get fresh water instantly. He could too. The king thought they were great things and bought a good supply."

"He made plenty of money. I suppose I made in all there during the first six months not less than $50,000. The king bought goods right and left and gave them away. His favorite wife, one of twenty, was his cashier. He kept his sovereigns in a big bag and bought lavishly, besides paying me well every day.

"He built me a palace and also a special kitchen for me near the king's mannaup, or palace. Every night a ring of fire burned around all the royal buildings, and his forty bodyguards, all tremendously big men, slept about it and kept watch. They did this both in order to keep an eye out for enemies from other islands and to guard the king's wives from those who would steal them away.

"I was accorded the privilege of managing the delivery of the goods which he gave away to the other two islands of the Apenninas. I had equal share with the king in governing, and my word was as much law as his. Timmit was what they called me—that is, the white king."

THE BROOKLYN HERMIT.

Once He Was a Lawyer Now He Is a Scavenger.

According to the New York Sun, Karl Keller is a lawyer and a man of education, yet for thirty years he has lived the life of a hermit and scavenger in what is now almost the heart of Brooklyn. The city has grown around him, but it has not touched him. Once he owned the lot at 25 Sumpter street, on which his hut now stands, and there was a small farmhouse on it. That was many years ago, when Keller was a fine looking man. He practiced law a little, but every one said he was eccentric. Then he lost his property, and his little house was torn down. The new owner intended to put up a large house on the lot.

For some reason this house has never been built. Keller squatted on the land, built a little two-room hut on the rear of it, and there for a quarter of a century he has lived alone, without money or friends and a mystery to his neighbors. He has been known to the children as "the old man lawyer," and his appearance on the street has been the signal for a shower of stones and jeers. No one has ventured to call on Keller in his hut, however, for he resented any interference with his way of living. He gnarled his two rooms as jealously as if they contained valuable instead of a collection of broken dishes, rags, odds and ends picked from ash barrels and a half dozen much worn boots.

The people who live on Sumpter street near "the old man lawyer" have become accustomed to Keller's eccentricities, that they pay little attention to him and even forget to speculate as to the causes that have reduced a man of his education to living as a scavenger. There have been days at a time, says the Sun, when no one has seen him. Last winter it was feared that he died alone on his pile of rags, and none of the neighbors had seen him for nearly a week. A policeman was sent to investigate, and his knock on the door was answered by the query:

"Well, what do you want here?"

"Are you sick, Mr. Keller?" asked the policeman.

"No," was the reply. "I simply want to be let alone."

This desire to be let alone was in the mind of the Sumpter street people a strong evidence of his insanity. He was harmless, however, and they did not push their investigations.

The old man managed to live some way, and that was enough for his neighbors. His hut stood at the back of the lot, where it attracted no attention. If he begged, it was never in the neighborhood where he was known. Keller has even refused offers of food from people who know him. "I need very little," was his reply, "and I am not begging for that."

When an effort was made recently by the present owner of the lot at 25 Sumpter street to dispossess Keller the old man lawyer defied the warrant. Then the neighbors began to think that he was a nuisance, and they applied to the board of health and the charities commissioners to wipe out the hut and send Keller to an insane asylum. When Keller returned from a scavenging expedition he found that the roof had been torn from his hut and part of the walls were down. His bed and his broken dishes and the old stove on which he cooked his meals were scattered around the lot. Keller raved and mumbled to himself. Then he patched up the other half of the hut. It is only about eight feet square and just high enough to permit its owner to stand upright. The room was not room enough inside for the stove, so Keller placed it against the wall just outside the door. He moved his bed of rags into this room and collected around it his broken dishes. A piece of carpet now serves as a door. Keller says he is going to stay in that house until he dies. "I am not crazy," he said when it was proposed to place him in an asylum, "and I want to be let alone. I have a man no rights in this country? I interfere with no one, and it's no one's business how I live."

Karl Keller is now sixty-seven years old. He is of medium height, and his face is old. His features are large and regular. A heavy gray beard, worn long, conceals his mouth, and notwithstanding his shabby clothes, there is a certain air of dignity about him. He stoops a little as he walks. Keller was born and educated in Germany. He speaks English, however, with very little foreign accent. Perhaps the story of his life is hinted in his living so many years near the foundation of his first home and in the rosebushes that he has grown around the sunken place that once served as a cellar. When Keller built that house thirty years ago and owned the lot on which it stood he was not as eccentric as he is now. He was even then a hermit in his way of living, although for a year or two he tried to practice law. There is a woman now living on Sumpter street who knew him in those days. She says that one day a woman, leading a little boy called on Keller. It is supposed that the woman was his wife. There was a quarrel, and the neighbors heard it. The woman stood in front of the house and asked Keller for four dollars to pay her fare home.

"You don't have four cents," shouted Keller, closing the door in her face. The woman and the little boy went away. If Keller has any relatives living, they have left him very much alone. From time Keller seemed to be more anxious than ever before to shut himself up from the rest of the world. He gave up the pretense of practicing law, and he grew rosebushes and trained vines over his hut. Occasionally his neighbors have heard him reciting in a loud voice selections from German plays and singing German student songs. These have been rare occasions, however, for Keller did not court notice. His library consists of a German-English dictionary and four or five old lawbooks.

A Nineteenth Century Epitaph. Clara—Have you heard that I was engaged? Maude—To be married?—Life.

One of the cleverest thieves in Reading Pa., is a man named Neumann. He is like the famous canine thief of Paris, the Reading dog will steal umbrellas, canes, poultry, books and regularly half a dozen different newspapers that he finds at the doors of neighbors in the morning. All these he carries to his master. Twenty attempts have been made to capture him, but his education makes him wary, and he runs home by a very circuitous route. The owner is supposed to be a professional burglar with shifting quarters.

WE CANNOT SPARE

healthy flesh—nature never burdens the body with too much sound flesh. Loss of flesh usually indicates poor assimilation, which causes the loss of the best that's in food, the fat-forming element.

Scott's Emulsion

of pure cod liver oil with hypophosphites contains the very essence of all foods. In no other form can so much nutrition be taken and assimilated. Its range of usefulness has no limitation where weakness exists.

TO SETTLE A BOUNDARY.

The Supreme Court Decides a Dispute Between Iowa and Illinois.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The United States supreme court yesterday rendered its decision in the case brought by the state of Iowa against the state of Illinois to settle the boundary line in the Mississippi river between the two states.

Nine bridges cross the Mississippi between the two states, and it was desired by each state that a decision as to the boundary line of the river be made, in order that each state might tax only the property within its borders.

In an opinion rendered today by Justice Field the court decided that the boundary runs to the middle of the main body of the river from the banks, without regard to the steamboat channel, and that the measurement of the middle distance should be taken when the river was at its normal state.

On behalf of Illinois, it is claimed that jurisdiction of each state extends to the middle of the steamboat channel wherever that may be. In an opinion rendered today by Justice Field the court adopts the Illinois view of the matter, holding that the true boundary line is in the middle of the river channel of each state. It is desired that the boundary line be established at the places where the bridges cross the river, the court ordered that a line be the opinion of this court, and make return to it for further action.

Heart Disease Curable. The truth of this statement may be doubted by many, but when Dr. Franklin Miles, the eminent Indiana specialist, claims that heart disease is curable and proves it by thousands of testimonials of wonderful cures by his New Heart Cure, it attracts the attention of the millions suffering with shortness of breath, irregular pulse, wind in stomach, pain in side or shoulder, smothering spells, fainting, dropsy, etc. A. F. Dyer, N. S. Milwaukee, Chicago, and four bottles of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, was completely cured after twelve years suffering from heart disease. It is our earnest desire to impress upon the minds of the public the superiority of the service offered by the Wisconsin lines to Milwaukee, Chicago and all points East and South. Two fast trains leave St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth daily, equipped with Pullman vestibuled drawing room sleepers, dining cars and coaches of the latest design. Its dining car service is unsurpassed, with account to a great degree for the popularity of this line. The Wisconsin Central lines, in connection with Northern Pacific railroad, is the only line from Pacific coast points, or which both Pullman vestibuled, first-class and Pullman tourist cars are operated via St. Paul without change to Chicago.

Pamphlets giving valuable information can be obtained free upon application to your nearest ticket agent, or Jas. C. Pond, general passenger and ticket agent, Chicago, Ill.

MUNICIPAL POLITICS.

It is Still Some Weeks Before Election
But There is Plenty of Figuring Already.

All of the Present Aldermen, Except A. C.
Weiss, Will Endeavor to Obtain Re-Elections.

Ald. Cox Has Already Been Nominated by the Populists to Succeed Himself.

Although it is still a few weeks before the annual spring election will be held,
the municipal political pot is already beginning to steam and a number of interested individuals are already speculating as to where the aldermanic mantles will fall. Immediately after New Year's it has generally been noticed that the men who aspire to be candidates this year is no exception and it is therefore possible to give now some idea of what may be expected.

In the first place it is at present very likely that Treasurer Voss and Comptroller Tenbrook will find no opposition.
They have made good officers and nobody is seeking to fill their shoes so far as heard of. In the First ward it seems to be generally conceded both by Republicans and Democrats that Martin Sorensen will have things his own way.

In the Second ward, however, it would seem that there is going to be war. C. A.
Long wants to be re-elected. B. F.
Howard would also like to represent the Second ward. As to who the Democratic candidate in the Second ward will be nothing is heard.

In the Third ward, N. F. Hugo will again be a candidate. George Fraser wants to try it again and will make a play for the nomination. In the Fourth ward, Alderman Weiss will not be a candidate for re-election. Fred Quinby is mentioned as his probable successor.

In the Fifth, Alderman Cox has already been nominated for re-election by the Populists, a meeting having been held Monday evening. He is brought out by the same movement as he was two years ago. No other candidate has been mentioned.

In the Sixth ward, Alderman Kennedy has decided to run again, although he announced a short time ago that he did not intend to. John D. Campbell is also spoken of.

Goets to Buffalo.
D. H. Wilcox, formerly general freight agent of the Lake Superior Transit company, has been appointed general freight agent at Buffalo, N. Y. His appointment went into effect Jan. 1. He will be in charge of both Duluth and Chicago business.

His Head Split Open.
Matt Volia and Alias Johnson got into a quarrel in a saloon at Ely recently which resulted in Volia's head being split open with a club, and the arrest of Johnson. A hearing took place before Judge Voss yesterday and the prisoner was bound over to the grand jury. He has been brought to Duluth and lodged in the county jail.

Volia has died since the assault, and Johnson is now held for murder.

Would Not Support the State.
In municipal court this morning the only cases were those of two drunks, who were highly indignant over a sentence of $10 and costs. One paid, but the other, who was just from Michigan, said that he did not intend to pay out his money to support the state of Minnesota, hence went to jail.

WEST DULUTH COUNCIL.

O. H. Simonds Asks For Action on the Bridge Matter.

The council held a short and unimportant meeting last evening. A communication from O. H. Simonds was received asking the council to take some action in the matter of a bridge between West Duluth and West Superior. The matter was referred to a committee to confer with Mr. Simonds and the West Superior authorities.

Colquhoun Bros. were allowed 14 per cent on their Collingwood-avenue contracts. A practical settlement of the claims for labor against Contractor Norman on city hall work was made. The Union Telegraph ordinance was laid over for one week. Committee on supplies was ordered to investigate and report on system of fire alarm. Also to buy a public fountain for the corner of Grand and Central avenues.

Against the Bonds.
The election went against the issuance of bonds by a vote of 106 to 124, as follows: First ward—For, 55, against, 10.
Second ward, 79 for and 73 against.
Third ward, 37 for, and 73 against.

A SAFE MARGIN.

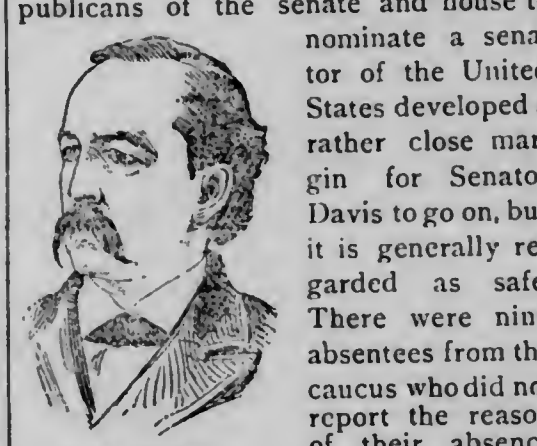

Senator Davis Renominated in a Republican Caucus at Which Eighty-Eight Votes Were Cast.

This Gives Him a Majority of Three in the Legislature, Which is Close But Safe.

Governor Merriam's Closing Message Recommends That the Tax Levy be Reduced to Some Extent.

A Free School Text Book Bill Introduced in the House Today With Other Measures.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 5.—[Special to The Herald.]—The joint caucus of the Republicans of the senate and house to nominate a senator of the United States developed a

C. E. DAVIS.

rather close margin for Senator Davis to go on, but it is generally regarded as safe.

There were nine absentees from the caucus who did not report the reason of their absence
and it is needless to say that they will be more or less marked during their future political careers. They were Oscar Ayer, E. R.
Smith, Henry Burkhardt, A. V. Eaton, W.
Christie, Joseph Denholder, Allen J.
Greer, Edgar F. Comstock and John Holler. The first four mentioned are senators.

It is probable, however, that several if not all of them will vote for Davis in the senatorial election held, Jan.
17. It may have been a matter of carelessness or inadvertence on their part that they were absent. Senator Davis secured 88 votes. Senator Dedon of the Alliance was present and cast his vote for Davis. Senator Mott and Wood, Alliance men, also signify that they will vote for Davis, although they were not present at the caucus.

The nominating speech at the caucus was made by Senator H. F. Stevens a telling and eloquent effort, which was frequently applauded by the legislative members, as also by the spectators of which there were many present.

He said that more than a quarter of a century ago when the storms of civil war had spent their force, an unknown soldier came to the state of Minnesota who had served his country among the bravest. His merits were so marked that he was called by them to represent them in these legislative halls. His efforts in the legislative department of the government were so efficient that he was called to be its chief executive and subsequently to represent this commonwealth in the United States senate.

How he fulfilled his duties there is known to all men and they have expressed his work with unfeigned sound in the senate of the United States, said Mr. Stevens, by an unwritten law new men are not allowed to aspire to places of eminence, yet the abilities of Senator Davis were recognized by his appointment as chairman of the important committee on pensions, the duties of which were laborious and exacting, extending many a time into the small hours of the night. His position on the foreign relations committee was one of the most important of the government, and his knowledge of international law is known abroad as well as at home.

In the Bering sea matter he played an important part. Senator Stevens recollected the changes that Mr. Davis secured in the tariff law, and then dwell upon the manner in which he saved two sections in every township to the school fund, or 166,000 acres, on the opening of the Red Lake reservation.

A measure of the greatest benefit to his constituents was one of which he was the author, providing for a deep waterway channel of twenty feet in the great lakes, thus bringing to our doors the commerce of the world. If he has not given to all satisfaction as a purveyor of place, no senator has surpassed him in conspicuous devotion to his duties, while during all the laborious duties of his public office he has found time to travel the highways of ancient and modern literature and has made many excursions into the flowery fields of literary life. At the recent state election he secured a popular vote of more than 133,000, exceeding by 10,000 the electoral vote and 20,000 more than the state ticket. Senator Stevens then formally placed Mr.
Davis in nomination, closing amid great applause.

Frank M. Wilson, representative from Goodhue county, seconded the nomination on behalf of the delegation from that county. The vote was taken, and a committee was appointed to wait on Senator Davis. They soon returned with the senator, who was greeted with enthusiastic applause and made the following speech:

"I do not appear before you with any premeditated words of acknowledgment.
Heart, I recollect no moment in my life with such feeling of gratification and personal pride as that in which it was announced to me that this Republican body had nominated me without a dissenting voice to succeed myself as United States senator. Six years ago I stood at this same place and pledged myself to the people of this state and pledged that I would, to the best of my ability, strive to build up the North Star state into one of the greatest commonwealths of the nation. About what I have done, it would be impossible for me to utter any word of commendation, but it is proper for me to say that I have done everything in my power to fulfill the pledges to my party and to the state.

"There has been no impulse dearer to my heart than to make this state reach a glorious and powerful position. My idea has been to take advantage of the geographical position which makes Minnesota the ultima thule of inland sea-navigation. I hope to see the time when vessels shall bear in unbroken cargoes from every sea. It gives me great pleasure to look into the faces of so many loyal Republicans. In the reverses of the late election, Minnesota splendidly earned the polar star in her escutcheon fixed and immovable. The last state convention did me the unprecedented honor of nominating me for senator, which I highly appreciate.

"I assisted our present governor, Hon.
Knute Nelson, [applause] in a campaign which changed the legislature from thirty-six majority against us to twenty-four in our favor and I hope that all unpleasantness incident to struggles of this kind have vanished. Let us adopt the advice of Shakespeare to the legal profession, strive mightily, but meet and part as friends. The Republican party is a party of internal development and the Democratic party one of external acquirement. I confidently predict that when its acts are tested with those of the Democrats of the next four years, the party will go back into power with a greater majority than that by which it was defeated this year."

Senator Davis's speech was followed by one from Hon. John Lind, who was present. Mr. Lind said just a few words as follows: "I congratulate you and the Republican party. No act of yours could send such a thrill to the heart of every loyal Republican throughout the nation."

Governor Merriam's Advice.
Some Points of Interest Taken from His Farewell Address.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 5.—[Special to The Herald.]—In his farewell address to the legislature yesterday Governor Merriam said: "I ventured two years ago to suggest the desirability of not increasing the tax levy. It was, however, deemed advisable to do so, and in accordance with the action of the legislature at that time, the tax for revenue purposes has been raised to 2.02 on the dollar, based upon the entire property of the state. It will be seen by the statements attached to this paper that there will be quite a surplus resulting from the collection of taxes for the years 1893-94, should the present rate be maintained and all money expended awarded, and I sincerely trust that the tax levy will be reduced to the amount suggested as necessary two years ago."

"At least a reduction of eight-tenths of a mill, computed upon the present assessed valuation of the property of the state can be made, thereby reducing the amount of taxes to be collected nearly $400,000 per year for the years of 1894-
95. This would be a very material saving to the taxpayers of the state, and in my judgment would be sufficiently large to pay all expenses as well as providing for all needed expenditures. The accompanying documents will indicate the directions in which sums are required for the construction of new public buildings, as well as for such other purposes
as seem necessary."

The statement attached to the governor's message, to which reference is made in the above extract, is as follows, being the estimated receipts and disbursements for the fiscal years 1894 and 1895:

This estimate is made on a basis of a tax levy of 1.1 mill.

PANTON & WATSON.

LITTLE IS DISMISSED.

The Assistant Fire Chief as Well as Twaddle Relieved From Duty by the Commissioners.

Several Allegations Were Made Against Him, Most of Them Breaches of Discipline.

Twaddle's Discharge Was Because of His Denial That He Was Induced to Prefer Charges.

At the meeting of the fire commissioners last evening, it ceased raining and commenced to pour. If the meeting Tuesday afternoon was a picnic the one last evening was a whole circus with red band wagon accompaniments. Commissioners Hart and Helinski wielded their sharp official axes and as the result not only is Arthur Twaddle dismissed from the fire department, but Assistant Chief Little finds that he is only a common every day citizen and that the blue dot and bright buttons of a fireman will no longer bring bread and butter for him and his family.

Shortly after 8 o'clock, in the rooms of the commissioners at the city hall, President McGregor called the meeting to order. The secretary, as a prelude, read Commissioner Helinski's motion made Tuesday afternoon providing for the reinstatement of Twaddle on conditions that he appear before the board and prove to the satisfaction of the members that he was induced and instigated by others to make the charges of conspiracy against Commissioner Hart and Chief of Police Horgan.

"What have you got to say," inquired President McGregor, after the resolution had been read and then explained to Twaddle.

"I was never induced nor told to make these charges," was the prompt reply.

"Mr. Twaddle, was that not a sworn statement you made to the council?" asked Helinski.

"No, sir," replied Twaddle.

"Who told you that I wanted you rooted out of the fire department, because you belonged to the A. P. A.?" inquired Commissioner Hart.

"I disremember," answered Twaddle.

"Mr. Campbell was the man who told me that he had been told that," answered the doomed fireman.

Then Twaddle was told that he could go. He put on his cap and great coat, bade the commissioners a distinct farewell and passed out into the stilly night.

"I move that he be discharged from the department," said Commissioner Helinski.

"It seems to me that this young man is being made the scapegoat for others and that it ought to satisfy all demands if he make an ample apology to Mr. Hart, accept his suspension and then take his old place in the department," volunteered President McGregor with a pacific attitude.

Commissioner Hart apparently was not there to bury hatchets but to dig them up. "Twaddle cares nothing for the commissioners," he said. "If we remove him he thinks the councilmen will remove us."

"He don't know it," ventured President McGregor.

"I say tell him that," retorted Commissioner Hart. "You make light of this thing," continued the commissioner.

"He says that four investigations are enough and that he don't want any more. He won't make an apology. I therefore second Mr. Helinski's motion to discharge him."

"You have heard the motion," said the president. "All in favor say aye."

"Aye," energetically replied Messrs. Hart and Helinski. President McGregor voted no. It was also voted to notify Chief Smith of the action, after which Mr. Hart said, "How about this other man?"

"Who?" questioned the president.

"Assistant Chief Little," said Mr. Hart, as a holy calm descended.

"Well, what do you want to do?" continued Mr. McGregor.

"You are satisfied he did wrong in not reporting that trace to the chief and in taking the general course he did in that affair, are you not?" questioned Mr. Hart.

"Yes," admitted Mr. McGregor.

"Then I move that Assistant Fire Chief Little be dismissed," said Mr. Hart.

"I second that motion," dramatically spoke Commissioner Helinski.

"Is that not rather hard?" asked President McGregor as soon as he could recover from his surprise sufficiently to articulate.

"I've seen Little in Kennedy's saloon and also talking with Cox. It may be a little severe to dismiss him, but if things go on in that way we soon will have no fire department. We had better set a foot down now," replied Commissioner Hart.

"Do you want to give any reason for the dismissal?" inquired the president with an air of resignation.

"Well," said Commissioner Hart, "we'll dismiss him for going into Kennedy's saloon, for holding that consultation with Kennedy, Twaddle and Lynott, and for not reporting to his chief and the fire commissioners. There's other reasons I might give. All summer when ladies have passed that engine house they have been scoffed at and made the object of remarks. I think these changes down there will stop all trouble in all these directions."

"That should have been spoken of long before this," remarked President McGregor. "All in favor of the motion signify by saying aye." Hart and Helinski voted aye and the president, despite the fact that Little's goose was cooked and one no availed nought, voted against the dismissal.

On motion of Commissioner Hart, Capt. Andrew Jackson was appointed to take the deposed Little's shoes. Adjournment followed.

JOHN D. GILL IS FOUND.

He Has Been in Detroit for a Couple of Months.

A number of inquiries have been made lately as to where John D. Gill is. The Northwestern Witness of today publishes a letter written to John T. Knox, of Minneapolis, by a man in Detroit who is organizing societies in opposition to Roman Catholics, or "A. P. A." societies as they are generally known in Duluth. This letter is in the possession of a Duluthian. After rehearsing the fact that the Catholics are endeavoring to obtain possession of the country the letter says:

"If Rome gains supremacy in the United States she has this continent and the world. My friend you don't comprehend the magnitude and importance of this question. It means everything to us."

"I believe that the North is the salvation of this country. Of all the letters sent out more businesslike answers have come from Wisconsin and Minnesota than from all other states put together. You may think that I am flattering you. I am not. I am from your own state. My name is John D. Gill, from Duluth."

"Should it be discovered that I will succeed in accomplishing what I hope to accomplish and am sacrificing all I have in the world to accomplish I would not live twenty-four hours, then I charge you in the name of God not to mention my name and give me a chance to see if I may not be instrumental in doing some good. I came here that I may be better able to study the question and work from the supposed center of the reformation."

If this is the birth place I pity the rest.

"There is something more to this question than the carrying of elections. But one or two men know that I am here. One man in Duluth mortgaged two lots for $200 to start it and I made a mortgage on my office furniture and library to him to put up as collateral to get more money. I have left you into the secret. Will you stand by me?"

A little further on in the letter the following information is conveyed:

"Last winter I spent all my money supporting two lecture courses to see if I could not raise the public schools of Duluth above the church of Rome. The enterprise was set down on and it cost me a large amount of money more than I took in, but I succeeded after a fashion. The people called it a grand success. This fall I began to understand the situation and I struck at the foundation."

WILL LOOK AT THE FIELDS.

Special Excursion to the Gold Mining District in Canada.

A special excursion party filling one and probably two chartered cars leaves the Union depot this evening attached to the east bound Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic train. They party will be joined at Sault Ste. Marie by other cars from Minneapolis conveying a Colorado delegation of leading mining men and a number of gentlemen from Chicago and the east. A special train will be made up at the Canadian Sault Ste. Marie and the entire party will be taken to the new gold mining district near Sudbury, in which a number of Duluth people are thoroughly conversant with the inspection of the gold bearing district is to be made and the site of the new town, which is to be established, will be selected. The trip will take about four days and the party is expected back here Monday morning.

NO FOOD FOR TEN DAYS.

The Terrible Experience of Eight Miners in Russia.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 5.—Ten days ago a mine on the line of the Lonetz railway was flooded by the sudden ingress of a large volume of water. The miners had set off a blast, and the explosion was followed by a rush of water that the pumps were not able to cope with.

The miners fled for their lives and all managed to reach the surface except eight men. It was supposed, however, that they were drowned in the workings. The pumps were kept going night and day, and after a week they began to gain on the water. Yesterday the mine was declared safe to enter and a party of miners went down to recover the bodies of their comrades.

They searched the main galleries, but found no trace of them. Finally in a steep working, that had been abandoned a long time ago, they almost stumbled over the men, who it appears had made for this point when they found escape by the shaft cut off. They were still alive, but had their rescue been delayed for only a few hours they would certainly have died from starvation.

For the entire ten days they had been without a morsel of food, and they were so weak that they could hardly speak. They were removed to the surface as quickly as possible. Medical aid was summoned, and stimulants in very small quantities were given to them, after which they were allowed a little soup. The physicians state that with extreme care the eight men will probably recover.

RIDDLED WITH BULLETS.

Two Cowboys Killed and One Mortally Wounded in a Fight.

DENISON, Texas, Jan. 5.—James and Will Nevins, and Jack Langdon, all cowboys, had a fight with Winchester and six-shooters at "Three Heart" ranch in the Choctaw nation yesterday.

The Nevins boys and Langdon worked on different ranches. The former was charged with stealing a Maverick, and a fight on horseback began. The first shot killed Will Nevins and a sharp duel followed. The latter was killed at the fifth shot and Nevins was riddled.

ANOTHER WAR PROBABLE.

Nicaragua and Costa Rica Quarreling Over the Boundary Question.

New York, Jan. 5.—The Herald's cable from Panama says: Advice received from Costa Rica says the boundary question between that country and Nicaragua has been reopened, and that there is a prospect of war between the two countries in consequence.

A body of Costa Rican soldiers have taken possession of territory claimed by Nicaragua, and Costa Rica has conveyed to Nicaragua an ultimatum which the latter country is not disposed to agree with.

She is preparing to defend her rights, and the outlook is grave.

THE MYSTERY CLEARED UP.

Engineer Jeffries Was the Murderer of Miss Ayers at San Francisco.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 5.—Night Foreman Starkey, of the railroad yard here, confessed yesterday that Engineer George Jeffries two months ago proposed to him and a third party to assist him in the murder of Miss E. O. Ayres at Brighton.

She was a telegraph operator there to whom Jeffries was united in a bigamous marriage. Starkey backed out. Jeffries is now in jail here charged with the murder. This statement clears up the mystery surrounding the death of Miss Ayers last Thursday night.

THE PETS OF A WIDOW.

She Lives Near Sonoma, Cal., and Has Two Hundred Cats and Many Other Animals.

Each of the Fortunate Cats Has a Pedigree That Extends Back Over Many Generations.

High and Tight Fences Prevent Slumber Disturbing Tom or Tabby From Entering the Feline Paradise.

Mrs. Robert Johnson has 230 cats, and each of them has a pedigree that extends back over many generations. As Mrs. Johnson has several millions of dollars and is a widow, her pet cats live in a style befitting their long pedigrees. They live at Buena Vista, Mrs. Johnson's country mansion near Sonoma, Cal., and it takes three servants to care for the pussies. Every one of these cats is a real Angora, and the most exacting part of the duties of the three Japanese who look after them, says the San Francisco Examiner, is to see that no wandering night hawk of a common

WHERE THE CATS LIVE. fence haunts, slumber disturbing Tom or Tabby shall gain entrance to this feline paradise. There are fences high and tight to keep these out and to restrain any vagrant tendencies that may have descended to any of these petted beauties from some outcast ancestor, for, as with most people of gentle blood, somewhere the fair line of ancestry runs into marauders, products perhaps of the wild time in which they lived.

There are about 3,000 acres in the grounds about Buena Vista, and the residence stands in the center of ten acres of flowerpots and lawns. The house is reached by a winding avenue shaded with ornamental trees and is seen to stand on the crest of a sloping knoll. Seen from the veranda, beds of flowers and velvety lawns vie with Golden Gate park on a small scale. Here and there are built short flights of stairs leading down to tiny lakes, on which snowy swans and ducks disport themselves in common tenancy with myriads of fancy fish. Rustic bridges span many little brooks, and inviting seats abound beneath stately oaks and towering eucalypti. There is also a pond of warm mineral water, fringed with a thicket of bamboo, and the fragrance from lemon and orange trees abounds.

Such are the surroundings in which these beautiful cats live in luxury. Besides the cats, Mrs. Johnson has a lot of other pets. There are parrots from all over the world. Cockatoos and parakeets perch on huge stands or fly about the aviary with mad glees until the place is filled with pandemonium. Then in another huge cage are large numbers of canary birds, who sing to each other all the while. Outside the mansion are a lot of kennels in which dwell some very well known prize winners among the dogs. These dogs are smooth or woolly, large or tiny, and have two keepers in charge of them.

Then there are a lot of Japanese donkeys and some splendid specimens of Holstein cattle and Jersey cows with soft eyes. A hundred horses and mares of Election stock complete Mrs. Johnson's menagerie. It is with the parrot tribe that the Angora cats maintain continual warfare. Nothing pleases a white Angora kitten so much as to jump wildly into the air to clutch the long tail of the great white cockatoo. If the mother of this audacious kitten is not in the room at the moment, the chances are that the kitten will be severely punished by the sharp claws and huge beak of the furious cockatoo. However, should it happen that the kitten has good backing, there is a cat and parrot circus for the next three minutes, which always ends in a spoiled cockatoo.

The common green parrot, however, is generally quicker than his lofty sister with onions on its head and undoes the noble art of self defense much better. One green parrot has been known to wring a kitten's neck before the sound of the bell could reach the mother Tabby, and when the mother Tabby arrived to find her offspring scattered and kept the mother busy endeavoring to save the lives of her children, for the green bird kept flying from one to the other with terrific shrieks and three twangs until the whole force was routed. As a punishment the murderous bird was sent to San Francisco and sold to a deep sea captain, who has since taught it to swim and also to drink Jamaica rum, which must be a source of great humiliation to it if remorse, regret and memory are among the attributes of a parrot who was reared amid such gentle surroundings.

A FEROUS SPIDER. In La Plata there is a fierce and large spider called "the wolf." A traveler writing about it says: "It is of extraordinary size, light gray in color, with a black ring around the middle. It is active and swift and irritable to such a degree that one can scarcely help thinking that in this instance nature has overshot her mark. When a person passes near one—say within three or four yards of its lurking place—it starts up and gives chase and will often follow for a distance of thirty and forty yards. I came once very nearly being bitten by these savage creatures. Riding at an easy trot over the dry grass, I suddenly observed a spider pursuing me, leaping swiftly along and keeping up with my least. I turned a blow with my whip, and the point of my lash struck the ground close to it, when it instantly leaped upon and ran up the back of my hand and was actually within three or four inches of my hand when I flung the whip from me."

The husband never lived who was good enough or wise enough for a wife to obey.

THEY CUT HIM UP.

Yet the Surgeons Can't Agree as to the Cause of a Pauper's Death.

Joe McCoy, a St. Louis pauper who had been used as a shuttlecock between the Mullapah hospital and city poorhouse in the furtherance of the cause of science, and whose remarkable muscular affliction caused a split in the local medical society three years ago and one of the most bitter fights among the profession ever known there, is dead at last. Soon after his death a number of physicians were no-

Among them, of course, were Drs. Shaw and Bremer. Within twenty minutes after the first incision had been made in the dead man's skull it became evident that while the eminent neurologists present had for two years and a half maintained a truce in the acrimonious dispute which had originally raged over the remarkable case it was destined to be renewed with increased hostility. Subsequent developments more than realized the indications.

When McCoy entered the hospital from a pit of abject darkness and despair he was suffering from sudden attacks of spasmodic muscular contraction which affected the left side of his body. The physicians at both institutions were at sea in regard to the case, but finally Dr. Albert W. Fleming, then resident physician at the poorhouse, reported it to the St. Louis Medical society, where it attracted great interest. Dr. A. B. Shaw took up the case and concluded it was a very rare disease, known as myotonia, of which there are but six or seven cases reported.

Dr. Bremer declared the diagnosis wrong and asserted that the patient had a brain tumor. So, naturally, when the pauper died he was promptly cut up, but with no satisfactory result, for after the post-mortem the doctors disagreed again, and now there are three theories regarding the case, each actively supported by a coterie of eminent surgeons.

The new party to the controversy take the stand that both Dr. Shaw and Dr. Bremer were wrong in the case, claiming that while there was no trouble with the man's brain, yet it was not a case of myotonia at all, but was caused by an affection of the spinal marrow. This party is headed by Dr. Marks, superintendent of the city hospital.

"It was unfortunate," said he, "that the spinal cord was not preserved properly in taking it out. Dr. Bremer himself realized this, for when the cord was cut longitudinally he remarked: 'I can't do anything with that now. You should have cut it transversely.' He realized exactly what it would be found the seat of the trouble. It was a case of spinal affection, but the cord was so badly bruised in the taking out that nothing was discovered from it. The case is of course a very peculiar one, and so far as I can see, but little if anything has been learned from the post-mortem examination, merely means muscular contraction, and is not a disease. That is the definition given in the medical dictionaries."

Slain by Her Convict Husband. Little, who the old chronicles—which are not authentic, but yet interesting—say was Adam's first wife, is said to have been slain by her husband, who was a convict, and was executed for the crime.

The woman was the daughter of Judge Charles Eaves, of Greenville, Ky., and her real name was Miriam Eaves. Educated in the best schools in the Blue Grass State.

she graduated at the age of seventeen. She was also an accomplished vocalist and musician. She showed wonderful brilliancy in her studies, and after leaving school she was a belle in the society of her native town. An engaging conversationist and fine musician, she attracted much attention. She married, was divorced, married again, and later on her second husband was sent to the penitentiary for murder.

Her attempts to commit suicide with morphine were thwarted. Then at various times she tried convent life, and was about to take the veil when her spouse, Albert Wing by name, was released. She returned to him. He grew violently jealous and killed her.

A WONDERFUL TALE.

An Almost Unparalleled Case of Suffering.

Extricated From a Pit of Abject Darkness and Despair.

Emerged Again Into the Sunlight, Saved!

The best writers during all the ages have with eloquent pen depicted the awful mental suffering of hopelessness and darkest despair. Dante, De Quincy and others painted in never to be forgotten shades of sombre blackness the mind utterly devoid of hope, writhed with lost courage, despondent, disheartened.

But in real life we never have heard a more heart-felt tale of suffering, mental and physical, than that told us by a most estimable lady, Mrs. J. P. Swift, who lives at 278 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

"Four years ago," she said, "I was in a position of complete physical and nervous prostration, had but little appetite, severe indigestion, stomach distended with gas, constipation, palpitation of the heart, sleeplessness, pain in back of the neck and base of the brain, and was so nervous and despondent that life was a burden."

"As a result of this condition, other weaknesses peculiar to my sex fell upon me, until I was utterly wrecked."

"After much medical treatment and constant failure, I was induced to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I was in a faint hearted way and with little hope, but I soon began to sleep better, my digestion improved, the pain in my head became less severe and I gradually gained my strength until I felt as if I had been extricated from a pit of abject darkness and despair and emerged into the sunlight."

"Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy saved me! Very many of my friends to whom I have recommended the remedy can attest to similar results in their own cases."

"It is truly a wonderful medicine and might be called the 'Woman's Friend.'"

It is a fact that the sick are despairing. How many thousands of sufferers there are who, from repeated failures to find relief, lack courage, become despondent and almost lose all hope of ever getting anything to cure them!

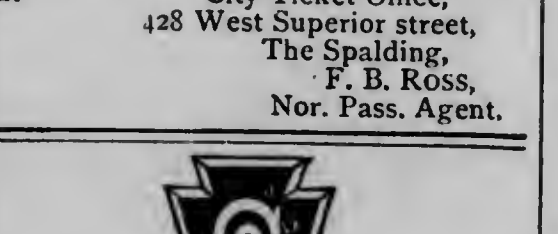

And yet if they will use this remarkable medicine, which is purely vegetable and harmless and can be procured at any drugstore, how soon will their gloom and despair be turned to hope and joy! Mrs. Swift has recommended it to a great many of her friends who have been cured, and it will cure you if you use it.

Official. It is our earnest desire to impress upon the minds of the public the superiority of the service offered by the Wisconsin lines to Milwaukee, Chicago and all points East and South. Two fast trains leave St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth daily, equipped with Pullman vestibuled drawing room sleepers, dining cars and coaches of the latest design. Its dining car service is unsurpassed, which accounts to a great degree for the popularity of this line. The Wisconsin Central line, in connection with Northern Pacific railroad, is the only line from Pacific coast points over which both Pullman vestibuled, first-class and Pullman dining cars are operated by St. Paul without change to Chicago, Ill.

The Highland electric cars are running regularly from the head of the incline through the prettiest tract of land at the head of the lakes.

Government chemist, writes: I have carefully analyzed your "Royal Ruby Port Wine," bought by me in the open market, and certify that I found the same absolutely pure. This wine is especially recommended for its health-restoring and building-up properties; it strengthens the weak and restores lost vitality. Be sure you get Royal Ruby; $1 per quart bottle. Sold by S. F. Boyce, druggist.

For pains in the chest there is nothing better than a dandelion cloth saturated with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound on over the seat of pain. It will produce a counter irritation without blistering, and is not so disagreeable as mustard; in fact is much superior to any plaster on account of its pain-relieving qualities. If used in time it will prevent pneumonia. 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

SINGER AND ACTRESS.

Two Very Promising Artists in New York Who Are Now Favorites of the Footlights.

Miss Landes Started in at the Top and Has Had a Brief But Brilliant Career.

Miss Chapman Has Played Everything From Ophelia to Topsy, Besides Singing in Comic Opera.

Miss Minnie Landes, the prima donna of the "Isle of Champagne" company, has had a brief but brilliant career. It will surprise many of the persons who have seen Miss Landes in the present role to be informed that prior to this engagement she had been on the stage but seven weeks in all.

Miss Landes was born in New York city twenty-one years ago. She is of German extraction and comes naturally by hereditary ability, as many of her people are well known in the musical world. It didn't take long for relatives to discover that little Minnie possessed a phenomenal voice, and almost from the time when she wore short dresses she has been "in training" to a certain extent. Her musical education, begun in New York, was finished in Vienna and Paris under the best masters.

A short time after returning to New York Miss Landes, hearing that Oscar Hammerstein was about to attempt to inaugurate a permanent grand opera engagement in Harlem, boldly approached the not over-savvy manager and offered for the place of prima donna. The boldness of what she had done almost took the fair young singer's breath away, but when Hammerstein asked her to give a specimen of her singing she did her level best and was at once engaged. Her debut was made as Marguerite in "Faust," and she received better newspaper notices from the New York papers than I have ever seen given to a debutante.

Hammerstein's grand opera experiment lasted a very short time, and Miss Landes then traveled a little while with Emma Jach, whose understudy she was. She left that shaky organization and did not go on the stage again until she joined the "Isle of Champagne" several months ago.

Miss Landes is a charming blond, with a strong, intelligent face and a magnificent figure. She is a great walker and dresses very prettily, but on the street she never is taken for a professional singer. She is a cousin of Louis Best, the famous Vienna beauty, and lives with her father, who is a silk importer, in a luxuriously appointed flat in West Eighty-fourth street, New York. Miss Landes' only fast piano playing. She is a fine performer. Mrs. Landes travels with her talented daughter when the "Isle of Champagne" is on tour.

Blanche Chapman (Ford) is not very old in years, but she is a veteran of the stage, and there are probably few women living who have played more parts than she. And she has not been confined to one class of work by any means. She has played Topsy in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," Josephine in "Pinafore," comely parts with Jefferson, Boucicault and Florence, Ophelia with Edwin Booth and Desdemona with John McCullough. Besides she has a repertoire of forty-two operas, the largest, it is claimed, of any singer in America. Miss Chapman has made a very substantial hit in "The Prodigal Father." Glen MacDonough's bright force, which is now running at the Broadway theater, New York.

Miss Chapman was born in Louisville. She made her debut in a "binking" part when she was but five weeks old, and in a speaking part at the early age of six years. Her first important engagement was as Eva, which she played during the famous 100 nights run of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in Philadelphia.

When Blanche was thirteen John T. Ford, of Baltimore, undertook the management of her and her sister, Ella. The girls soon became famous as the Chapman sisters. This continued until "Pinafore" was brought out, when Miss Chapman was given the part of Josephine by Mr. Ford, whose son, Henry Clay Ford, had in the meantime married the actress and singer. Once in comic opera Miss Chapman was unable to get out of it until Mr. C. B. Jefferson engaged her for the part of the serio-comic in "The Prodigal Father."

Miss Chapman is a cousin of the once famous Julia Dean. Her grandmother, Mrs. Fisher, was Joseph Jefferson's stepmother. Miss Chapman is passionately fond of music.

etc, does not believe in calisthenics or fancy dressing and is still very pretty and of course plump. Her sister Ella, speckled in railroad stocks, made money and is now living in retirement in London with her mother. Miss Blanche lives in Washington with her husband when she is not traveling.

He Has Won the American Championships Many Times.
George D. Phillips, the present champion figure skater of America, has been one of the most remarkable amateur skaters in the world for twenty-five years.

He was born in New York city about thirty-six years ago, is 5 ft. 5 in. tall and weighs 155 pounds. He won his first championship for speed over one mile in 1867, and from then until 1887 he added eleven more speed championships to his list and was holder of most of the world's records in that time. He has won 100 yards to 30 miles.

George D. Phillips. He then retired from speed competitions, which he had honored with his presence for twenty years, and devoted his attention to figure skating. Year after year until 1891 he finished second to Louis Fubinstein, but in that year he and the world famous Montreal skater were tied for the championship, and the National Skating association awarded two medals. In February, 1892, Phillips captured the championship, which he still holds, although he has retired from competition.

Phillips has one or more medals to show for each year's work in his quarter century skating career, and is grace itself as a figure skater. He is a prominent member of the New York Athletic club and an oursman of considerable note.

THEATRICAL TATTLE.

Sam Moy, a Mongolian merchant doing business in Chicago, is to build a $100,000 Chinese theater in that city.

John E. Warner has been appointed general manager of all the Abbey, Schofield & Grau attractions, beginning in March, 1893. These will consist of Irving in November, Coppell and Harding in November, Momet Sully in December, grand Italian opera beginning in Chicago in October or November, and the spectacular "Aurora," which appears in Chicago April 27, 1893.

The shareholders in Imre Kiralfy's show of "Venice" in London received the modest dividend of 500 per cent.

Camille Saint-Saens' opera, "Proserpine," will probably be first produced at the Paris Opera Comique. The composer is coming to America in June next.

Sir Arthur Sullivan is again in ill health and by advice of his physicians has left England for a sojourn in the south of France.

Richard Mansfield's company contains a new recruit in a Boston society girl named Grace Freeman, concerning whose talents and future prospects Mr. Mansfield and her friends are very sanguine.

Maurice Brennan and James J. Walls will start jointly in a new farce comedy written for them by Bertrand Wesner, entitled "The Chamber."

James B. Donovan will start next season in his three act Irish comedy, "Me Uncle Mike."

Dr. Wolf Hopper will release during his present tour the new comic opera by Cheever Goodwin and Woolson Morse.

Dockleaf, the $1,250 Bulldog.

The picture that accompanies this article represents a $1,250 worth of bulldog. At least that is the price Mr. S. Woodruff, of Finchley, England, paid for the celebrated dog Dockleaf before he won first prize as the very best canine of the 129 exhibited at the recent bench show of the South London Bulldog society. The sum is said to be the largest ever paid for a dog of Dockleaf's species, but a much higher bid would probably be necessary now to induce Mr. Woodruff to part with his prize winner.

Dockleaf was bred by Mr. Pybus-Sellon and is a dark brindle in color. He has a massive head, broad chest and short, powerful body, and is said to be a very good natural animal.

Pietro Mascagni, the Great Composer.
Pietro Mascagni, the great Italian composer, who will shortly make a tour of the world by easy stages, is a clean shaven young man, with a mop of hair almost as large as Padreski's before sickness compelled the cutting of that gentleman's bursate crown. It is incredible that a man who has made success after success of the most brilliant sort should retain his former modesty, amounting almost to shyness, but Mascagni's intimates declare that this is so with him.

On his recent visit to Vienna the police had to be called to escort him to and from the theater, so great were the crowds which effectually blocked the way. Mascagni is now at work on two operas despite the fact that "Il Rantzau" was only produced a short time ago. His two new works are based respectively on Heine's one act tragedy, "Wilhelm Ratcliffe," and Coppe's idyl, "Le Passant." Mascagni is said to be a millionaire already, so it would appear that good music pays, after all.

A New Sort of Tremium.
Of novelties in advertising there is no end. A Berlin publisher is circulating the following announcement on the cover of one of his periodicals: "Notice to the reader: Owing to favorable arrangements I am enabled to present to the friends of my magazine purchasing the entire volume a living pig, about 8 months old, on extra payment of twenty pence (2s. 4d.)."

BEHIND THE FOOTLIGHTS.
Maude Branscombe has returned to New York from London.
Jennie Yeomans will soon leave New York for a splendid engagement in London.
The Spanish representation at the Chicago exposition will include a band of 100 performers.
"The Dances," Helen Barry's new play, by Paul M. Potter, was produced in Washington recently. The play is good.
The young women of Vassar college propose to perform the Greek play, "Antigone," in the spring in the original text.
Ibsen's new play was produced in Christiania, Norway, recently. The title is "Master Builder Solness," a proper name which may be translated "Snuggles."

Minnie Seligman-Cutting and her company from speed competitions, which he had honored with his presence for twenty years, and devoted his attention to figure skating. Year after year until 1891 he finished second to Louis Fubinstein, but in that year he and the world famous Montreal skater were tied for the championship, and the National Skating association awarded two medals. In February, 1892, Phillips captured the championship, which he still holds, although he has retired from competition.

WHIP AND SPUR.
Arion, 2:10 1/4, is now the only champion remaining in the Election series.

Belle Vart's best mark when the season of 1892 opened was 2:22 1/4. Her present record is 2:08 1/4.

Turf, Field and Farm predicts that Lobasco will be the champion of the season, the stallion record next year.

Budd Dobie is about the only driver who started at the top of the ladder and has been able to keep it with the procession.

The Philadelphia Turf club has a membership of 230, does not owe a cent, and has several thousand dollars in the bank.

The new track at Fond du Lac, Wis., will be ready for the trotters when the spring opens and is expected to be a fast one.

The champion yearling and 2-year-old of Kansas, Brown Russell, 2:35, and Reclia U 2:25 1/4, are both owned at Junction City in 2:25 1/4.

A hippomaster, to record the number of a horse's paces and the distance he has traveled, has been invented by an officer in the French army.

The New York state yearling trotting record is 2:31, made by Purling, by Colonel Lipp, 3 1/4, dam Merriment, 2:30 1/4, by Happy Thought, 2:25 1/4.

Budd Dobie's stable of horses, eighteen in number, won 602,035 in fifteen weeks' racing during the past season. The eighteen horses started seventy-seven times.

Smol is now in Mr. Bonner's stable at New York, where she will pass the winter. She will be jogged on the roads in Central trainer Marvin. She is also reported to be in prime health.

FASHIONS FOR MEN.

The men's furnisiers are now making to order about everything from neckwear to pajamas.

The smaller size of the knottings in which the finer scarfs are formed has led to a slight diminution of the low cut of the overcoat lapel.

The latest cutaway frocks have been made with trousers and waistcoat to match out of fine striped trousering cloth, which realizes the ideal mixed suitings now to be had from all high grade clothiers.

Some of the sweats are wearing spots again. While they cannot be sanctioned upon the score of utilitarianism, it may not be done as long as they are in vogue and worn at proper times they impart a touch of individuality to the wearer.

Upon the new single breasted, long tailed frock there is not a button visible on the coat—it being fly front to the waist and having crosscut at the junction of the tails with the waist line at the back, and the usual buttons absent from the coat sleeves.

The trousers are growing appreciably tighter, and very smart is the effect with the long tailed coats, bell hat, heavy walking gloves and big bontomies. The material is in quiet stripes. The crease is often omitted, and the bottoms measure from 16 1/2 to 17 1/2 inches. —Clothing and Furnisher.

TO BE ARGUED AGAIN.

The Supreme Court Grants City Attorney Smith Permission to Reargue the Piedmont Avenue Case.

The Case is Continued to the April Term and all Proceedings Are Stayed in the Meantime.

Point to be Argued is as to When it is Necessary to Establish a Permanent Grade.

In the case of the state of Minnesota ex rel. Chas. E. Shannon et al. relators, vs. the judges of the district court of the Eleventh judicial district et al. respondents, City Attorney Smith, attorney for the respondents, has received the following communication and copy of the order of the supreme court which will be read with interest by all who are in any way concerned in the Piedmont avenue litigation:

"The respondent having moved for a reargument on the question whether by the charter of the city of Duluth the permanent grade of a street must be established before a street can be permanently graded and the expense thereof assessed upon the property benefited. It is ordered: That the question be reargued and that the cause be continued for that purpose on the calendar to the April term of court and in the meantime all proceedings in the cause are stayed."

CANNOT SETTLE IT.

City Council of West Duluth Having Trouble Over the City Hall.

The completion of the new city hall and the settlement with the contractors has been a vexatious source of trouble to the city council and the end is not yet. The architects, Traphagen & Fitzpatrick, have reported that the estimated cost to remedy the shortcoming of Contractor Norton was $354 and they recommended that the amount be retained from the contract price until the work is satisfactorily completed. With the exception of the laborers, who will be paid in full, no further payments will be made on the hall until matters are straightened up. There is a dispute between Contractor Norton and Sub-contractor Runshaw which will probably have to be settled in the courts.

NOTICE!

While we endeavor to do a strictly cash business, we find on taking a statement of our books for the year just passed, that we have on them a great number of outstanding accounts, which, individually, are not big, yet in the aggregate make a very large amount.

To all whom we have extended 30 days' accommodation we have mailed a statement of their accounts, and would ask them to kindly send check. Should they fail to respond within five days, our collector will call on them, and we would request that you receive him cordially and treat him liberally, as we require money. We are driving a very large business, which necessitates considerable cash at certain seasons of the year, and none more particularly than now.

GRAIN RATE CASE

Decision Filed By the Interstate Commerce Commission on the Charges Made By the Minneapolis Millers.

The Present Flour Rates of Which Pillsbury and Others Complain So Loudly Will Stand.

No Reduction Can Be Allowed Minneapolis to Overcome the Natural Advantages of Duluth's Location.

Rates on Wheat Must Be Adjusted Upon the Basis of Distance Over the Nearest Routes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The interstate commerce commission today, in an opinion by Commissioner Medill, announced its decision in the case of the Minneapolis chamber of commerce against the Great Northern Railway company and others. Rates on wheat from North and South Dakota points to Minneapolis were charged in the complaint to be unreasonable and, as compared with rates from the same points to Duluth and other Lake Superior ports, to subject Minneapolis to undue prejudices, such rates from a section of the Dakotas being the same to Minneapolis and Duluth.

It was also claimed that the rate on flour, formerly 5 cents and now 7½ cents per 100 pounds from Minneapolis to Duluth and other Lake Superior points, is unreasonable, and, in connection with the wheat rates mentioned, subjects Minneapolis to further undue prejudice. The commission declines to go into the question of the legality of the flour rate for the following reasons:

First, when a local rate from a given point (Minneapolis) is alleged unreasonable, but it appears from the record that such local rate is also a proportion of through rates from that point, and as such is the real subject of controversy, the complaint should be made against the aggregate through rate, not the share received by any initial carrier, and all the carriers composing the through line are necessary parties.

It further holds generally in regard to the flour rate being over roads connecting Minneapolis, which is naturally located on the Lake Michigan route to the seaboard, with Duluth which, in respect to the flour trade, is more favorably situated on the Lake Superior route as follows:

Second, a town favorably situated with respect to one through route, and competing in a common market with another town more favorably located on another through route, should not have a reduction of the local rate over roads connecting the two through routes for the purpose of overcoming the natural advantage which the latter complaining town enjoys.

Upon the question of alleged unlawful wheat charges to Minneapolis as compared with those to Duluth, the commission lays down the following rule:

Third, a milling town (Minneapolis) possessing great natural, acquired and improved advantages for the carrying on of that industry, and favorably situated in point of distance to a large grain producing region, is entitled to the benefits arising from its location, and carriers of grain to that point and to competing town (Duluth) considerably more remote from points of production, and in other particulars less advantageously located, are not justified in making rates on grain to the competing towns which destroy the advantage the former is entitled to enjoy. The commission decides that

Fourth, rates on wheat from points in North and South Dakota to Minneapolis, as compared with the rates charged over considerable greater distances from the same points to Duluth and adjacent Lake Superior points, subject Minneapolis millers to undue and unreasonable prejudice and disadvantage. The defendants are ordered to adjust their rates on wheat from said points to Minneapolis and Duluth upon the basis of distance over the nearest practicable routes.

PEOPLE TERROR STRICKEN.

Diphtheria of a Malignant Type Causing Great Mortality.

FREEDPORT, Pa., Jan. 6.—The appearance of malignant diphtheria at Bagdad, four miles above here on the West Pennsylvania road has stricken terror to the people of the village. The house of Daniel Walters has been bereft of two children and a third child is considered beyond hope of recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman have lost one child, while the parents themselves are prostrated and in a critical condition. The three members of the family of Mr. Stull are so low with the disease that it is doubtful if any of them can be saved.

The disease is of the most malignant type and is spreading at an alarming rate.

THE WATERWAY CONVENTION.

Secretary Thompson Will Reach Washington
Tonight Without Fail.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Secretary Thompson did not arrive as anticipated yesterday. A telegram received from him today states he will reach Washington tonight without fail.

Mr. Blaine's Condition.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—A little better, was the response made by a member of the Blaine family today, to a reporter who called at the ex-secretary's residence this morning.

DOE TO BAD CONDITIONS.

The Recent Deaths of Convicts at Little Rock Explained.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 6.—Dr. G. M. D. Cantrell, of Little Rock, last night made an interesting statement regarding the recent deaths of convicts at that place. Dr. Cantrell is penitentiary physician for four years, his term of office ending in May, 1890.

He stated that during his administration he visited the convicts camps, and in his report made in January of last year he devoted one-half of it to the bad sanitary condition of the camps, and showed that the death rate was greater among convicts in the camps than among those confined in the penitentiary walls.

Regarding this report Dr. Cantrell says: All that portion of my report bearing on the filthy condition of the camps was stricken out by Attorney General Atkinson, who argued that my province was within the penitentiary, and that I had no authority over convicts confined in camps. Further, that the report, if presented to the legislature as I had drafted it, would act as a two-edged sword, inasmuch as that body would bring the board to task for being derelict in their duties, and therefore he thought it best to strike it out. His opinion was seconded by the governor, and that portion of the report was suppressed.

As to the recent deaths at Helena and Little Rock, he says: "Personal investigation, coupled with my past experience, suggests to my mind that the deaths are due to bad food and sanitary surroundings, sleeping in freight cars and drinking water from sewer drains contiguous to slaughter houses, etc., as has been reported."

MESABA RAIL FREIGHTS.

Speculation at Cleveland as to the Charges by Railroads.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 6.—The Iron Trade Review says in this week's issue: The question of rail freights on Mesaba ore has had some consideration from local firms who expect to sell some ore from the new range this year. There has been a rumor that with the Duluth & Iron Range, and the Duluth, Mesaba & Northern competing for business, and a third line—that of the Swan River Logging Co. from the Swan River crossing of the Duluth & Winnipeg to the mines in 57-22 and 58-20—already under construction, there would be a 50-cent rate on ore this year.

But it is stated by the representatives of one of these lines that it is not their intention to shave their rates in its first year. While no rate has been made to any mining company, as yet, there is little reason to expect anything better than the 50-cent rate, charge that has been figured upon in all estimates of cost of ore at Lake Erie docks.

SMALLPOX NEAR PITTSBURGH.

Prospects of a Serious Epidemic Are Reported Alarming.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 6.—The smallpox in the Westmoreland, a suburb of Pittsburgh, and the prospects of an epidemic are alarming. Already five cases have developed. The disease originated among the Italian colonists on Kelly street.

The health authorities were notified on Tuesday and had three patients removed to the pest house. The infected district was at once quarantined. Two new cases were developed yesterday and removed to the pest house.

Formed an Alliance.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The Herald's correspondent at Montevideo telegraphs that despite the diplomatic denial of the existence of an alliance between Chile, Brazil and Paraguay, it is the general belief both in government and private circles that such an alliance has been formed.

Fulfilled His Mission.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The Herald's cable from Panama says: H. M. Bushnell, the special representative of the state department at Washington, has returned home. It is understood that the object of his mission was to effect an understanding with Colombia in quarantine matters.

Tammany Will March.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The chairman of the committee on civic organizations of the inaugural executive commission has announced, in a letter to James Martin, of the Tammany society, that the Tammany organization will be accorded the right of line of the civic portion of the inaugural parade. It is expected that at least a thousand Tammanyites will march in the procession.

Being Generally Signed.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The petition which is being circulated for the repeal of the Sherman silver act is fast gaining signatures. Mr. Probst, banker, says he has obtained over 500 names, including some of the best in Wall street. Many personal letters and telegrams will also be sent to Washington in the same connection. A committee will present the petition to congress.

Miners Will Strike.

BERLIN, Jan. 6.—The miners at Gelsenkirchen, Westphalia, have decided at a mass meeting to join the miners of the Saar district in their strike. The movement is spreading extensively throughout the mining regions, notwithstanding the efforts of the authorities who have arrested several persons on the charge of inducing others to strike.

A Generous Offer.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The Press this morning publishes an invitation to the feminine school teachers of this city and vicinity to take fifty of their number to the World's fair in Chicago, where they are to spend ten days. All the expenses of the trip will be borne by the Press.

Senator Kenna Improved.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—At the Kenna residence at 9 o'clock this morning it was announced by the members of the family that the senator had passed a very good night, and that he was bright and cheerful in spirits and his condition improved this morning.

A HOST OF MEASURES

Bills That Are Likely to Receive the Attention of the Legislature During the Session.

Ministerial Society

Judge of Probate Ayer Will Present

Revise the Present Probate Code.

The Railroad and Warehouse Bills and the Insurance Laws Will Also Occupy Much Time.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Already one can see signs of the coming host of legislative measures which will come before this session of the legislature. Perhaps the most important measure will be the new municipal general law which eight city attorneys of the most prominent cities in the state are now engaged in formulating. It is hoped that it will go far toward the solution of that most difficult of all problems in government—the management of the municipal affairs of cities.

J. H. Markham is looming up upon the horizon with several bills in his pocket. He will introduce a bill to tax railroad lands and another to provide large jails for districts which are sparsely settled. He probably has Itasca county in mind as needing a lock up or two. This time, however, he will act for the state board of corrections and charities. He will act as sponsor for a bill providing for the registration of all paupers, which was inspired from the same source. This measure is to prevent the paupers of one county being foisted upon another and those of the state from being deported to the next.

Governor Nelson's message presaged the introduction of important legislation by the state railroad and warehouse commission, bringing private warehouses under the inspection of the commission. Of course Duluthians are familiar with the manner in which the additional $100,000 was raised for the World's fair. Senator La Due has a bill in his inside pocket which he will soon introduce providing for an appropriation to reimburse the public spirited citizens who gave their votes to raise the money. The Democrats will fight the measure but with the present safe Republican majority, it is liable to go through all right.

The state university is in a most prosperous condition regarding attendance and instruction, with its 1500 students and 100 professors, but it needs money as much as it needs books. It looks quite stormy for that great institution this winter but its friends are legion and may pull it through with a handsome remembrance. The probate code is a back number in many respects and needs considerable tinkering. One bill already before the senate which was introduced by Senator Sanborn, but others will be forthcoming, among them one by Judge of Probate Ayer, of Duluth.

The insurance department of the state is greatly dissatisfied with the present laws governing insurance companies. The law will be reworked this winter, if possible, after the Massachusetts and New York codes. The farmers' mutual companies will probably have to come under the jurisdiction of the insurance commissioner and to submit to periodical examination. There will be numerous bills prompted by the late amendment to the constitution on the question of taxation of railroads, parlor cars, telephones, telegraph lines, etc. The extension of the Australian ballot law to primaries will occupy a great deal of legislative attention. There will be a legion of grain inspection, warehouse shipping and railroad wheat handling bills.

Capt. J. W. Miller, Col. Dodge, Geo. F. Ash, Sheriff Sharkey and Amos Shepley were among the Duluthians who saw the nomination of Cuth Davis to succeed himself.

FROM THE RECEIVER'S HANDS.

How the Panama Canal Shares Are Now Held.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The Panama railroad has practically passed out of the control of the receiver of the Panama Canal company. A cable inquiry was sent to Paris and a reply was received last evening which settled the disposition of the Isthmus railroad shares.

The information given by the dispatch was as follows: The canal company owned 68,534 shares of Panama railroad stock out of the total of 70,000 shares. These 68,534 shares are not in the possession of the receiver, M. Mochicourt. They are held chiefly by two individuals. M. Paul Arthur Cheramy holds 37,000 shares. M. Hyronimus holds 37,000 shares, and A. M. Boudet is in possession of 1021 shares. The shares held by Cheramy, Hyronimus and Boudet came into their possession as secretary of the contractors on the canal works of the Isthmus.

A Tug Burned.

GRAND HAVEN, Mich., Jan. 6.—Botsford & Co.'s tug, the A. J. Wright, which was in winter quarters here, was burned to the water's edge last night. Loss $20,000. The steamer was fully insured.

Emmie Wilmot Dead.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—News has been received in this city of the death of Emmie Wilmot, a widely known actress. Her death occurred in a hospital at Albany, N. Y., two days ago and resulted from pneumonia.

Against the Sherman Law.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 6.—At a special meeting of the Sioux City Clearing House association yesterday resolutions were adopted earnestly urging congress to immediately repeal the Sherman law.

THE KENTUCKY CONVICTS.

Governor Brown Says the Contractors Are Indebted to the State.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 6.—Governor Brown sent to the house today a message relative to the state's contract with the Mason & Ford company, lessees of the penitentiary. The governor charges that the company has failed to comply with the plain letter of the contract, in refusing to pay for the capture of escaped convicts and guards wages.

He states that the company does not need additional shop room. The company claim they must have more shops, and have failed to renew their contract on account of the refusal of the legislature to build additional shops.

The governor charges that the company is indebted to the state for over $40,000. He states that he suggested arbitration of the difficulties, but the company declined.

FRICK TO BE ARRESTED.

So Says a Homestead Man, Collecting Funds
in Cincinnati.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 5.—A special dispatch to the Leader from Cincinnati says: A prominent Homestead steel worker has been here for several days incognito raising money. He says a fund of $30,000 is about to be raised, and that in a few days Frick, Lovejoy and Attorney Breck will be under arrest on a charge of conspiracy. The man says he expects conviction.

Ex-President Weibe and Senator Kilgallon, of the Amalgamated association, say that the information in the telegram is news to them but that they would not deny that it might be true.

EXCITEMENT AT FAIRFAX.

Attempt to Blow Up the Lock-up With Two Bank Officers.

REDWOOD FALLS, Minn., Jan. 6.—Excitement runs high at Fairfax over the Bank of Fairfax failure. The assignee has not made his statement, but the liabilities are very large and the assets very small.

Messrs. Gray and Beard are confined in the village lock-up in the charge of Renville county officers. An attempt has been made to blow up the lock-up with dynamite, but the fuse went out before reaching the explosive.

VISITED BY A BLIZZARD.

Terrible Storm in Michigan and All Traffic Suspended.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Jan. 6.—The worst blizzard for many years struck this section early yesterday morning. Traffic of all kinds is practically suspended. The wind has blown sand and snow into the railroad cuts north and south of here to a depth of ten feet.

The steamers Nora and City of Fremont cleared from this port for Milwaukee Wednesday night, several hours before the blizzard arrived. They have not been heard from, and a deal of anxiety is felt as to whether they reached Milwaukee safely.

Mr. Beers' Great Snap.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The New York Life Insurance company and Wm. Beers, ex-president of the company, have settled their differences. By the terms of the compromise Mr. Beers has agreed to abandon his litigation to force the company to pay him $37,500 yearly pension voted to him by the board of trustees when he resigned the presidency of the company on Feb. 9, 1892, and to make no further claim under that agreement. In return the company agrees to pay him $1200 a month, but the arrangement may be terminated at the will of the company or of Mr. Beers.

A Propeller Missing.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 6.—The propeller Wisconsin left here Wednesday night for Grand Haven and had not arrived there last night. As a heavy gale set in early yesterday and continued all day, it is supposed that she went into the ice somewhere along the east shore for protection until the storm subsided. The Wisconsin had aboard ten passengers, besides her crew of fifteen men and a cargo of flour.

Murder and Suicide.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 6.—A murder occurred here yesterday afternoon at 88 Willet street. A man named Shatuck shot his wife and then himself. The woman is dead while the man is still alive, but will die.

A Double Murder.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 6.—A report reached here last night that a negro had murdered two negro women at Lone Jack, Mo., twenty miles east of this city. No particulars can be obtained, as the place is twelve miles from a telegraph office.

Winding Up Its Business.

ISPEMING, Mich., Jan. 6.—The East New York Iron company has assigned and its affairs will be wound up. The company operating a mine here, employing one hundred men. It is hoped the assets will cover the outstanding liabilities.

More Typhus Cases.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Two new typhus fever cases were reported to the board of health early this morning. There have been fourteen deaths from the disease so far.

Bandmaster Cappa Dead.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Bandmaster Cappa, of the Seventh regiment, national guards of the state of New York, died here at 7 o'clock this morning.

Maj. Frost Dead.

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 6.—Maj. P. Frost, financial editor of the Boston Globe and one of the most widely known journalists of New England, died suddenly at about 3:30 o'clock this morning of heart failure.

Cotton Mill Burned.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Cunliffe's cotton mill at Accrington, Lancashire, was destroyed by fire today.

Additional dispatches on pages 2, 3 and 5.

President Board of Public Works.

Referred to committee on streets, alleys and bridges.

To the President and Common Council of the City of Duluth:

Gentlemen:
At a meeting of the board of public works held Jan. 2, 1893, the acting city engineer submitted a final estimate of work done on the contract of the Duluth Industrial Construction and Improvement company for the construction of a sewer in Fifth street from First to Second avenue west, including culvert, amounting to a sum of eight hundred and sixty-eight $340 dollars. The work was accepted and the final estimate approved and ordered sent to the common council.

Respectfully submitted,
HENRY TREMPER,
President Board of Public Works.

Referred to committee on streets, alleys and bridges.

Joint Committee Fire Department and Public Offices and Officers.

To the Honorable the Common Council of the City of Duluth:

Gentlemen:
Your committee on fire department and public offices and officers, to whom was referred the petition of Arthur Twa die, in relation to his suspension by the board of fire commissioners as fireman at engine house No. 2, would respectfully report that they have considered the matter and from the testimony taken before them they find, that on the evening of Nov. 15, 1892, from 6 o'clock p. m. until 1 o'clock a. m. of the next morning, by the rules of the fire department, Twa die had the right of duty; that about 1:30 o'clock p. m. as Twa die was returning to the engine house he met policeman Lyonn on Michigan street near Garfield, who was then on duty; that Lyonn invited Twa die to take a drink with him; that they went to Peterson's saloon, and had a drink, for which Lyonn paid; that soon after coming out of the saloon Twa die and Lyonn met Policeman Wade; that Twa die and Wade had some dispute, and Lyonn arrested Twa die, and he and Wade took Twa die to the lockup; and while Wade was opening the door Twa die broke away from Lyonn, ran down the alley and escaped; that Lyonn followed him, and about fifty feet from the lockup fell on his face and badly bruised and hurt himself; that from the testimony of Policeman Wade and Freeman Leonard it appeared that Twa die was entirely sober, and had no motive for which he was liable for arrest; that Lyonn was at the time intoxicated, and not in a fit condition to know what he was doing, or so as to give an intelligent account of what happened; that the charge made by Lyonn that Twa die struck him when Twa die escaped, is not true; that, on the morning of the 16th Lyonn and Twa die met and it was mutually agreed between them, that they let the matter drop; that when Twa die was arrested upon the complaint of Lyonn, after the same, upon the advice of Alderman Kennedy and Assistant Chief Little, of the fire department, with the understanding that no further action would be taken against him, Twa die paid penalty to the charge made in the complaint, with the further desire upon his part to shield Policeman Lyonn; that the charge of conspiracy made by Twa die in his petition is not sustained.

From the evidence taken before your committee they are satisfied that said Twa die was not guilty of the charge made against him, or of any charges made by Policeman Lyonn; and that his only mistake was in pleading guilty to the charge made in the complaint, and that in a court, which he did under the circumstances hereinbefore stated; and your committee believe that if all the facts as developed before them had been before the board of fire commissioners, said Twa die would not have been suspended by said commissioners.

Your committee would therefore recommend that said board of fire commissioners rescind their action in suspending said Twa die, and that said board reimburse said Twa die with full pay.

The testimony taken before your committee will be extended by the stenographer taking same, and filed with the clerk as soon as the same is extended.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

THE RACE IS EXTINGUISHED

A Wonderful Exhibit To Be Made at the World's Fair of a Race That's Gone.

In Yucatan a Powerful Race That Has Entirely Disappeared Once Had Great Splendid Cities.

Relics and Facsimiles of Their Architectural Remains Are To Be Shown at Chicago.

Of all the departments at the Columbian exposition few if any will be more interesting to scholars than that of ethnology, and to Americans in particular the Yucatan and Central American exhibits will present many surprises. Scholars have thought it a reproach to the United States that its government and people have done so much in the way of exploring and searching for remains of the ancient civilization, but there are almost insupportable difficulties in the nature of the country.

Hon. Edward H. Thompson, United States consul at Merida, after eight years' residence in Yucatan, has been detailed to arrange that country's exhibit at Chicago, the first time in twenty years that a consul has obtained leave of absence for such a purpose. He is a scientist of no mean order, has studied Mexican antiquities thoroughly and devoted most of his time while in Yucatan to the study of its ancient life. Much of what he has obtained will be on exhibition at Chicago, and in two or three years he will publish the results of his researches.

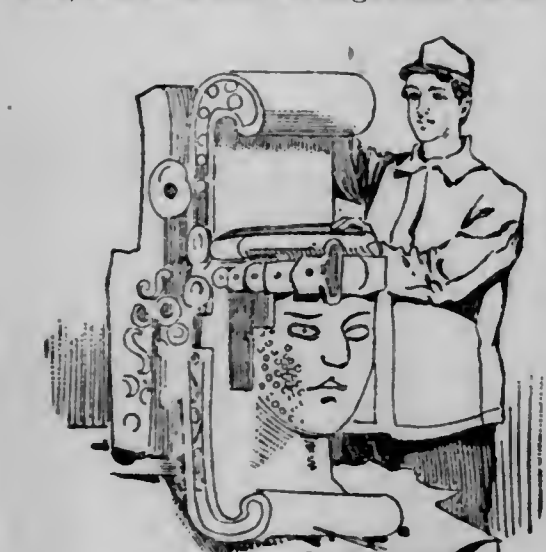

THE HEAD OF A SHIPMENT. For some months he has been having paper mache models constructed of the ancient sculptures, and thirty huge cases of these models have arrived at Chicago.

The ruins of Uxmal will be reproduced on an extensive scale, and among them will be a perfect facsimile of the temple and figure of the god Kukulcan, or the great feathered serpent. The body of the serpent is wrought in the stonework all around the building, and this will be represented entire. The original materials were principally marble and coarse varieties of limestone, and the work shows that the ancient Yucatecos possessed great skill in mechanical workmanship, though their ideas of art were but poorly developed.

The great forest or jungle covering the supposed kingdom of the ancient Mayas is about the size and shape of Ohio and covers portions of Yucatan, Guatemala and adjacent Mexican states. There once lived in that area from five to ten million people, according to Captain Del Rio, who explored part of it late in the last century, and Captain Dupuis, Brazilian explorer, and A. Le Plongeon and other recent explorers. The ruins of their cities are now spoken of as "they are in fact buried only in dense masses of tropical growth, of which the thorny shrubs and parasitic vines present the greatest obstacles.

In one instance it required a fortnight for a strong force of Indians employed by the explorers to cut their way along a street three miles in length, and after the vegetation is thus cut down the air is for some time almost poisonous. It is at all times, says Mr. Thompson, "very unhealthy work to penetrate those jungles, and many of the Maya Indians who assisted me died. Once indeed I came very near dying myself. These Indians are a very happy and contented race. They do not like work any better than the average American, but I found them very useful in my researches."

One of the finest reproductions by Mr. Thompson will be that of an arched gate of the ancient palace at Labna. There are known to be remains of at least nine great cities in what is called Ancient Mayan, Palenque, in the Mexican state of Chiapas, extends fifteen miles along the river Chama, and there fourteen large edifices stand.

FROM AN ANCIENT TEMPLE. Some of the ruins of the ancient Mayas have been "chopped out of the jungle," so to speak. Of these the one called the Palace has a raised foundation 40 feet high, 310 feet long and 200 feet wide, while the building on it is 288 feet long, 180 wide and 25 high, with fourteen doorways on each side and eleven at each end.

Copan is three miles long and contains stone buildings sixty feet high, richly carved with arabesque designs. Quirigua, on the River Motagua, is simply a vast array of broken columns and monoliths, with no buildings standing. Mitla, in the Mexican state of Oajaca, is a similar ruin, but was evidently a splendid city. There is no certain way of determining the age of these ruins, for the tropical forest affords no guide, as do the old trees on the mountains in the Ohio valley. Certain it is that a great race once inhabited that region and cultivated those fertile plains, but passed away and left no literature that we can read. Mr. Thompson, however, like all who have explored and studied the country, is an enthusiast on the subject and believes that the secret of the lost race will soon be revealed.

FEMININE FANCIES.

Mrs. Bradley Martin, of New York, is worth $100,000.

One of the ornaments of Mrs. George Gould's drawing room is a Japanese crystal which cost $7,000.

Mrs. Elliott F. Shepard's pet charity is the Margaret Louise home, New York, which she has built in connection with the Christian association.

During the reign of cholera in Tabriz, Persia, Dr. Mary Bradford, an American Presbyterian missionary, was the only physician in the city.

The wife of Francis Murphy, the temperance lecturer, is an enthusiast in her husband's work and is almost constantly with him on his travels.

Mrs. Sarah Kiple, a grandaunt of Edwin A. Abbey, the well known artist, lives at Scranton. She is ninety-nine years old and has smoked since she was twenty.

It is said of Miss Carnot, wife of the French president, that she fills the post of private secretary, and during his absence at any time can transact ordinary affairs with a perfect knowledge of business routine.

Olga Sanford, the granddaughter of the late Governor Hoffman, of New York, is his only living descendant of the third generation, and will ultimately inherit his large fortune. She is now but seven years of age.

Mrs. Wickens, of Sabetha, Kan., is the newly elected president of the National Woman's Relief corps. She has served two years as president of the Kansas department and filled other important official positions.

Mrs. Draper, widow of Professor Henry Draper, the astronomer, regularly pursues the scientific work that her husband made a specialty—the photographing of stellar spectra and the preparation of a descriptive catalogue of the explorations.

A pair of silk stockings has been knit for Baby Ruth, Cleveland, by a seventy-seven year old, Mrs. Abigail W. Kline, of Hioose Falls, and so pleasantly did the wife of the president elect acknowledge them that she is to have a pair also.

Mrs. Hicks-Lord is a striking woman in appearance. She has glossy black hair, bright blue eyes and a good complexion. Her dresses are seldom anything but black velvet, and against this effective background blaze her countless diamonds.

Mme. Ribot, wife of the French statesman, was born a Miss Burch, of Chicago. Her father was a millionaire of that city in the days when American millionaires were far scarcer than they are at present. He resided with his daughter in Paris for a number of years prior to his death.

THE JEWEL CASKET.

A winged foot serves as a hatching.

Two ten cent pieces joined together make a tie clasp.

The preference in silver buttons is for the scroll edge.

Black silk fobs with gold bar and buckles are preferred.

Tandem whips are of English holly and mounted in silver.

Gold hose supporters are among the luxuries provided for Christmas.

Leather umbrellas strap with silver buckles have just been introduced.

The old fashioned gold fob is modestly coming to the front in smaller sizes.

Chamois penwipers with a silver knob disclose beneath the knob a silver receptacle.

Silver embossed cases are for twine, millage, letters and various desk furnishing articles.

Hunting gages are now in order, although there are no gages to open. The newest is of buckhorn, with a handle of silver.

A new barometer is a leather strap on which the barometer is fastened, while long hangs a silver strap with silver buckles.

An alcohol lamp for lighting cigars is the man in the moon, his face irradiated by his tongue of flame. Another ingenious design is an adjustable lamp covered with signal flags, meaning "light your fires,"—Jewellers' Circular.

CROWN AND SCEPTER.

The shah of Persia will not remain at a table on which is either lobster or salmon.

Grand Duke Vladimir is a giant in stature, fond of hunting, but also devoted to society.

Princess Josephine of Flourens is fair haired, blue eyed and always happy, and is the greatest heiress in all Europe.

The Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria has been on a tour around the world, which will include a visit to the Chicago exposition.

The monument to Alexander II in the Kremlin is almost complete. It is a front of 100 feet. The interior will contain an immense bronze statue of the emperor in coronation dress, the right hand extended in blessing.

The action of Turkey is one of the most enthusiastic chess players in Europe. He will play the game for hours without intermission and will not allow any matter of state to interfere with the problem in which at the time he is engaged.

The most beautiful unmarried young princess in all Europe is the youngest daughter of the king of the Belgians, the Princess Clementina. She is just twenty-two years of age, very tall, has beautiful dark hair and eyes and carries herself like a queen.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

The number of deaths in the entire world in a century is estimated to be 4,500,000,000.

Sweden, it is claimed, has a larger area of woodland than any other country in Europe.

Tourists in Japan find the native guides as avocaries as they are in the more traveled parts of Europe.

Gold is so very precious that a piece of it drawn into wire one-tenth of an inch in diameter will sustain a weight of 500 pounds without breaking.

The old superstition about the horseshoe insists that the shoe must be found and when found hung up with the points up to keep the luck from running out.

The walls of the old Chateau d'If, in the harbor of Marseilles, made famous by Alexandre Dumas in his "Monte Cristo," are covered with autographs of visitors.

There is a shepherd in Monor, Hungary, who is 106 years old and still attends to his flock. His wife, who is the third partner of his joys and sorrows, is ninety-one.

THE UNIONS AND THE FAIR.

Protest of Organized Labor Against an Exhibition of the Fair.

The board of control of the Chicago World's fair has awarded the highest printing contract to the firm of W. G. Conkey & Co., and when the board found a big disturbance confronting them, for that is not a union firm, and so organized labor is not on the warpath. There is talk of a general strike among the workmen on the grounds and threatening of a boycott.

THOMAS MITCHELL. N. H. MADDEN.

The following joint committees waited on the board of control to demand the revocation of the contract.

Representing the Trade and Labor Assembly—Thomas Mitchell, president; Walter M. Groves, L. T. O'Brien, George Grimes, W. C. Pomeroy and Jan. S. Monahan.

Representing the Typographical Union—John Conkey & Co., president; Frank A. Kidd, M. H. Madden, W. C. Roberts and H. C. Askew.

It was soon made plain to them that the contract could not now be revoked, and their next demand was that Mr. Conkey should withdraw his printing establishment, and that charges were made that the contract was let without competition, and that there are "millions in it." It does not look so, for Conkey & Co. pay heavily for the privilege of printing the catalogues. The contract provides that the printer shall pay the exposition $100,000 in cash before May 1, shall deposit a certified check for $10,000 and bond for $250,000 that the work will be done, shall pay 10 per cent of all receipts to the exposition until the sales reach $200,000, after which the exposition is to receive 50 per cent of the gross receipts. The company of course will make its money out of the advertising done in the catalogues.

Several prominent officials of labor or printers are now, or were recently, on the grounds, so as to be on hand in case of trouble. The discontented workmen are opposing Sunday opening until the grounds are surveyed, and so the Chicago congressmen are also in trouble.

SHE'S AN EARNEST WORKER.

A Salvation Army lass who is intelligent and enthusiastic.

Edith Marshall is a charming English lady not yet twenty-five years old, but a veteran in Salvation Army ranks. She has labored among the poorest and most turbulent in France and Switzerland, and here in Washington were so interesting and delivered lectures, rescuing the fallen—in a word, saving the lost—as to give it their prayers, influence and money.

An interesting feature of an auxiliary member's work is to spread the truth about the Salvation Army and disprove current slanders. To enter this branch one must pay at least $100 a year, and is supplied yearly with a ticket of official recognition from headquarters. As the work of "slumming" or working among the lower classes of humanity becomes more popular the membership of the league increases, and the work done in that direction in past years has been more than doubled during the present year.

Vegetarianism and Animal Food.

The concentrated stimulus of rich soups, business and rare food is necessary to the brain worker of the cities, and in a certain degree to all residents in cities, who must necessarily suffer more from the waste of nerve and brain force, and who cannot take active exercise enough to obtain nourishment from vegetable or cereal food. The brain worker, therefore, needs a larger quantity of food than the sedentary one. The nervous animals, which are ever on the alert, are those which subsist on animal food. The first of these is the human being of the world, like the ox and horse, are grain eaters and vegetarians. The food which is wholesome for the individual must be largely upon his occupation, upon the climate he lives in, and somewhat upon his personal temperament. It is an absurd, according to the New York Tribune, to preach the doctrine of vegetarianism or of animal food to all the world, regardless of surroundings, as it would be to insist that the tiger should live on hay or the ox on fresh meat.

The Transatlantic Route.

The Transatlantic route between the Argentine Republic and Chili is now so far available that arrangements have been completed by the Royal Mail Steam Packet company for regular through traffic.

The route has been open for some time and has been used a great deal, but there has been more or less trouble attending it, owing to lack of a regular service of mules or carriages between the termini of the Argentine and the Chilean sections of the Transatlantic railway, and each party of travelers was compelled to make its own arrangements for transportation. In future, however, there will be regular communication.

Loggings During Fair Time.

Chicago is divided into districts, and the city is to get the average rate of loggings accommodations in each district. Persons who will have rooms to let are asked to place them with the official bureau. The landlord makes a contract with the bureau officials, who collect the rent and hold the exposition responsible for an accounting to the landlord. A nominal sum is charged for scheduling and listing rooms. By this means the bureau expects to have many rooms for strangers, thus saving any trouble whatever either to landlord or visitor.

The Mayor of the commune of Morten, France, enjoys the unique distinction of expending largely upon the length of time he is mayor of only twelve inhabitants, and the yearly taxes, all told, amount to less than sixty shillings.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of twenty dollars interest, which became due on the first day of October, 1892, upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Mary L. Abel (widow), mortgagee, to the Mechanics Loan and Trust Company, mortgagee, bearing date the fifteenth day of October, 1890, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the sixteenth day of October, 1892, at 11:20 a. m., in book 37 of mortgages, on page 491.

And whereas the said Mechanics Loan and Trust Company, mortgagee, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice under the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and the power of sale therein contained, and as there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of twenty-one hundred and thirty and 25/100 dollars, including thirty dollars necessarily paid for insurance; and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lot thirteen (13), block four (4), London addition to Duluth, according to the plat thereof on file or of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis county at the front door of the court house in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the seventh day of February, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day at public vendition to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest and the taxes and insurance, if any, on said premises, and seventy-five dollars attorney's fees in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated December 17th, A. D. 1892.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN., Jan. 6.—Although it is still cold here, and slight changes have taken place during the past twenty-four hours, it has not been the case in other parts of the country. There has been a rise of from 20° to 30° over North Dakota and Montana, from 10° to 15° over Western Minnesota, and a fall of from 10° to 25° over the Ohio and lower Mississippi valleys. The coldest place in the country is Fort Arthur, 10° below zero, other temperatures at zero and below are La Crosse 0°, Duluth 4°, St. Paul 4°, St. Louis 0°, Duluth 4°, St. Paul 4°, St. Louis 0°, Duluth 4°, St. Paul 4°, St. Louis 0°.

There has been but little precipitation during the past twenty-four hours, and that in scattered places; light rain is now falling over Montana, North Dakota and the country to the north of that section, where a storm of as yet slight energy is now central moving slowly east.

The highest temperature here yesterday was the same as the day before, 32°, the lowest last night was 4° below zero. The wind attained a velocity of twenty-eight miles from the north-west at 11:30 p. m., after blowing at the rate of twenty miles for the preceding two hours.

DULUTH, Jan. 6.—Generally fair, probably followed by snow; slightly warmer; southwest shifting to winds.

R. H. BRONSON,
 Local Forecast Official.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—For Wisconsin: Increasing cloudiness and probable rain or snow in western portion Saturday; warmer Saturday morning and evening; southeasterly winds.

For Minnesota: Increasing cloudiness with snow warmer in eastern portion Saturday morning; colder in western portion Saturday evening; winds shifting to westerly.

The Iron Ore Tax.

The protest made by the Herald yesterday against the proposed increase of the state tax on the iron ore mined in this state is generally endorsed by the people of St. Louis county. Some people, however, appear to misunderstand the character of the vicious measure introduced by Senator Sanborn. It is not his idea to increase the tax merely by legislative enactment, in which event it would be open to change at any future session of the legislature, but he goes even further and essays to engrave it upon the constitution. The first section of his bill, which is senate file No. 10, reads as follows:

The following amendment to section three (3) of article nine (9) of the constitution of the state of Minnesota is hereby proposed to the people of said state for approval or rejection, that is to say, to add at the end of said section the following words: "There shall be levied and collected annually a tax of three (3) per cent upon the gross earnings in this state of all sleeping, parlor and drawing room car companies or owners, whose cars run into this state, and of all telegraph and telephone companies, or owners, whose lines are in or extend into this state, and of all express companies, or owners, doing business in this state; and there shall be levied and collected annually a tax of—per cent upon all gross receipts of the insurance companies, whether foreign or domestic, doing business in this state, in lieu of all other license fees and taxes whatsoever; and there shall be levied and collected annually a tax upon the products of all mines in this state a specific tax of one dollar per ton on all copper ore mined in this state, and of one dollar per ton UPON ALL IRON ORE MINED IN THIS STATE, and the same shall be in lieu of all other taxes upon mining property. The legislature shall have power to pass all necessary laws for collecting the taxes in this section provided.

The second section provides that this constitutional amendment shall be submitted to the popular vote at the general election in 1894, and if a majority of votes shall be in favor of it, the governor shall proclaim the amendment to be part of the state constitution. The other sections provide the form of ballot.

The measure is vicious in all respects, and is a direct stab at the mining industry in the Duluth district. As The Herald pointed out yesterday, it would seriously cripple the companies that are now endeavoring to develop the Mesaba range and would effectually stop the investment of Eastern capital in this great range. It would likewise crush for many years all hope that Duluth now entertains of becoming an iron and steel manufacturing point. This would result disastrously to the entire state, because the building up of a large iron and steel industry would certainly result in great advantages and benefits to the other sections of Minnesota. All these facts should be collated in the form of a petition and presented to the legislature accompanied by the signature of every man in this district. The presentation of the facts would assuredly kill the attempt of Senator Sanborn to stab Duluth.

Has Changed Its Tune.

The Superior Leader claimed a few days ago that The Herald misquoted Lon Merritt, when it made him say that work would begin shortly on the new ore dock at Oneco. It likewise denied The Herald's statement that Erie pier had been purchased by the Missabe road for ore dock purposes. The Leader was then trying to persuade itself that its dream of the ore docks of the Missabe road being located in Superior would be realized, and it brazenly asserted that the matter of location was not settled and Superior stood as good a chance as Duluth of getting the docks. It forgot, that the road is the Duluth, Missabe & Northern, and that it is controlled by Duluth men. It likewise overlooked Mr. Merritt's further statement to The Herald: "You can say that we have got all the money we need for the carrying on of our docks, railroad extensions and development of mines and the control and management of every dollar's worth of present and future property remains where it is now, in Duluth."

In view of the Leader's wild claims, it is consequently somewhat amusing to see the way it eats crow this morning. It says: "Yesterday the contract was let to John C. Palmer & Son for driving 8,000 piles for the Duluth, Missabe & Northern dock and terminal at West Duluth. The old Erie pier on the line between Oneco and West Duluth has been purchased and the work of driving piles will begin at once."

Thus each of The Herald's statements, which the Leader vehemently denied a few days ago, are now confirmed by it. There is one consoling thought left for the Superior paper, however, but it rests on a very thin foundation. This is a claim that a great amount of dredging will be necessary before vessels can reach the new docks. The Leader need not trouble itself about that matter. Arrangements have been made for all necessary dredging.

The Anti-Option Bill.

A resolution introduced in the senate by Senator Day, in favor of the Washburn anti-option bill, went over until Monday, on notice of debate by Senator Daugherty, of Duluth. From this action it is presumed that Mr. Daugherty is opposed to the anti-option bill, although he has heretofore given no indication to his constituents of such being his attitude towards the measure.

It might be in order now for Senator Daugherty to give his reasons for opposing the anti-option bill, to state the grounds upon which he bases his antipathy to the measure and why he considers it vicious or inadvisable. When Senator Day's resolution is taken up again on Monday, it is to be hoped that Senator Daugherty, if he votes against the resolution, will not fail to explain his vote. Certainly the people of this senatorial district have a right to expect that much. The anti-option bill has received the unanimous endorsement of the Republicans assembled in state convention, and there is no doubt whatever that a very large majority of the people of Minnesota are in favor of its passage.

The bill in its present shape will not interfere with any legitimate dealing in wheat. It simply puts an end to the gambling in options, which forms fully 95 per cent of the trading on the Chicago board of trade. The passage of this measure would make it no longer possible for a man to sell wheat for future delivery, when he did not own a bushel of wheat and did not intend to purchase any or deliver any to the man who bought from him.

The recent failure of E. S. Corser, the Minneapolis real estate man, as a direct result of this nefarious grain gambling, is fresh in the minds of all. As Senator Washburn truthfully remarked a few days after Mr. Corser's failure, it is an object lesson to those who believe option dealing is legitimate business. Mr. Corser enjoyed the confidence of the community and had extensive credit. He utilized his credit, and feeling sure that wheat was going up, he bought 1,600,000 bushels of wheat on the margin plan. The man who sold Mr. Corser these 1,600,000 bushels of wheat didn't own a peck. The transaction, like all the margin operations, was nothing but a gamble. Mr. Corser lost. Now, if the anti-option bill had been law, this transaction could never have taken place, for no man would be allowed to sell what he did not possess. It is this gigantic gambling process, going on all over the country, that makes the price of wheat so unstable and fluctuating.

The anti-option bill excepts the farmer from some of its provisions, by enabling him to sell his crop while it is growing at the then market price. But when the laws permit a man to sell 5,000,000 bushels of wheat, as Pardridge, of Chicago, did the other day, when he didn't own a peck, and Clews lowers the price 5 cents a bushel, it is time for a reform. At present, as Senator Washburn said, these fellows make the price. They make or break the ordinary speculator, and they invariably break him before they get through with him. The bankers who hold Mr. Corser's paper probably realize this. Some day we may have a similar case in Duluth, unless the anti-option bill passes congress as now seems probable, and then some interested people here may change their views suddenly.

Senator Leavitt has introduced in the senate a bill for the submission of a constitutional amendment regarding the taxation of sleeping car, telegraph, telephone and insurance companies, based on their gross earnings in the state. The senator will keep a sharp watch this session to see that the word "railroad" is not again surreptitiously inserted in the measure.

The idea of exhibiting a profile map of Duluth at the World's fair is generally commended. It would be a splendid advertisement for this city, because it would be the leading popular feature of the Minnesota exhibit. All the other classes of exhibits would fail to attract as much attention as the profile map, which is a decided novelty.

Some person has started a story that Mr. Cleveland wants to run again for president in 1896. The probability is that the president-elect has never thought of such a thing. Certainly he would make a fatal mistake. The sentiment of the country is unalterably opposed to third terms.

As the date for the deep waterway convention at Washington draws near, the indications of a large attendance are increasing.

The North Dakota senatorial fight grows warmer. Is the trail of the Louisiana lottery serpent visible anywhere?

AMUSEMENTS.

Alexander Salvini.

Alexander Salvini, the foremost romantic actor on the stage will appear at the Temple this evening in "Don Cesar de Buren." Although Italian by birth he is an American actor by training. It was in America that he first learned the language and first studied the drama. In taking up the romantic drama as a stepping stone to higher fame he did wisely. This class of play is more or less new to the present generation, for during its recollection there have been no D'Artagnans or Don Caesars worthy the name.

To judge from the comment of the representative critics, the fiery abandon, the reckless daring and the nobility of these old time heroes must be more or less a part of Salvini's personal character. To those who have seen Salvini off the stage say that he looks the romantic hero to the life and that one's imagination involuntarily replaces his overcoat for the mantle, and his cane for the rapier of the court gallant. Salvini is nothing if not earnest. The touches of pathos and generous sentiment which ever and anon show in the characters of D'Artagnan and Don Cesar are not fail to arouse in Salvini's interpretation a responding throb in front of the footlights. Tomorrow night he produces "The Three Guardsmen."

"Forty Thieves." Sam T. Jacks "Forty Thieves" company will be the attraction at the Temple Monday evening. This is a burlesque company which has been a great favorite in Chicago and has been highly spoken of. The cast includes a large number of well known burlesque people.

LIGHT AND AIRY.

Success at Last. A gray haired, broken down old man, with sunken eyes and cheek, climbed up the steps one winter's day, with humble mien and meek. He rang the bell, and a woman came And stood in the open door, And a smile spread over his wrinkled face As he saw his wife once more. And the old glad light shone in his eyes, And his husky voice grew clear, As he said, "It almost knocked me out, But I matched that ribbon, dear." —Clothier and Furnisher.

Papa's Consent. She—Isn't it lovely? Papa consents. He—Does he, really? She—Yes, he wanted to know who you were, and I told him you were tape clerk at Scripps & Co.'s, and he seemed much pleased. He—I am delighted. She—Yes, and he said we could be married just as soon as you were taken into the firm.—New York Weekly.

No Doubt About the Ardent. "Dear Alice," said the youth to the lass as he tried "To explain how his heart did regard her, 'For you in my breast dwell a passion as able, All ray being is fired with ardor.' Then came through a crack in the anteroom door. In a regular Forestville fellow—Emphasized by a ponderous tread on the floor—'If you're not, my soon will be, young fellow.' —Boston Courier.

Disgraced Forever.

Weggy—That how did you said Stone must be expelled from our set. Algy—Oh, Weggy, old chap, what has he done? Weggy—Something terrible. He pwe paved old clay. Algy—I tremble. Quick, what is it? Weggy—The wetch says he actually knows the amount of his tailor's bill.—Clothier and Furnisher.

How They Pronounce It.

Peto said as he lay by the river side. (Maine) And near him sat his promised bride. (Maine) They were there proud and satisfied (Maine) To see like that until they died. (Maine) But as they sat upon that log (Maine) Up sneaked a farmer's setter dog. (Maine) And so his teeth in Peter's heels— (Maine) They were no more by the river side. (Maine) —Boston Globe.

Making Requisition.

Mrs. Billus—John, will you please mail this letter I've written to Aunt Caroline? Mr. Billus—Certainly. But you didn't need to put two stamps on it, Maria. It's under the regulation weight. Mrs. Billus—I know it, but the last one I wrote her was overweight, and I put only one stamp on it. I may be careless sometimes, John Billus, but I'm honest.—Chicago Tribune.

The Trouble.

"Why is it," said the beaver hat As he by the desk it leaned, "That every time I pass you by You seem to be so flustered?" "I don't know," said the tailor bill, With voice and mien dejected, "But somehow, though I try, I can Not seem to get collected." —Clothier and Furnisher.

The Trouble.

Little Nellie had been quiet for a good while. "What's the matter?" asked her mother "Is 'unhappy." "Unhappy?" "Yes'm." "Why?" "I 'taint' fan' of any question to ask." —Washington Star.

Trustworthy in a Way.

I have a small, pendulous clock. A cuckoo clock from Germany. It chimes where it should "tick, tick," Its insides sized and danced. But I rely on it, you see, For I am sure that when it says "It's ten" the time must be Some other time than ten. —Chicago News-Record.

A Valuable Lesson.

Aspiring Author (with big manuscript)—The editor is not in, sir? Well, I'll wait for him. Are you regularly employed here? Office Boy (great magazine)—Yep. Aspiring Author—A good beginning. When you grow up you'll know enough to be an author, won't you? Office Boy—I'll know enough not to be. —Good News.

Perseverance.

The constant drip of water Wears away the hardest stone; The constant gnaw of Toxer Masterates the toughest bone; The constant cooling liver Carries off the blushing maid, And the constant advertiser Is the one who gets the trade. —Wahoo Wasp.

Time's Changes.

Mrs. Bingo—There was a time, my dear, when you wouldn't have thought of going to the theater with not without wearing a dress suit. Bingo—True, my own, but you were a good deal better looking then than you are now.—Clothier and Furnisher.

A Girl I Know.

ENTITLED TO THREE

Judge Stearns Discovers That the Eleventh District Should Have Another Judge Under the Law.

Act of 1885 Contained 'no' Proviso That a Successor to Judge Mills Should Not Be Elected.

Question of Residence Might Be Raised But, it is Believed, Would Not Hold.

A careful perusal of existing laws would seem to reveal that this district is entitled to three judges at once without any additional legislation on the subject, at least that is the opinion advanced by Judge Stearns and coincided in by a number of leading members of the bar.

While in conference with Judge Mills a short time ago that jurist said to Judge Stearns, "Why don't you elect my successor which would give you the three judges needed?" Then for the first time Judge Stearns' attention was called to the fact that an important change had been made in an original act which he had drawn, chapter 149, general laws of 1885, which originally provided that no successor should be elected to Judge Mills who was to perform the duties of the newly created Fourteenth district to the end of his term.

About the time that this act was introduced C. B. Sleeper of Brainerd thought a seat on the bench would add to his dignity and discovered that a Fifteenth district was needed and the bill drawn by Judge Stearns was changed to include and create the Fourteenth and Fifteenth districts by the same legislation, and the bill as altered left out the proviso that no successor should be appointed to fill Judge Mills' seat in this district, so there is a vacancy waiting to be filled in the proper manner.

Judge Stearns says that the only legislation which could be by any means construed as interfering with the idea that we are entitled by law to another judge is the act, chap. 151, G. L. of 1889, under which Judge Ensign was appointed, but there seems to be nothing in that act that interferes with any other act.

The question of residence might be raised, and while the law says the judge must reside west of a certain line, the constitution says the judge must reside in the district, and the constitution is the supreme power.

THAT BOODLE MONEY.

Kennedy and Dingwall Got $200 Each, the Women's Home Getting the Rest.

In accordance with Mayor d'Auremont's advertisement that the $600 boodle money would be disposed of after January 1, two aldermen, Messrs Dingwall and Kennedy, are $200 richer. Alderman Thomas directed that his be turned over to the Women's home and this was done.

WHEAT VERY DULL TODAY.

The feeling was stronger and the close was firm and higher.

The wheat market opened dull and the morning and ruled very dull during the morning with slowly advancing tendencies. Cash opened lower than yesterday's close and May and the close, while still, was firm at 10c higher than yesterday's following was the closing prices:

RAILROADS AND GRAIN

Commissioners Recommend the Passage of a Law to Regulate All Elevators at Terminal Points.

A Measure to Compel Railroads to Provide Sidetracks and Switches That Are Needed.

The Standing Committees of the House and Senate To Be Named on Monday Afternoon.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 6.—A supplementary report to the fourth biennial report of the railroad and warehouse commissioners has been published containing suggestions as to amendments and revision of the railroad and warehouse laws and two proposed bills. The commission first calls attention to the necessity of certain changes in the Minnesota laws on account of the adverse decisions of the courts, and recommends amendments in the language of existing laws for the purpose and with the view of bringing the state law into greater harmony with the interstate commerce act if the act of 1887 is to remain on the statute book.

Treating of the defects in the system under which the department is operated the commission has the following to say: "It is manifest that a system of control, which is characterized by so much delay, before a remedy for evils complained of can be reached, which requires so much time, labor and expense, and which sends a claimant to commission to court and from court to court for the relief which he demands, and to which he is often justly entitled at once, defeats itself and disappoints the expectations which the law encourages and excites."

The commission further states that so far as the law undertakes to regulate and control elevators and warehouses at the terminal points of St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth, it has by the action of owners and managers become in some respects inoperative. This is due to the fact that there are only two public elevators at these central points, both located in Minneapolis. The others have either declined to apply for a license under the law, or have surrendered licenses, and are now doing business as private houses.

The commission has carefully considered what are its duties and responsibilities under the law in respect to this question, and has conferred with the attorney general with reference to the enforcement of the law and the method of enforcement. The commissioners have been advised that they may not hope to succeed in the courts, and they believe some change must be made in the law. In the second biennial report to the legislature, made in 1889, will be found the draft of a law for the regulation of grain and warehouses, both in respect to the weighing and handling of grain at St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth, and defining the duties of the railroad and warehouse commission in relation thereto."

The attention of the legislature is again called to this proposed law, and the hope is expressed that it may be taken up and passed at an early date.

The commission further reports that with reference to the establishment of grain houses in the country, the demand for sites on the right-of-way of railroad companies seems to be increasing. In some few instances the demand for permission has been secured, but for the most part the companies refuse their consent. In the absence of any law on the subject, the commission is unable to offer any relief. The commission reiterates its position on the free shipment of grain as laid down in its report for 1889. On this question the commission says:

To the enforcement of this right without abridgment, and regardless of persons, place or time, the commission will give its best attention and, when necessary, will invoke all the aid and power and assistance which the law puts at its disposal.

Acting upon suggestions above referred to, the commission has drafted two laws for the consideration of the legislature.

First—An act to provide for the construction of side tracks and switches upon the right-of-way of railroad companies to elevators, warehouses, mills and manufacturing located on lands adjacent to the right-of-way of any railroad company in this state.

If this bill becomes a law it is not proposed to place the grain houses so located under the supervision or control of the commission.

Second—An act to regulate the warehousing and handling of grain in all elevators and grain warehouses located on the right-of-way of any railroad company in this state other than those in the cities of St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth.

This act would bring all grain houses located on the right-of-way under the control and supervision of the commission.

ADJOURNED UNTIL MONDAY.

Then the Standing Committees of House and Senate Will Be Named.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 6.—Both branches of the legislature have adjourned until Monday afternoon, when it is expected the speaker of the house and the president of the senate will be ready to announce the standing committees. The president of the senate will name the committees and will be re-elected with all the authority that was taken from him two years ago by the "unholy alliance."

The committee on special legislation, not needed under the late constitutional amendment, will be dispensed with and its place will be taken by a committee on municipal corporations, that will handle the matter of charter legislation. Senator Morse yesterday introduced a joint resolution providing that the amount of the tax levy be ascertained as soon as possible and that a bill providing for it be introduced not later than March 1, in order that it may be intelligently and thoroughly discussed. The resolution was passed over by agreement.

Senator LaDue offered a resolution looking to the abolishing of capital punishment and the substitution for it of life imprisonment. Notice of debate was given.

Senator Leavett introduced a resolution that the judicial committee, when appointed, inquire into the matter of why there have been no prosecutions and convictions under the law prohibiting the sale of counterfeit dairy products. The resolution was adopted.

Senator Svenson, of Jackson county, introduced a resolution looking to an investigation of methods of railways in shipping and handling of grain. After the reading it went over under the regular order. The resolution reads:

"That a committee of five be appointed by the president of the senate to inquire into the shipping and handling of grain in this state with the object in view of bringing to the notice of the railroad companies the complaint of shippers of grain and at the same time give the companies an opportunity to show the shippers of grain and the people if they choose to do so that they are at present doing all that is reasonable to handle expeditiously and with all reasonable care the grain entrusted to them for shipment, and whether their charges are reasonable according to the risk that attaches to them as common carriers, charging as they now do, on the weight of the grain and not on the value, as they usually do on other kinds of freight; that the committee is empowered to expend money for the calling of witnesses, to employ a clerk if necessary in the opinion of the committee; that the committee shall report to the senate its findings, together with such recommendations as they may think wise, reasonable and just to both shippers and common carriers."

In the house Mr. Wacek, of La Sueur, introduced a bill to amend sec. 8, chap. 247, general laws, relating to the sale of adulterated food products, and relating to the dairy commission. It contemplates a reduction in the appropriation for the commission from $21,000 to $7,000. The commissioner's salary will be cut from $1,800 to $1,200, and the secretary from $1,200 to $1,000 per year; the chemists and assistants work would be done by the chemist and assistant at the experiment station.

N. F. No. 5, by Mr. Walsh, provided for the regulation of primaries and caucuses, and the publication of a call in a newspaper where there is one, and by posting where there is none. It was a lengthy document and its object was to extend the provisions of the Australian ballot law to the primaries.

H. F. No. 6, by Mr. Winston, of Hennepin, is the first free text book bill of the session. It provides that the school authorities of each district be directed to select books and text books and supply them to the pupils. The school boards of trustees of each district shall select the books to be used in their districts. No contract for books or supplies shall be made for less than five years, and during that time the text books shall not be changed. The publisher or dealer shall furnish a book of not less than $200 nor more than $10,000 for the fulfillment of the provisions. This bond is to be filed with the state superintendent and the dealer is a resident of the district making the purchase, in which case it will be filed with the secretary of the board of education or trustees. The attorney-general is to direct the form of the bond. Every dealer is required to file a sworn statement of prices with the superintendent. No school official shall have any connection with an agency. All funds for the purchase of the books are to be provided from the school funds of the respective districts. The question of providing free text books shall be brought up at the first annual meeting of the district and submitted to the voters. In no case shall the request of more than 100 voters be needed to establish the free text book rule.

H. F. No. 7 fixed the time for holding the term of district court in Itasca county on the second Tuesday in May. A motion by Mr. Markham to give the bill a second and third reading and place it upon its final passage was voted down and was referred to the judiciary committee.

Allen J. Greer, of Wabasha, who was defeated in his candidacy for speaker, and who was absent from the caucus at the caucus was called unexpectedly early and he did not like the idea. The fact that he was not present, however, had no bearing on the senatorial election. He did not say that he would vote for Davis, but he did say that he knew of no opposition to the senator. It is understood, however, that Mr. Greer has privately assured Senator Davis of his support.

The Indiana Legislature.
INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 6.—The Indiana legislature assembled yesterday for permanent organization. The organization of the house was effected by the election of James B. Curtis, of Indianapolis, as speaker. Senator Francis Griffith was elected president pro tem of the senate. The Republicans had little to do with the organization, as the senate stands 33 to 15 Democratic and the house 53 to 37 Democratic. The legislature will select a successor of Senator Turpie and it is thought that Mr. Turpie will have no opposition.

Postoffice Robbers Sentenced.
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 6.—The Cook-Hall gang of postoffice robbers, recently convicted here of robbing postoffices in Northern and Western Pennsylvania, were sentenced yesterday by Judge Buffington, of the United States court. Hall, who turned state's evidence, got six years in the penitentiary and $500 fine; Coleman fifteen years and $500 fine and Hughes twelve years and $100 fine.

Fish Dealers Fail.
HUBBON, O., Jan. 6.—It was announced here yesterday that Wickham & Co., the largest dealers in fresh and frozen fish in the country, had given mortgages to creditors for $100,000, no assignment being made. Endorsements and a light catch of fish during the fall season was the immediate cause. It is rumored that several other large firms are heavily involved.

Pleased at Davis' Success.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Senator Davis' colleagues were very much gratified to learn that the caucus of Republican members of the legislature at St. Paul had unanimously endorsed him for reelection. Senator Sherman spoke very kindly of Davis and Senator Allison likewise complimentary of Senator Davis' record. Nearly all the North-western senators and representatives expressed themselves as highly pleased at Davis' success.

NO ORE SOLD ON NEW CONTRACTS.

The Iron Market is Still Waiting for Developments.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 6.—The Iron Trade Review, commenting on trade conditions, says: The disposition to wait for developments after the opening of the new year, which has been the ruling spirit in the iron market for a month past, still abides. Influences outside of the trade will have much to do in shaping the business of the next few weeks.

The course of events in the past year has put the iron trade under careful regimen and enjoined economy in every line of production, so that the steady fall of prices has been attended with a remarkable freedom from financial failures. Today the general financial outlook is such as to inspire confidence.

Iron ore sales agents would have been entirely willing to take at par the newspaper reports in the past week of a sale of Norrie ore to the Illinois Steel company, and of 300,000 tons of Florence ore, and especially willing to have those sales made at "last year's prices," as the report about the Norrie had it. But the fact is that not a pound of ore has been sold on new contracts, unless it has been done without the knowledge of Cleveland sales agent.

One must except, of course, the small lot sales for immediate use that are part of every week's record in the ore market. The furnace men have not yet come to the ore sellers, even to satisfy their curiosity they may have as to the basis of transaction the coming season, and from present indications there will be no effort on the part of ore firms to force matters.

A VERY TOUGH SECTION.

North Carolina Moonshiners Who Defy the Federal Laws.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Commissioner Mason expresses no surprise at the open warfare between the local authorities and the moonshiners, which resulted so lately atarkersville, N. C. The mountain fastnesses of North Carolina and Tennessee, he says, are honeycombed with small stills, the owners of which produce without government interference and are quick to resent government inspection. The whole section is in almost deadly opposition to authority in any form.

Another Economic Dead.
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 6.—Gottlieb Lauppe, one of the present board of directors of the Economic society, is dead. By his death a vacancy occurs in the board, which is a great deal of a loss to the society. It is still somewhat disturbed by the events and rumors of events which followed Father Hendrick's death. The society's membership is now reduced to thirty-four, and this will bring home to the members the extreme isolation of the society to dissolve, without the intervention of courts or men's devices.

She Wants a Divorce.
REDWOOD FALLS, Minn., Jan. 6.—Mrs. M. E. Nield has applied for a divorce from G. W. Nield. She charges him with ill treatment. The proceedings have caused a sensation. The parties have been in the furniture business here. Mr. Nield is a great deal older than his wife. She wishes the custody of her two children. County Attorney Madigan is her lawyer.

Returns to His Plow.
REDWOOD FALLS, Minn., Jan. 6.—A. D. Stewart, late candidate for representative, has declined the position of state lecturer tendered him by Donnelly. He will return to the plow.

For the Naval Display.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The secretary of the treasury sent to the house yesterday a communication from Secretary Tracy recommending an appropriation of $500,000 to pay the expenses of the proposed naval rendezvous and review in connection with the opening of the World's fair.

Had Pleuro-Pneumonia.
OTTAWA, Jan. 6.—Sir Charles Tupper has notified the department of agriculture that he has been afflicted with pleuro-pneumonia, a disease which he contracted while on board of a steamer from Boston, the Ottoman and Michigan, with cattle on board, eight of which were found to be affected with pleuro-pneumonia.

Nervous Prostration.
A large manufacturer, whose affairs were in a very much embarrassed and who was overworked and broken down with nervous exhaustion, went to a celebrated specialist. He was told that the only thing needed was to be relieved of care and worry and have a change of thought. This doctor was more considerate of his patient's health than of his financial circumstances. He ought to have advised him to use Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, the best remedy for nervous prostration, sleeplessness, dizziness, headache, ill effects of spirits, tobacco, coffee, opium, etc. Thousand's testify to cure. Book and trial bottle free at all druggists.

Dr. S. R. Holden will open dental offices next Wednesday, Jan. 11, 1893, at 302 Burrows building. Crown and bridge work a specialty.

It's a Family Necessity!

THE EVENING HERALD,

THE PAPER OF THE HOME AND FIRESIDE!

It is the largest and newest paper printed at the Head of the Lakes. It gives

More Local News,
More Telegraphic News,
More News Features,
More Special Articles

That inure to Duluth's supremacy than any other Duluth paper. It is essentially the women's paper; its bright and crisp society gossip, its many features pertaining directly to the homes, and the recognition of the cause of the gentle sex make THE EVENING HERALD especially of interest to them.

The independent course pursued by THE HERALD in politics has won for it many friends who are not prejudiced by party ties, and who approve of a fearless newspaper, but who loathe and despise a hide-bound organ, that only reverberates the sentiment of some party platform that has nothing in common with Duluth or her varied interests. THE EVENING HERALD has given several examples of its independence the past year and will continue to do so whenever in its opinion the good of Duluth demands it. If you do not take it, subscribe for it.

The business man reads it and advertises in it to the exclusion of all others, because it GIVES THE NEWS and is read by double as many readers as all other Duluth papers.

The laboring man and the artisan want THE EVENING HERALD because it is delivered fresh from the press at a time when his day's labors are ended and he has the long winter evenings to read to himself and family all the day's happenings of his own city and from every nook and corner of a busy and heedless world.

The Wind Blow Hard.
The wind storm during the night was particularly severe. A small frame building near lower Garfield avenue had the front blown down and a number of outhouses were toppled over. On Superior street a number of signs were torn down and the panes of glass at Freimuth's were smashed. At Lester Park and Lakeside some slight damage was done to buildings.

Offering Advice.
The proposed tunnel under the ship canal is bringing numerous plans and considerable general communications fraught with a superabundance of advice. The deadly crank is ever get-

A PECULIAR MISUNDERSTANDING.
A Conflict in Corporate Names Causes a Suit for Damages.

E. F. Clark has sued George E. Milligan to recover $50,000. It is rather a complicated deal. In May, 1892, G. E.
Milligan, A. E. Humphreys et al organized a Kentucky Mining company but found that there was already a company by the same name in existence. Certain lands had been transferred to the Kentucky Mining company and the existing company was requested to and did deed them back to G. E. Milligan. The latter and his associates chose the name Virginia Iron company for what was to have been the Kentucky and transferred the lands to it. Mr. Clark alleges that he purchased 600 shares of stock in the first company supposing these lands belonged to it. He alleges fraud and wants $50,000 damages.

It is Denied.
The Superior Leader this morning says: "The Deloit Wisconsin Iron works are figuring with the New Duluth Land company for a site. The company has decided to move and enlarge its plant.
It manufactures mostly mill machinery and employs over 100 men. They have done no figuring with Superior."

Manager Norton says that the above is not correct. The New Duluth Land company has no negotiations with the company named and has no new manufactories as yet.

THE CASHIER CAUGHT

J. H. Todd, the Defaulting Employee of the St. Paul & Duluth Road, Has Been Arrested.

Telegram Received at West Duluth From the New Orleans Police Announcing His Capture.

His Father Will Endeavor to Settle With the Railroad Company and Obtain His Release.

J. H. Todd, the defaulting cashier at West Duluth of the St. Paul & Duluth railway, has been caught, as the following telegram received by Chief Briggs, of West Duluth, last evening from the superintendent of police of New Orleans, shows:

"Have arrested J. H. Todd, wanted by you for larceny of money from Northern Pacific and St. Paul & Duluth railways."

"D. S. GASTON, Superintendent of Police."

The young man's father, who lives at Brandon, Minn., was in the city yesterday and left on the night train for St.
Paul to confer with the railway authorities in regard to his son's defalcation.

He left before the telegram was received announcing the arrest of the boy and will hear of it for the first time in St.
Paul today. He was a fine appearing gentleman and felt very keenly the disgrace connected with the affair. He has made arrangements to fully reimburse the railway companies for the loss and it is probable that the offender will not be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

MADE A CONTRACT.
Standard Ore Company to Furnish Ore to the Blast Furnace.

The blast furnace people at this place have made a contract with the Standard Ore company for twelve car loads of ore
a day, shipments to commence next Monday. Everything at the furnace is about ready for a renewal of work and in a few days West Duluth will be making a high grade of Bessemer pig.

The following officers have been elected for the new lodge of I. O. G. T. F.
Towner, C. F.; Mrs. C. Kandy, V. C. T.; F. Borge, P. C. T.; A. R. Mallory, secretary; N. C. Hendricks, treasurer; J. John, F. S.; R. J. Ide, chairman; H. B. Wallace, sentry. The next meeting will be held Tuesday evening, Jan. 10, at the I. O. G.
T. hall.

The Phillips hotel is pretty well filled up with mechanics from the Great Western Electrical Supply works.

B. B. Penel left for Minneapolis last evening on business for the Marinette shops.

James Quail, of Phillips, Wis., has purchased two lots in the Sixth division, and will soon commence work on a fine residence which he will inhabit as soon as it is completed.

Gulbrandson Bros., the well known contractors of this place, have secured the contract for building three and-a-half miles of the Missabe railway, commencing at the Oneota docks.

E. Murphy, of Mountain Iron, is back again on his old camping grounds.

Wm. P. Rege, of Marinette, Wis., is registered at the Phillips.

The wife of Engineer Krey is quite ill.

THE CONTRACT.
J. C. Palmer & Son Will Drive the Piles for the Ore Dock.

Yesterday the contract was let to John C. Palmer & Son for driving 8000 piles for the Duluth, Missabe & Northern dock and terminal at West Duluth.

Work will begin at once. The dock will be fifty-one feet above the water. The grade will be continued back from the water to the break in the hills through which the road is surveyed and will pass on trestles over the railways and streets so that the grade going over the hill to the level land beyond will not be very great.

It is understood that the contract price is about $16,000 for the pile driving. No contracts have been let, as far as can be learned, for the superstructure or any other part of the work. The driving of the piles will be finished by August.
Palmer & Son have leased tools from R.
B. Dear for the pile work.

Looking Over the Situation.
The long expected postoffice inspector has arrived at Superior and will look over the situation as soon as possible.
He is J. A. Stewart, of Chicago, chief of the postoffice department in the Northwest. He visited Old Superior yesterday afternoon and will look over West Superior and South Superior soon. He will be at the head of the lakes several days. His wife is visiting friends in Duluth and Mr. Stewart will spend some time in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. George Maxwell are today sorrowing for the loss of their boy, who died last night at 100 East First street. Funeral at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon. They also desire to express their gratitude to Dr. Fullerton for the unfailing care and attention which he showed their little boy.

THREE WERE KILLED

Fatal Explosion of Natural Gas in a Tenement House at Pittsburg Early This Morning.

Thomas Duffy Went Into His Cellar and Struck a Match, When the Explosion Followed.

Fire in Rio Janeiro Has Destroyed a Million and a Half Dollars' Worth of Property.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 7.—Three persons were killed and two badly injured by a natural gas explosion on Sarah street, south side, about 6 o'clock this morning. The dead are: Thomas Duffy, mill worker, aged 32; Mrs. Duffy, his wife, and a three-year-old daughter.

The house destroyed was a two story brick, located at No. 120 Sarah street. It was occupied by the Duffy and Harrison families, the first named occupying the second floor. The Duffy family were asleep when the explosion occurred. The Harrison family were awake. At 6 o'clock Mr. Harrison started to the cellar for coal and struck a match, and the explosion followed. The force of the explosion was so great the house as well as everything in it, was demolished. The dead were removed to the morgue and the injured to the hospital.

IMMENSE FIRE IN RIO.
A Million and a Half Dollars' Worth of Property Destroyed.

NEW JANEIRO, Jan. 7.—The Herald correspondent at Rio Janeiro telegraphs that a fire which destroyed $1,500,000 worth of property swept over that city yesterday. It started from an explosion of kerosene.

Papers in Buenos Ayres are unanimous for the recall of Senor Guerrero, the Chilean minister, whose presence they say tends to disturb the friendly relations between the two countries. The Bolivian government has granted amnesty to all the exiled deputies.

A bill providing the payment of $50,000 in gold to the California lawyers who acted for the Junta de Gobierno in the Itata case has passed the Chilean congress.

LAST SPIKE DRIVEN.

The Great Northern Now Completed to Puget Sound.

END OF TRACK, Wash., Jan. 7.—The last spike of the Great Northern track laying was driven last evening thirteen miles below the summit of Stevens, on the western slope of the Cascades. The only officials present were General Superintendent Childs and Superintendent J. D. Farrell.

As the last rail was brought forward by the workmen and laid in position, Messrs. Childs and Farrell took spike mauls from the spikers' hands and with alternate blows drove home the last spike. It was not golden, but only iron. A cheer went up from the little group and the engineers took the cue and shrill whistles of the great engine sounded through the canyon of the Skykomish.

As the engineer pulled open the throttle and whirled the first special train over the Great Northern toward Puget Sound, a new era in the commercial development of the Northwest and in transcontinental railroading was inaugurated.

Murphy's Election Sure.
New York, Jan. 7.—The Times special from Washington says: Senator Hill departed for Albany yesterday, where he will remain until the caucus which has been called for next Tuesday night to nominate Edward Murphy, Jr. for senator is over. Before he departed, he declared that there were but seven opponents of Mr. Murphy among the Democratic legislators.

Coadjutor to Kenrick.
St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 7.—It is announced on what is believed to be the best of authority that the Very Rev. Father Chastard, bishop of Vincennes, Ind., has been selected by the pope to act as coadjutor to Archbishop Kenrick of this diocese. The same authority states that Father P. P. Brady, vicar general of this diocese, will be elevated to a bishopric and transferred to Vincennes.

Ives May Return to Paris.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—A special to the Press from Chicago says: Frank Ives, the champion billiard player, yesterday received three offers from Paris to go there and give exhibitions, at 500 francs, or $66 in American money per day. Should his match with Roberts fall through, it is likely that he will again locate in the French capital.

Deaths From Typhus.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The typhus fever record for this morning shows one new case and one death. John Miller, 34 years of age, one of the tramps quarantined at No. 34 Bayard street, was found to have developed the disease this morning. The death was that of Thos. Will, 30 years of age, of Bayard street.

Shot by His Partner.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 7.—Abraham Oden, a carpenter, was shot and instantly killed this morning by his partner, John Gorman, in the suburban village of Norwood. The shooting was the outcome of an old grudge between the two men. Gorman was arrested.

Nine Are Missing.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—The steamer Fernside from Odessa, Dec. 12 from Christiana has been wrecked five miles from Lauvig. The crew left the vessel in the small boats. Eleven men have landed but the captain and eight men who were in one of the boats are missing.

WANT THE NAME CHANGED.

One Letter is Causing Annoyance to People at Mesaba Station.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—[Special to The Herald.]—Strong petitions from the Duluth & Iron Range road, the Mesaba Lumber company and the postmaster at that place have been received at the postoffice department asking that the name of the postoffice be changed from Mesaba to Mesaba.

When the postoffice was established Senator Davis' clerk here had the change made. The petitioners claim that they have more interest in the name of the office than Davis' clerk has.

Lieut. Peary's Exhibition.
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 7.—Lieut. Peary is actively engaged on his preparations for his expedition in the spring to the Arctic regions. He visited New York yesterday and purchased 4000 pounds of pemmican, the staple food of all Arctic explorers.

Died in Brooklyn.
BROOKLYN, Jan. 7.—Abiel Abbott Low, a leading citizen of this city and father of Seth Low, ex-mayor of Brooklyn, now president of Columbia college, died this morning at his home here.

Senator Kenna's Illness.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—At 9 o'clock this morning it was said by a member of Senator Kenna's household that he passed the best night since his illness began and was then sleeping.

Mr. Blaine Unchanged.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The condition of Mr. Blaine remains unchanged. It is acknowledged that there has been no improvement within the past few days.

PERSONAL.

Miss Florence Ginder has been appointed to a temporary clerkship in the register of deeds' office.

R. F. Wilson arrived from Chicago this morning.

C. L. Ring, of Saginaw, is in the city today.

N. D. Miller and President W. S. Alexander of the Eastern Minnesota came up from St. Paul last evening.

L. S. Miller of the St. Paul & Duluth is here today.

Steve Hart, late of the Ideal, leaves today for Sioux City. He will circle around so as to reach New Orleans in time for the carnival and will be away several months.

H. Parker, of Philadelphia, is in the city visiting J. H. Sharp at Hotel St. Louis.

J. B. Vail and L. H. Brooks went to Minneapolis yesterday.

George W. Goff and wife and daughter have returned from Chicago and Urbana, Ill., where they spent the holidays.

Richard Murchison is back at his duties in the board of public works after a vacation of several weeks which he spent at Fergus, Ontario.

Will and Clinton McCormick, sons of Dr. McCormick, having enjoyed their vacation at home, have returned to their studies at Macalester college.

C. B. Woodruff went to Detroit today. John Christie returned this morning from Minneapolis.

New Time Card.

The Duluth, Missabe & Northern time card No. 3 is printed, and goes into effect at 12:15 tomorrow afternoon. The new terminal stations are open and agents and operators on duty at Biwabik, Mountain Iron and Virginia. Passengers leaving Duluth at 7:50 a. m. can reach Mountain Iron, on the main line, at 1 p. m.; Virginia, on the Virginia branch at 1:25 p. m., and Biwabik branch at 1:30. The return trip can be made the same day.

Will Recommend It.

A delegation of citizens from both sides of the bay, the principal ones being G. C. Hartley, H. M. Peyton and L. D. Barber, called on Maj. Sears, government engineer, yesterday, to discuss the question of building a bridge between Connor's and Rice's points. He was asked whether he would recommend a bridge between Superior and Duluth. He replied that such a recommendation seemed inevitable, but he could not state what restriction would accompany it.

They Are Interested.

The stock exchange has appointed a committee of five to confer with the other organizations regarding the proposed topographic models of the city of Duluth for the Columbian Exposition, composed of Messrs. J. W. Burdick, J. D. Howard, Grant Wyatt, A. H. Davis and A. Ammerman. There is great interest felt among the members of the exchange as to this exhibit, and a wish that the proposition may be successfully carried out is generally expressed.

A Public Meeting.

A public meeting will be held at the Chamber of Commerce room Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock to consider the question of raising the fund necessary to secure the profile map for the World's fair. Everybody interested in the welfare of Duluth should be present.

The Kahn Failure.

M. L. Fischbein, assignee of Ludwig Kahn, filed his schedule of assets and liabilities today. The total assets amount to $45,000, consisting principally of the stock of dry goods and $1000 in Superior property. The liabilities aggregate about $65,000, the principal creditor being H. B. Claffin & Co. of New York, who have a claim of about $25,000.

The Weather.

Jan. 6, 1892.—The following variations in temperature were recorded at the Pioneer Fuel company's office, 325 West Superior street, to-day and corresponding date last year:

PANTON & WATSON'S GREAT REMOVAL AND INVENTORY SALE!

IT BEGINS MONDAY MORNING, JANUARY 9th, AND WILL CONTINUE UNTIL JANUARY 28th.

POSITIVELY FOR 18 DAYS ONLY!

Extraordinary Bargains will be given in Every Department!

The last day of January we will take our annual inventory. This is one reason why we want to reduce our stock. We move into our MAMMOTH NEW STORE about the 10th to the 15th of February, and for this reason we want to reduce our stocks as much as possible to save us moving it.

We delivered 10,000 Circulars in Duluth, Superior and West Duluth Saturday, it contains a few of the Bargains we will give you.

A word or two about Our Shoe Department that may interest you. Owing to the unscrupulous buying of our late buyer, James H. Raty, we find our Shoe stock with $20,000 worth of more shoes than we had this time last year. He misrepresented us to manufacturers, stating we were jobbers and bought in a great many instances ten, fifteen and twenty cases of one make of shoes. In one instance he purchased forty cases—of course, he being duly appointed our authorized buyer, we were compelled to accept the goods. The goods are paid for, but there is entirely too much money invested in that one department, and for this reason we will begin the Greatest Shoe Sale ever seen in the Northwest. We own the goods as cheap as any jobber in the Northwest, and will sell them at Jobbers Wholesale Prices. MONDAY MORNING this Sale on Ladies' Men's and Children's Shoes will begin.

A LULL IN THE GAVETY

More Quietness Was to be Noticed in the Social Circles This Week Than Expected.

A Progressive Dinner—Something Rather New to Duluth Society People Was Given This Week.

Concert at the Saturday Club Rooms Next Wednesday—Other Society Notes of Interest.

Social matters in Duluth have been somewhat better this week—a livelier opening of the new year than was the case of the old year, but still not much has been done of prominent interest. The cold stormy weather of part of the week has hindered some of the proposed out door amusements. By the way it will be noticed that there is another kind of event in the happenings of the week—progressive dinners. Progressive euche and whist are old and several other progressive games have been heard of but progressive dinners are something new.

The ladies and gentlemen are doing plenty of skating this winter. The ice is in fine shape, and then there are some comfortable covered rinks this season and they are well patronized. A Lake avenue car the other day was crowded with ladies from 20 years of age upwards, every one of them with a pair of skates and they were the best people in Duluth, too.

A MUSICAL TREAT.

Fine Concert by Duluth Musicians at the Saturday Club Rooms.

A recital will be given in the Saturday club rooms, 22 East Second street, on Wednesday next, by Mrs. Olund, contralto, of the original Swedish quartette, assisted by Miss Helen Mackey, pianist; Miss Hurd, elocutionist; and Sydney Brown. The following is the program: Piano solo—"Romantic Ballade"—Mrs. Olund. Vocal solo—"The Song of the Lark"—Mrs. Olund. Recitation—"A Wile to Lily"—Wright. Violin solo—"Pavane"—Leonard. Vocal solo—"In Springtime"—Becker. Piano solo, a) "Valse Postique"—Streletski. b) "Graville"—Gottschalk. Vocal solo—"Magical"—Waller. Vocal solo—"Spanish Song"—Mrs. Olund. Violin solo, a) "Romance"—Streletski. b) "Transcription by Sydney Brown"—Mazurka. Mr. Sydney Brown.

Entertained at Dinner. Mr. John Upham, Jr., entertained a party of his young friends last evening at the Brighton. Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock in the main dining room and the table was beautifully decorated. At 9 o'clock the party went for a sleigh-ride, chaperoned by Mesdames Watrous and Upham. The guests were the Misses Bessie Spencer, Bessie Strayer, Virgie La Vaque, Alice Peyton, Florence Bailey, Frances Edwards, Bernice Crevel, Julia Chapin, Ella Fitzgerald, Lydia Woodbridge, Elizabeth Frazer, Belle Simonds, Minnie McLean, Terza Hirsch, and Messrs. Herbert Spencer, Walter Watrous, Rufus Draper, Bertram Sears, James Eaton, James Gregg, Jack McLaren, Marvin McLaren, Scott Cash, Hamilton Peyton, Edward Walbank, McLellan and Stocking.

Social Mention. Mrs. Watrous entertained the young friends of her son Walter Watrous at a progressive dinner Wednesday evening.

The Y. M. C. A. people had a very pleasant New Year's reception last Monday.

This is "woman's" day with the Saturday club and Mrs. William Hubbard is the leader in the talks at the club rooms.

Cards are out announcing the wedding next Wednesday of Mr. T. A. Pinto to Miss Cora Covert.

Mrs. B. Heller entertained a number of friends at a New Year's dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Markell, in pursuance of a time honored custom, gave a New Year's reception and dance Monday evening to a large number of invited friends.

The wedding of Mr. Robert Lamont to Miss Annie McIntosh was one of the pleasant events of Wednesday evening. It occurred at 222 East First street.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hibbing were pleasantly surprised by a party of friends Wednesday evening at 1830 East Superior street. Music, cards and dancing filled out a pleasant evening.

PRaise THAT IS DESERVED.

Sheriff Sharpy, Capt. Tear and Officers Commanded by Gen. Mullen.

The annual report of Adj.-Gen. Mullen was issued yesterday. Referring to the miners' strike at Soudan last June, the report commends Sheriff Sharpy as "an efficient officer and a brave man."

The report concludes: "Capt. Tear showed rare good judgment in the management of this important affair, the officers and men of his command conducting themselves in the most creditable manner."

"It is to be regretted that so few of our good people realize the full value and importance of a well organized and roughly disciplined military force, ready at all times to respond to the commander-in-chief. In times of public danger only, when the civil authorities are powerless, is the strong arm of the military associated. The officers and men come from our banks, workshops and farms. They are of the very best young men in the state. They are intelligent, reading, thinking, earnest men. They are liable at any time to be brought face to face with bodies of excited, angered and desperate strikers, who, smarting under their own wrongs, are swift to visit their vengeance upon the persons and property of others. The civil authorities are, for the time being, absolutely powerless to maintain order, preserve the peace, or protect persons and property. The troops are hastily called upon. Every officer and man leaves his usual avocation, and without question responds at once to the call."

PROF. DAUGHTERS' SCHEME.

Further Details of His Upper Minnesota Canal Plans.

The scheme of Prof. Daughters' to cover the upper part of Minnesota with canals has been half outlined, says the Lumberman. Instead of simply connecting the Lake of the Woods waters with Red lake, and causing all the logs on the Big and Little Forks to run up stream, to get into Red lake, as to make a saw mill town at Grand Forks, he proposes also that a small canal be built to connect the Red Lake river with Little lake, and then from there into Bemidji lake, which is an expansion of the Mississippi river, down the stream to Bemidji lake, and from there into Hall Lake, then into the Mississippi river again, follow that stream to the mouth of Swan river, then by a canal running a little northeast, hit the St. Louis river and down that stream to Duluth and the great lakes.

In addition to this waterway, he proposes to connect Winniegoskosh and Leech lakes by a canal, and from that lake south through several small lakes into Pine river and down that stream to the Mississippi, thus making a direct waterway from the Red lake region to the large cities along the Mississippi river. As there isn't much prospect of the scheme ever being put through there is no reason to get excited about it. Railroads will be doing the work long before the canals are constructed.

CITY ATTORNEYS SUBMIT.

They Prepare Municipal Bills For the Consideration of the Legislature.

The city attorneys, in session at St. Paul, have resolved upon two bills for submission to the legislature, in the event that the proposed anti-special legislation act should fail of passage.

One authorizes all cities to make local improvements and assess upon the local property of Pennsylvania and Illinois. It provides for the making of the contracts, the levying of assessments on the property benefited, the acquiring of judgments against the property, the sale and the issuing of certificates of sale and for the redemption of the property after sale.

The law is to be put into effect in cities after its adoption by their common councils. The act is especially in the interest of Winona and Rochester, neither of which now have the authority to pave streets.

The other bill authorizes the issuing of bonds by a three fourths vote of the city council for the following purposes: Permanent improvements, water works, for securing lighting plants, gas or electricity, the building or purchase of street railways, general fund, bridges and tunnels, schools and parks. The total bonded indebtedness is limited to 5 per cent of the assessed valuation, and this limit cannot be passed except by a majority vote of the people.

James Whitcomb Riley, the dialect poet and clever humorist, is announced to appear at the Lyceum next Thursday.

Mr. Riley is at this moment the most conspicuous of America's younger poets and his genius has been recognized both by the critics and the public, and many of his poetic gems have traveled the world over. He is known as the poet humorist. In this star is presented all the hilarity and the pathos, all the laughter and all the tears that human nature can imbibe at one sitting. The race of which he writes are those whose keen brains and willing hands have made this country what it is in its surroundings and hopeful destiny. They have been equal to every emergency. In duty's plain path they have wrought patiently and thoughtfully. From them went men to the wars who fought in the ranks, though capable of command.

NOT VERY CONFIDENT

Minneapolis' Attorneys are not Certain That the Railroads Will Adjust Grain Rates as Ordered.

The Commission Says Duluth's Natural Advantages for Milling are Greater Than Those of Minneapolis.

Considerable Disappointment in the Minneapolis Camp Over the Failure to Reduce Flour Rates.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Britton and Gray, the Washington attorneys who represented Minneapolis in the grain and flour rate case, profess to be pleased with the decision of the commission, although there is no doubt that they are disappointed because the commission refused to alter the flour rate between Minneapolis and Duluth, which now gives Duluth millers an advantage of 15 cents a barrel over the Minneapolis millers. The attorneys, however, are pleased at the decision regarding grain rates, but they are not confident the railways will yield. Following are some of the conclusions of the commission regarding the grain rates:

"It can hardly be doubted, in view of the testimony, that under the present adjustment of rates on wheat the milling interests of Minneapolis, and with them its general prosperity, and possibly its population, must decline. So far as such a result would be attributable solely to the greater natural advantages of Duluth as a point for the manufacture and shipment of flour, nothing perhaps could properly be done to avert it. Duluth is nearer to the markets than Minneapolis and to this extent its advantages can not and ought not to be denied, or taken from it but, on the other hand, Minneapolis is nearer the wheat fields than Duluth, and to this extent it is entitled to an advantage over Duluth, which on that account should naturally belong to it.

"This natural advantage is denied to Minneapolis in the present adjustment of railroad rates as between it and Duluth from the wheat field. As a general proposition it is conceded that the shortest line should fix the rate and several railway experts have testified in this case that the rates to Minneapolis and Duluth should be adjusted according to mileage, taking the shortest route to each place as a basis of comparison. As a general rule it is probably true that rates should not be proportioned strictly to mileage. The more distant point should have the greater actual rate but a less proportionate or ton-mile rate than the nearer point.

"This is due largely to the fact that terminal expenses which do not vary with the distance constitute a considerable part of the entire charge in either case and operate to reduce the ton-mile rates on the longer haul, but this consideration in the present case seems to be fully balanced, perhaps more than balanced, by the fact that back-loading, which is also a powerful element in the establishment of rates, is so much more certain, and west-bound traffic so much more profitable from Minneapolis than from Duluth."

In speaking of the wheat rates to be fixed this is said: "All the opinion that while rates to Duluth remain as they now are, rates via the St. Paul, the Soo, Great Northern, Northwestern and Omaha roads should be adjusted as follows: "From and including Fargo, Casselton and Sidney and points north of them, rates should be 1 cent per 100 less to Minneapolis than to Duluth. From and including Wahpeton and points north as far as the main line of the Northern Pacific and south to Fairmont, rates to Minneapolis should be 1½ cents per 100 less than to Duluth. From and including Fairmont and all points west thereof on the Soo and Great Northern line, including Harlem and Edgley, the differential in favor of Minneapolis should be 2 cents, and as much more as may be necessary to reduce the maximum rate to Minneapolis from any point to 16 cents per 100, and from Rutland and points east thereof to not exceeding 15 cents per 100. From all points on the two Dakota southern lines extending eastward from Ellendale through Rutland, Hankinson and Fairmont (and east of the Fargo branch of the Paul road) there should be a differential in favor of Minneapolis at not less than 5 cents per 100."

WAS LINCOLN'S FRIEND.

Death of Oliver M. Sheldon, one of Illinois' Foremost Men.

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—Oliver M. Sheldon, at one time one of the foremost men in Illinois and the confidential friend of Abraham Lincoln, died last night at his home, 44 Thirty-fifth street. Mr. Sheldon was 76 years of age and had been an invalid for ten years.

The day that Abraham Lincoln received news of his nomination for president of the United States, he was pitching quoits with Mr. Sheldon behind the latter's store in Springfield. The game was continued after congratulations had been extended and the future president beat Mr. Sheldon three points.

For many years Mr. Sheldon's home in Springfield was the scene of brilliant society events. Although he never held any political office, Mr. Sheldon was influential in state politics. He was always a staunch Democrat, but he voted for his friend Lincoln. While living in Springfield Mr. Sheldon was largely interested in Chicago real estate. He lost heavily in the great panic of 1873. Mr. Sheldon moved to this city in 1876.

Indicted for Conspiracy.

BRIDGEPORT, N. J., Jan. 7.—There was considerable excitement yesterday among the glass blowers here when it was learned that the grand jury had returned indictments for conspiracy against President Arrington and Vice President Troth, of the National Glass Blowers union.

IT OPENS WITH STRENGTH.

The New Year Starts With Very Bright Trade Prospects.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: "The business of the new year opens well, though there has hardly been time, as yet, to get fairly under way. In some branches of manufacturing there is a conservative feeling, owing to scantiness of satisfactory orders."

In every part of the country, and apparently in almost every branch of business, the traders are looking forward to a year of large transactions. But in financial circles the year opens with considerable uncertainty, owing to the revival of gold exports, which will be about $2,000,000 for the current week, and to the doubts about the action of congress. The annual reports of various textile manufacturers leaves the full production of most of the mills sold for months ahead, and the new year opens with a feeling of uncertainty.

The business failures during the last seven days, number for the United States 323, and for Canada 17, or a total of 340 as compared with a total of 435 for the corresponding week of last year, representing 393 failures in the United States and 42 in Canada.

DONNELLY AGAIN PRESIDENT.

Doc 'Fish Was Squelched by the State Farmers' Alliance.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ignatius Donnelly was re-elected president of the Farmers' Alliance and Doc Fish squelched at the meeting being held at Harmonia hall in Minneapolis.

This means the pulling into line of the faction of the Alliance which opposed Donnelly in the election last fall. This will make Hompe very tired and will no doubtless be a straight Republican. The Alliance is for the most part secret but it is supposed that Doc Fish is being investigated regarding the funds he received in the last campaign. A stock company will be formed to run his paper.

Big Failure at Sioux City.
SIOUX CITY, Ia., Jan. 7.—The Leeds Land and Improvement company of this city failed yesterday with liabilities of $500,000 and assets of less than $1,000,000, mostly in real estate, on which scarcely the amount of liabilities can be realized at this time. The company was organized to build the manufacturing suburb of Leeds, for speculative purposes. The failure has carried down with it the American Security company, Leeds Annex company and Sioux City Land company, which were interested in Leeds. The total capitalization of the four companies is $3,000,000.

An Absconder Caught.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 7.—William H. Pope, teller of the City National bank of this city, who on March 1, 1890, absconded with $70,000 of the bank's funds, has been arrested at Starke, Fla. He has been positively identified.

THE INDIANA LEGISLATURE.

Governor Chase's Message Urged a Reduction of the Tax Levy.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 7.—The Indiana legislature met yesterday in joint session in the house chamber to hear the annual message of Governor Chase, who retires from office Monday. The message was long and read by the executive himself. He also paying tribute to the memory of Governor Hovey, who died last February, the governor passed directly to the important matters of state. He spoke hopefully of the new tax law and its workings, saying that it had enabled the state to receive increased revenue, and it would insure the ability of the state to pay off its debts in a short time. He thought that the debt might be paid in about eight years.

He advocated a reduction of the tax for school purposes from 15 cents to 11 cents, for the reason that the educational fund already had a large interest-bearing surplus. He also urged the reduction of the state maintenance fund tax from 12 cents to 10 cents and advised the placing of 4 per cent of the total revenues for a sinking fund.

He urged additional appropriations for the World's fair and Muncie rock commission, and also one to the city of Indianapolis for the entertainment of the state of the G. A. R. encampment next September. He urged as the most important subject of legislation before the assembly the passage of laws for making better highways. He reported the benevolent institutions in excellent condition.

THE OIL TRUST SUED.

Effort to Fix the Blame for the Great Oil City Disaster.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 7.—An effort is being made to place the blame for the great Oil City disaster which horrified the world in the beginning of last June, and the courts of Venango county will be called upon to determine the same.

Attorney W. J. Breen, of Oil City, and ex-Senator John W. Lee, of Franklin, yesterday held a consultation at Franklin, which will hurry matters and bring the suit now pending against the Standard Oil company to an issue. The suit is one entered by John Roche, of Oil City, who sues to recover $40,000 damages from the Standard Oil company, accusing it of criminal negligence in allowing the naphtha tank, which contained the death-dealing fluid, to stand on the banks of Oil creek.

Mr. Roche, who is a young man, lost his wife and two children in the great disaster and was himself crippled for life. The Oil City people, even since the disaster, have been looking about for some cases of which they might make a test, and they have decided upon the Roche case. If this case is successful, there will be many similar suits aggregating $1,000,000 in damage claims.

Pugilist Ashton Dead.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Jack Ashton, the heavyweight pugilist, has died in the city ward at Bellevue hospital. The last sacraments of the Roman Catholic church were administered to him yesterday.

Governor Francis' Message.

He Points With Pride to the Reduction of Missouri's Debt.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 7.—In submitting his biennial message to the legislature yesterday, Governor Francis congratulated the people of the state on the material prosperity of the commonwealth, the observance of the law, and marked progress of Missouri during the past four years. In regard to state finances Governor Francis says:

"The financial record of the present administration is one of its most salient features. The bonded indebtedness of the state has been reduced $2,285,000 during the last four years, and today is but $5,680,000, of which $1,380,000 bears 6 per cent and $5,300,000 3½ per cent interest. The annual interest of the bonded debt for the year 1888 was $406,320. The annual interest on the present bonded debt is $268,300, a reduction of $138,220 per annum. The balance in the state treasury at the close of business Dec. 31, 1892, was $562,277, belonging to the different state funds."

The governor advocates liberal appropriations for state educational institutions, commends the convict system and recommends that the price of construction labor be increased from 50 cents to 50 cents per day.

Two Blocks Burned.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 7.—Fire destroyed the Yates block in North Salina street and damaged the Hewlett block on the north and the Bennett block on the south. Humbert & Sons' furniture store and warehouse and the Grand Union Tea company's store, both in the Yates block, were completely wiped out, and the stock of B. G. Gregory, hardware dealer, in the Hewlett block was badly damaged. The total loss is estimated at $65,000.

Revolution Probable.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 7.—From information received here it is believed that a revolution is probable in Costa Rica. It is said that the president of the republic has acknowledged that an effort may be made to depose him. It is probable that a strict censorship of the press will be established, to prevent the publication of any details relating to the movement.

Had a Narrow Escape.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Jan. 7.—The Kentucky hotel was destroyed by fire yesterday. The fire spread very rapidly, and the guests barely had time to escape with their lives, clad only in their slumber robes. The guests lost nearly all their personal effects, except what they carried in their hands.

A Quadruple Tragedy.

DECATUR, Ill., Jan. 7.—Yesterday morning two white men were fatally stabbed by two negroes, who were in turn shot down by the wounded white men. The names of the white men are John and James Herndon. The negroes names are Edmond Todd and Todd Bolden.

Killed by a Tree.

CARLTON, Minn., Jan. 7.—Gust Gustafson was killed here yesterday by a tree falling on him. He was in the employ of Paine & Co., aged 42 years, and has no friends or relatives in this country.

REACHED A VERY HIGH PRICE.

A Scarcity of Hogs Sent Prices Skyward in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—Hogs and packing products reached the highest point known for years yesterday—$18.65 a barrel—and Cudahy and Wright were free sellers on the market. The highest established price was $18.50 for May pork, but some sales ran to the figure given above. Many theories and reasons are given for these high prices, but they are all traced to simply a lack of hogs—that is all.

There is another reason for the present high prices. When the upward movement commenced lots of brokers sold, thinking that the top had been reached. As the price went on up they cut in again and sold, thinking that as before the high notch had been reached. Then came another bulge and another cut in, and those folks are awfully short now. Michael Cudahy said that the basis of high prices for pork, ribs and lard was simply a scarcity of the original article.

Yesterday Cudahy & Wright were free sellers, and it is thought that they unloaded over 50,000 barrels of pork through their brokers. Schwartz-Dupe sold about 20,000 barrels and Cudahy's brokers about half that amount. Capt. Taylor and Mr. Rolosen were selling all day. Wright followed suit in person.

A Terrible Voyage.

GRAND HAVEN, Mich., Jan. 7.—The steamer Lora of the Valdalia line, which left St. Joseph Wednesday night for Milwaukee, reached this harbor yesterday after a terrible battle with sea and ice. Her bows were crushed and her cargo shifted. Those on board never expected to reach port again. Capt. Lockbridge has several ribs broken.

President Harrison's Trip.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—It has been practically decided that President Harrison will take his postponed shooting trip within a very short time. He will not, however, leave Washington while the prevailing stormy weather continues, and it is not likely that he will go away until after the White House quarantine has been removed. No details of the trip have been arranged.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN., Jan. 7.—A storm of some energy is now central over southern Illinois moving northwest, accompanied by snow on its northern side. Over the remainder of the country it is generally fair.

The temperature has fallen over the Northwest and Southwest and risen over the lower lake region and the Mississippi valley. The coldest place this morning is Winnipeg, 12° below zero, the warmest, 36° above at Memphis, Tenn. Although snow has fallen in nearly every part of the country it has not been heavy at any point except Chicago, where three inches has fallen and still continues.

The highest temperature here yesterday was 14°, falling again last night to 4, the snow melted amounting to .32 inches.

DULUTH, Jan. 6.—Fair, slight change in temperature today, colder Sunday; west to northwest winds.

B. H. BRONSON,
Local Forecast Official.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The storm central Friday morning off the New England coast has moved a great way toward New England and with a marked increase in energy. A storm of moderate strength has advanced southward to the middle Mississippi valley. In the central valley and lake regions the temperature has risen, with increasing cloudiness and snow north of the Ohio and lower Missouri rivers. The line of freezing weather has been carried to the interior of the Florida peninsula. In the Red River of the North valley the temperature is 25° to 11° below zero and in the region north of the eastern lakes 10° to 20° below zero. Increasing cloudiness with rain or snow and higher temperature indicated for the middle Atlantic and New England states and lower lake region. In the central valley the weather will be colder with a moderate cold wave in the lower Missouri and middle Mississippi valleys. Forecast till 8 p. m. Sunday.

For Wisconsin: Fair; colder Sunday morning; northerly winds. For Minnesota: Fair; warmer Sunday evening; northerly winds.

Effect of the Decision.

Duluth has good reason to feel satisfied with the decision of the interstate commerce commission in the case of the Minneapolis chamber of commerce against the Great Northern Railway company and others, which was announced exclusively by The Herald last evening in a special dispatch from its Washington correspondent. When on May 25 last, Commissioners Morrison and McMillan arrived in Minneapolis to take preliminary testimony on the complaint made by the millers of that city against the railways, the chief point made by the complainants was that the freight rate on flour between Minneapolis and Duluth was unreasonable and an unjust discrimination against the milling industry of Minneapolis, which, if continued, would speedily extinguish that industry.

The chief witness for Minneapolis was Charles A. Pillsbury, the well known head of the English milling syndicate. It will be interesting at this time to again read some of Mr. Pillsbury's sworn testimony upon that occasion. "I consider ten cents a barrel only a fair profit in this business," he said. "Since the flour rates between here and Duluth were advanced to 7½ cents a hundred, Duluth has come to the front as a milling center. The difference is just fifteen cents a barrel in that city's favor, which compels us, in order to meet its millers on equal terms, to run at a loss of five cents a barrel. These facts have gone forth into the world, and it has been a very easy matter to get capitalists to invest in mills at that point. * * * At this rate it is only a matter of time when the jobbing interests of both cities (St. Paul and Minneapolis) will follow the mills to the bow wows. * * * If Minneapolis loses the present fight, it is all up with both Minneapolis and Milwaukee as regards their milling industries." Many other Minneapolis millers and grain men told the same story of threatening ruin.

Well, the decision of the interstate commerce commission has been given, and it declines to order that the flour rate of 7½ cents per 100 pounds between Minneapolis and Duluth be removed.

Mr. Pillsbury expressed the opinion at the preliminary hearing that the railroads should carry flour between Minneapolis and Buffalo at the same rate that it is carried by water between Duluth and Buffalo. The commission dissents emphatically from this opinion, and holds generally in regard to the flour rate as follows:

A town (Minneapolis) favorably situated with respect to one through route, but competing in a common market with another town (Duluth) more favorably located on another through route, should not have a reduction of the local rate over roads connecting the two through routes for the purpose of overcoming the natural advantage which the latter complaining town (Duluth) enjoys.

If Minneapolis millers can extract any comfort out of the above clause of the commission's decision, they are welcome to it. Certainly Duluth will not complain of the soundness of this position.

The Minneapolis men may perhaps find a little consolation in the part of the decision relating to grain rates, because the commission finds in this respect that rates from some points in the Dakotas to Minneapolis as compared with those from the same points to Duluth "subject Minneapolis millers to undue and unreasonable prejudice and disadvantage." Consequently, the railroads are directed "to adjust their rates on wheat from points to Minneapolis and Duluth upon the basis of distance over the nearest practicable routes."

This means that the rate to Duluth should be made by the shortest line to Duluth, and the rate to Minneapolis by the shortest line to Minneapolis. Under existing circumstances, it is not easy to see how Minneapolis will derive much benefit from this order. The Northern Pacific road holds the key to the situation. This company has the shortest line to Duluth from many points in North and South Dakota and it fixes the rate. The Milwaukee, the Sault Ste. Marie and the Great Northern have shorter lines to Minneapolis from some of the same points than has the Northern Pacific. It does not require much perception to see that if either of those roads having the shortest line makes a rate to Minneapolis lower than the Northern Pacific makes to Duluth, the latter road will at once cut its rate to Duluth. It would do this to hold its business. Then what advantage will Minneapolis have gained by this order of the commission?

A prominent traffic manager, in an interview in the Pioneer Press of May 28 covered this point in the following words: "The Northern Pacific is the controlling factor in the situation, and the disposition of that system is such that any reduction on rates from the grain region to Minneapolis would be a discrimination against Duluth. That would be remedying an inconvenience on one hand by causing an injustice on the other." Next season when, as now appears probable, the Great Northern will have a short air line from the Red River valley to Duluth, the advantage in favor of Duluth will be even more pronounced. The railroads, however, are not likely to obey the order, in view of recent decisions by Judge Gresham and other judges.

With the order of the commission on grain rates carried out to the letter, the Duluth millers will be able to buy wheat as cheaply as their Minneapolis competitors. Even if Minneapolis millers could get wheat at a slightly lower rate than it could be secured at Duluth, they would then not be on even terms in the race, because the freight rate on flour from Minneapolis to Duluth is unchanged by the interstate commission. That freight rate is 7½ cents per hundred, or 15 cents a barrel, while the average profit to the miller is not more than 10 cents a barrel. "It is therefore," as the St. Paul Pioneer Press said last May in commenting on Mr. Pillsbury's startling statement of impending ruin to the milling industry at Minneapolis, "a simple proposition of arithmetic that the Minneapolis miller, in order to compete with the Duluth miller, must put his product on the market at 5 cents per barrel below the actual cost of production." The handicap on the Minneapolis product in competition with Duluth may be slightly reduced by the order regarding grain rates—even this is open to doubt—but it certainly is not removed, and the Minneapolis millers, from Pillsbury down, declared last May that, unless it were entirely removed, the whole milling interest will be transferred, within three years, from Minneapolis to Duluth. With the many mills erected and being erected in and around Duluth we already behold the partial fulfillment of this prediction—and not eight months have elapsed since it was made.

According to the Minneapolis papers "the slate fixed up by the Hennepin delegation with Speaker Lee in return for a pledge of support" calls for eight chairmanships of committees for the Hennepin men. The committees named are judiciary, appropriations, municipal legislation, soldiers' home, corporations or banking, public lands, elections, and one committee yet to be agreed upon. This confirms all previous reports that Mr. Lee's election meant that Minneapolis would control the principal committees.

The morning paper today published a story that Senator Davis is still in immediate danger of being defeated, and that Lieut-Governor Clough and H. F. Brown, of Minneapolis, head the opposition. When The Herald said the same thing previous to the caucus, the News Tribune declared it was working in the interests of the Democrats and exhibiting "its hatred of the Republican party." Now, what is the News Tribune doing?

The Superior Leader says that "activity at West Duluth and Onetia in dock building will be a great help to Superior." Exactly, and development and new industries in Superior will also be a great benefit to Duluth. No improvement can be made at the head of Lake Superior which will not benefit Duluth and all its suburbs on both sides of St. Louis bay.

The News Tribune today boldly appropriated The Herald's special dispatch from Washington giving the decision of the interstate commission in the grain and flour rate case, without giving this paper any credit for it. But this is not unusual. Its news columns are largely reprinted from The Herald every day in the week.

James Barton of Superior denies the report that he wants to be United States senator. He is for Col. Knight, of Ashland, and the colonel would be a good friend of the lake region to have in the senate.

Why Not Secure It?

It is announced in St. Paul on good authority that the West Publishing company is willing to move to any suitable point, where a large building, fitted specially for its immense business, will be erected and leased at a reasonable rental. Duluth has been mentioned as one of the points which meets the favor of the company, and if this be true, some person in this city who has vacant property which he desires to improve might make a very profitable arrangement for the erection of a large building and the transfer of the company's business to Duluth.

The West Publishing company gives employment to over one hundred people, and their removal would mean an increase in the city's population of probably 300, while the merchants would derive considerable profit from the wages paid out weekly to the numerous employees. The West Publishing company publishes nearly all the law reports that are issued in this country, and it is a business that is constantly increasing. Will not some enterprising Duluth property-owner take this matter into consideration at once?

The attorneys of Minneapolis in the grain and flour rate case are afraid that the railroads will not carry out the commission's order regarding grain rates. Their fears are probably well grounded, as the result of carrying out the order would mean discrimination against Duluth from some points in South Dakota.

January is supposed to be a dull month in the newspaper business, but every month in the year furnishes plenty of business for The Herald. The demands of advertisers compel the issue of twelve pages again today.

Mr. Donnelly was yesterday re-elected president of the Farmers' Alliance and indulged in another political harangue to the assembled grangers. Did not some person whisper that Ignatius had retired from political life, or was it all a dream?

Dun's commercial agency makes a gratifying report on trade during the first week of 1893. The new year's trade has opened strong and the prospects are very bright, and at no point are they brighter than at Duluth.

The Herald reports today that a new flour mill of 3000 barrels daily capacity has been secured for Duluth. Ah there, Minneapolis!

This will be the greatest year in Duluth's growth. Do not forget it, and prepare accordingly.

A Bridge to Superior. Superior Leader: Maj. Seers, the federal engineer for the head of the lake, takes a very fair and reasonable view of the proposition to erect a bridge between Superior and Duluth. The tone of his discussion of the subject is in conspicuous contrast with the stilted and lofty style adopted by his predecessors. The recommendation of Capt. Fiske against a bridge was quickly overruled by Secretary Elkins. It is stated that Maj. Seers is never overruled by the department. Evidently a beginning has been made for bridge-building. Point to Connor's point, though just how soon it can be built is not clear.

We Are Exhibiting

a beautiful and extensive assortment of goods in our line and there couldn't be a better time than now to inspect the stock. There's plenty left, notwithstanding the heavy depletions caused by recent holiday purchases. It isn't a collection of second choices either, but every article is fine enough to present an irresistible temptation to purchase. Solid gold wedding rings 14 and 18 carats, and Garnet and Turquoise seal and initial rings are special features of our display. One of the resolutions you should start the New Year with, is to measure the flight of the hours with an accurate time-piece. Our display of gold and silver watches is a series of surprises. We are selling Dinner Castors at $1.98, and Pickle Castors at $1.25 each.

Now, that which is worn as apparel by either the female or the male sex has a remarkable influence over one's disposition: To be clothed in the proper manner gives one the self-assurance of the cavalier with the tried armor; in truth, if one does but present a formidable appearance, the battle is half won in most any conflict.

THE CLOAK

transforms the appearance of a lady to a greater extent than any article she wears, and is in this climate the most essential element of the wardrobe and we feel that those Cloaks we are selling now are each a standing evidence of our superior offerings. We could sell them for more 'tis true, but our system of low prices does not admit of it, and if it did, our better judgment teaches us that 'tis better to sell two garments than one to achieve the same result.

Dress Goods

continue to be an attractive spot; $3.00 buys an all wool dress that is actually being sold many places at $7.50. It is no wonder people prefer to pay $3.00 to paying $7.50; the argument is so very strong and so conclusive to the many. Of course, there are a few people who continually pay very large prices for what they get, because they are not careful in their getting. A lady came in the store the other day who had paid $3.50 for the "Jouvin" Glove, which is sold nearly everywhere at $2.25. Another lady who had bought a dress for $17.50 which is selling over the counters in the store at $12.50. There are a class who buy from the exaggerators. Did you ever stop to think that it is unnecessary to exaggerate to sell desirable goods? Did you ever think that it is necessary to exaggerate to sell undesirable goods? Did you ever think how it is that a merchant will say he is selling goods at less than cost all the year through? Did you ever think why he is doing so?

A SCHOLARLY LECTURE

Rev. S. M. Crothers' Discussion of "The Evolution of a Gentleman" at the High School.

In all Times and Nations a Man Will be Found Who is the True Ideal.

The Democratic Feeling of Equality Brought the Era of the True Modern Gentleman.

The attendance upon the lecture given at the Central High school assembly hall last evening was not so large as upon the occasions of the previous lectures in this course but that did not affect the splendid treat that Rev. S. M. Crothers presented, his subject being "The Evolution of a Gentleman." Mr. Crothers is a slight, beardless, youthful appearing man whose weight cannot run astonishingly high above a hundred weight, but he has a brain that in force seems to weigh a ton and has a vigor and activity that is way beyond the average.

The speaker commenced his remarks by giving two definitions of a gentleman but said that neither would fit the case. The great majority of the audience, their true inward understanding of what is meant by gentleman, would say "It means the shape I am and a good shape it is." It is not the shape each man actually is, it is the shape he thinks he is or very much would like to be.

The word represents not of a fine kind of a man—one above the common. The idea of what a gentleman is must differ with all times and nations but in all times and all nations will be found a man who is the true ideal of that time. Along with the true gentleman is always found the make believe, mock gentleman. The first gives employment to the historian, the other to the humorist and caricaturist. The distinguishing difference between the two is that the gentleman-gentle man is always sure that he is one while the imitator, who calls himself a "gent" is sure he is gentle but not sure that he is a man. Huxley to the contrary, gentlemen may have existed before the advent of tailors. The lecturer then said that the reading of Genesis and the writings of Confucius give complete ideas of a gentleman in the time of Abraham and the great Chinese teacher, while the works of Plutarch have fixed for all time the Greek and Roman idea of a gentleman. The characteristics of each type were then named at length and in a manner that showed Mr. Crothers to be of no mean scholarship and to possess most acute powers of analysis.

The types of the middle ages were then shown. The savage with his club gave way to the knight with his sword. They made a new civilization possible. They were such men as fought with Charlemagne and followed Richard the Lion Hearted to Palestine. They may be thought of as mail clad robbers, but immediately comes a second thought, what great hearted robbers. Society as a whole has simply advanced. What once belonged to or distinguished the best now belongs to or distinguishes the baser sort. Time, that old clothes man, furnishes his customers many misfits. The old time gentleman stood alone, not only in the middle, but offered all to his lady. The sixteenth century marks the transition. The knight in armor disappears before gunpowder. Cervantes laughed him from Spain. In those days, had he been proficient in the three R's he would have been considered deficient in the three H's, hunting, hawking and homicide.

The evolution of a gentleman has been shown by the increase in occupations. In all ages men of fashion have mistaken themselves for gentlemen. They have been but the butterflies of different summers. The era of the true modern gentleman was ushered in by the democratic feeling of the equality of all men. Robert Burns sounded the knell of the old-fashioned article when he said "a man's a man for a' that."

A brief synopsis, from the nature of the lecture, can not do it justice nor show its beauties. It was replete with manifestations of a wide, broad and thorough scholarship, quaint humor, gentle sarcasms, trite sayings and ideas most poetic.

NEW DULUTH HAPPENINGS.

Items of Interest Regarding the Bustling Little Town.

NEW DULUTH, Jan. 7.—A large party of New Duluth young people spent a very pleasant evening at the St. Louis hotel Monday night. Dancing was indulged in until a late hour.

Mr. Beardsley is superintending the furnace which is being put in the school building. The building is having other improvements also.

The schools will open Monday. Leonard Sage, of the iron works, will soon leave for St. Joseph, Mo., where he will enter the employ of a wholesale hardware firm. New Duluth will be sorry to have him go.

Mr. Hurd, of the Hurd Refrigerator company, has returned from a short pleasure trip to his home at Ann Arbor.

Frank Herbert, of Iron River, has been in the village a few days on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Herbert.

Wm. Smith has returned to the state university, and Eddie Herman to Owatonna.

Miss Julia Mason returned yesterday having spent a pleasant vacation with her friends at Iron Mountain.

Christian Science. John Freeman Linscott, C. S. D., pastor of the Church of Christ (Scientists), of Denver, Col., will speak at the church, corner of Second street and First avenue east, at 3 p. m., tomorrow (Sunday). Mr. Linscott is an eloquent and forcible speaker and will clear away the misconception held by many toward Christian Science. He will remain in Duluth for four weeks preaching at this place every Sunday and instructing a class throughout the week. All are invited to give him a hearing.

TAXING RAILROAD LANDS.

The Bill to be introduced on Monday by Mr. Markham.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 7.—The taxation of the exempted railroad lands in this state, is to be at once brought to the attention of the legislature. The bill which the advocates of the measure will present and support, has been carefully redrawn from the original bill, which so narrowly failed of passage in the last legislature.

The original was drawn by Gillilan, Belden and Willard, of Minneapolis, and was approved, as to its legal bearings, by Atty.-Gen. Clapp and his assistant, now Atty.-Gen. Childs. The bill will be presented by J. M. Markham, of the Fifty-third district, as soon as the house reassembles on Monday. The first two sections read as follows:

Section 1. All lands in this state heretofore or hereafter granted by the state of Minnesota or the United States, or the territory of Minnesota to any railroad company shall be assessed and taxed as other lands are taxed in this state, except such parts of said lands as are held, used or occupied for right of way, gravel pits, side tracks, depots and all buildings and structures which are necessarily used in the actual management and operation of the railroads of said companies. Provided that said railroad companies shall continue to pay taxes into the state treasury upon their gross earnings in the same manner, and in the same amount as now provided by law; and that nothing in this act contained shall be construed to repeal said laws except in so far as the same relate to the tax upon said lands.

Sec. 2. Such portion or portions of any act or acts, general or special, of the state or territory of Minnesota heretofore enacted, which provides or attempts to provide for any exemption of lands hereby declared taxable, from taxation, or for any other method of taxing said last mentioned lands different from the method of taxing other lands in this state, or which are in any manner inconsistent with the provisions of this act, are hereby repealed.

It is further provided that this act shall be submitted to the people of the state for their approval or rejection at the general election in 1894. There is every indication that the companies interested will make a big fight against the passage of the bill. If they do there may result one of the most exciting contests of this or any other legislature, for the people have in convention shown their interest in the measure, and it will be backed by some of the strongest men in the legislature and in the state, and with no regard whatever to party lines.

IT PREYED ON HIS MIND.

Suicide of a Fireman, Whose Substitute Was Killed at a Fire.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 7.—Several years ago twelve firemen lost their lives in the Bowen-Merrill conflagration, among them Ulysses Glazier, who was working as a substitute on that particular day for Frank Harvey.

The killing of Glazier has since preyed on the mind of Harvey, who charged himself with the responsibility of his death, that he became insane and exhibited suicidal tendencies. Several days ago he was taken to the infirmary where yesterday he hanged himself with a sheet.

This is the sixteenth death traceable to the great conflagration, as three firemen died from chronic diseases caused by injuries received in the fire.

SUNDAY OPENING OF THE FAIR.

A Joint Resolution Introduced in the Illinois Legislature.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 7.—The question of Sunday opening of the World's fair is to receive attention at the hands of the Illinois legislature, according to a joint resolution introduced in the senate yesterday by Senator Johnson, of Cook county.

The resolution requests the representatives in congress from the state of Illinois to secure a modification of existing legislation respecting the exposition so as to permit opening on Sunday. The Illinois secretary of state is instructed to transmit a copy of the resolution to the members of congress from his state. The resolution went over under the rules.

ALTGELD IS RECOVERING.

Illinois' New Governor Has Had a Severe Bilious Fever.

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—Governor-elect Altgeld will not leave the city today for the state capital, as it was expected he would, not having sufficiently recovered from the cold and bilious fever with which he is suffering.

He hopes, however, to leave here Sunday and be in Springfield when the inaugural ceremonies take place. He has ventured from his room but once, since he took up his residence at the Palmer house one week ago.

New York Blocked.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Not since the terrible fall of snow five years ago has New York experienced a storm that so nearly resembled a regular Dakota blizzard as that which blew here Thursday night and yesterday. Traffic on Broadway has been almost suspended, while on some of the less prominent thoroughfares the blockade is complete. In some places the snow has drifted until it is from four to five feet deep.

Has Only One Ambition.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7.—W. W. Foote, whose attention was called by the report that there was a probability of his appointment to a cabinet position, said he had not heard of it, and could scarcely say whether or not he would accept such an appointment. His only ambition, he said, was to become a United States senator.

Fish Dealers Involved.

TOLLEDO, O., Jan. 7.—D. Y. Howell & Sons, one of the largest wholesale fish houses in the country, have been compelled to file chattel mortgages to the amount of $65,000 to secure the claims of various creditors. A receiver will be asked for. The firm is said to be involved in the failure of Wickham & Co., of Huron.

A Just Sentence.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Jan. 7.—A. B. Terwilliger, 15 year old, convicted of ravishing 16 year old Edna Clearwater, was sentenced yesterday to twenty years at hard labor in Clinton state prison.

MURDER IN OKLAHOMA

Frank K. McKennon, Formerly of Arkansas, Shot Down in Cold Blood on a Crowded Guthrie Street.

He Was One of the Leading Attorneys in Oklahoma and a Prominent Candidate for Governor.

The Awful Deed Committed by a Former Law Partner Who Gambled Away the Firm's Money.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Jan. 7.—Frank R. McKennon, formerly of Little Rock, Ark., but for the last three years one of the leading attorneys and capitalists of Oklahoma and a prominent candidate for governor, was shot down in cold blood on a crowded street yesterday afternoon by his former law partner, F. M. Beal, late of West Point, Miss.

Beal had gambled and dissipated, until McKennon compelled him to retire from the firm. A few days afterward it was discovered that Beal had gambled away several hundred dollars of the firm's money. Yesterday he and McKennon met on the street, and after talking a few moments, Beal drew his revolver and shot McKennon twice. They then grappled for a few seconds, but McKennon received another bullet and fell dead. Beal stooped over and fired another ball into the body of his victim. Bystanders rushed up and disarmed Beal and he was hurried off to jail. McKennon was dead when picked up. Beal has a handsome young wife. McKennon leaves three motherless children. Beal has made a statement that he shot in self defense, but a dozen witnesses say McKennon made no movement until shot, and he had no revolver on his person.

It also developed at the inquest last night that Beal had been hunting McKennon all day and making several threats to kill him.

OFFERED A BIG PURSE.

Dick Burge, the English Lightweight, Wants to Meet McAuliffe.

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Dick Burge, the English lightweight champion pugilist, has received an offer from a prominent New York sporting man, as representative of the new c.l.b. which is about to be arranged. The offer is for a purse of $10,000 to fight Austin Gibbons, or $12,500 to fight Billy Myers.

Burge, who has just returned from Montreal, has sent out word that he will entertain no propositions to meet any other man but McAuliffe, unless the American champion positively refuses to make a match.

CUT WITH A SHOE KNIFE.

Horrible Assault Committed by a Pennsylvania Shoemaker.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 7.—A serious cutting affray occurred here Thursday night at the shoe shop of Samuel Heffley. Heffley and Ross Balsley became engaged in a quarrel.

Heffley picked up a shoe knife and carved Balsley in a horrible manner. One of his ears and part of his nose were cut off, and the sight of one eye destroyed. The left cheek was slit from his mouth to his ear.

When discovered, Balsley was almost dead from loss of blood. He was taken to the Cottage hospital, where he lies in a critical condition. Both were intoxicated when the quarrel began. Heffley fled and has not yet been captured.

FROM RICHES TO POVERTY.

Sad Case of a Man Who Was Once a Millionaire.

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Charles North, who but three years ago was a millionaire pork packer and one of the strongest bidders for the Eastern trade against Armour and others of Chicago, was confined in the East Cambridge house of correction Tuesday and Wednesday for a debt of $702.

The surety was on an endorsed check for John Hopper, which was negotiated at the Hyannis bank. North neglected the matter and judgment was found against him. He could find no one among all his friends in his past prosperity who would go on his bail bond.

COVERS FOR SIX HUNDRED.

A Great Protective Tariff Banquet to be Given at McKinley's Home.

CANTON, O., Jan. 7.—At a meeting of the Canton Republican club last night officers for the ensuing year were installed and arrangements partly completed for the protective tariff banquet to be held on Feb. 23.

It is now thought certain that Gov. McKinley, ex-Governor Foraker, ex-Speaker Reed and Senator Sherman will be among the notables present. Covers for 600 will be laid.

MAJ. BALDWIN'S WORK.

Interesting Himself in the Relief Bill For Mille Lacs Settlers.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Representative-elect Baldwin of Duluth, has been interesting himself in the relief bill for citizens who settled in the Mille Lacs reservation, and has about got things in shape so the bill can be put through the house.

Mr. Baldwin has also been busy working up minor matters in the departments that have been neglected by the representative of his district during the past two years.

THE BRIDE'S HISTORY

Some Details Concerning the Birth and Early Career of the Latest Addition to Duluth's Family.

How Lakeside First Appeared as a Village and Gradually Grew Into a Full Fledged City.

William C. Sargent Was the First President and the First Mayor and E. C. Little the Last.

Duluth and Lakeside have settled down quickly in the quiet grooves of every day life and may be found "at home" six days in the week from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. in the city hall. Aside from a few hasty criticisms from a few kickers on the street car service between Lakeside and her leige lord, all is moving along smoothly. Frank Burke has burned all of the blushing bride's old love letters, Janitor O'Brien keeps up nice, comfortable steam heat, the boys call on the couple informally and whenever they feel like it and the only thing left unsatisfied is the curiosity of those who cannot lay claim to the title of "fish eaters" as to who is this handsome bride, how old is she, and what is her personal history in the past. To satisfy all curiosity and interest of those who desire information, The Herald has gathered together, with the valued assistance of E. C. Little, some material on those points.

Under the general law in May, 1889, Lakeside was incorporated as a village. At the election held to decide whether to incorporate or not to incorporate, Geo. Hawksworth's store, near London station, was used for a voting place. Shortly after, a meeting was held in London school house for the purpose of nominating officers. The plums fell to the following: Wm. C. Sargent, president; C. F. West, recorder; F. Blackman, treasurer; E. C. Little, F. A. Clarkson, H. M. Myers, trustees. A week or two subsequently those nominations were ratified at an election held in the little old, red school house in Oxford street.

At the first meeting of the newly-born council A. H. H. was chosen as village attorney. The city fathers then got down to business. The streets and avenues in London addition were cleared and several miles of sidewalk constructed. A lack of funds greatly hampered movements for the improvement of the village, for at the time of the separation of the townsite from the township of St. Louis that spring the taxes levied the previous year were appropriated by the township officers. That compelled the village council to the orders of their municipality carried at the banks, the members of the council putting up their personal notes as collateral.

In 1890, W. C. Sargent was re-elected president of the council, S. R. Norris was recorder, E. G. Burger, treasurer, E. C. Little, F. A. Clarkson and H. M. Brown were the honors as village trustees. A. H. Craswell succeeded himself as village attorney. That year a sewer system was laid out for the whole village at a cost of about $200,000, and sewers constructed for the entire length of London road and several shorter streets, at a cost of forty or fifty thousand dollars, paid by special assessments. The latter provided for the payment of a limit of two per cent. Owing to that and to the fact that the taxes were raised on an assessment made when Lester Park was all wild land and given a valuation of only $25 per acre, only about $400000 of the village treasury was available from small amounts paid on special assessments that sum was all the money received by the village from the time of its incorporation in May, 1889, until May, 1891, the balance of the money expended, amounting at one time to nearly $500,000, under an arrangement with the city council, was carried by the bank, security being given with the personal notes of the village fathers.

In the fall of 1890, at a meeting held by the citizens, it was decided to apply to the legislature for a city charter. In response to instructions given at the meeting, Village Attorney Craswell drafted a charter which was subsequently submitted to the citizens and approved. The project was opposed by Duluth. When the matter came before the legislature, a three-cornered discussion between Duluth, West Duluth and Lakeside ensued as to whether the two villages should have city charters. A hard fight, West Duluth was compelled to put up with a general law made to fit her special case, while Lakeside secured her charter and the dignity of a city at least in name.

In 1891, the city council was made up as follows: Mayor, W. C. Sargent; treasurer, H. S. Moody; recorder, E. C. Little; aldermen, Jay M. Smith and C. E. Lovett; city attorney, A. H. Craswell. Important street improvements were at once commenced. A fire hall was constructed and supplied with all modern apparatus and appliances for fighting the flames. An electric fire alarm similar to the one in use in Duluth was added to all other improvements.

In 1892, W. C. Sargent again became mayor, S. R. Norris recorder, H. S. Moody treasurer, and E. C. Little, J. K. Persons and C. E. Judd aldermen. A. H. Craswell was again presented with the position of city attorney. In a short time, however, S. R. Norris resigned his office and W. A. Kennedy was chosen to fill the vacancy. That was followed by the resignation of Wm. C. Sargent from the office of mayor, as the result of his prospective interests in the new street railway. E. C. Little took up the baton, title and duties of mayor, while S. H. Rothermel succeeded him as alderman. During 1892 about seven miles of new streets were also macadamized and the amount expended by the Lakeside Light & Wm. C. Sargent. That institution has put in a complete water supply system with about three miles of mains.

When Lakeside was first incorporated a combination smoker and baggage car, running half a dozen times a day on the Duluth & Iron Range railway, provided ample accommodations for the passenger traffic between the village and the city of Duluth. Then the time came when trains were running sixteen times a day each way. At length those accommodations proved insufficient for the increased travel and as a result, the present street car line through the energy and indomitable perseverance of W. C. Sargent, was constructed. Cars are now running to Lakeside every twelve minutes and the amount of travel will soon compel a six minute service.

Upon her union with Duluth, the young bride of Lakeside has brought as her dowry a thriving population of 2000 souls and some of the most handsome and comfortable homes to be found in the Zenith city. Better than all that, henceforth they will be found foremost in all measures looking to the upbuilding prosperity and glory of the matchless, city of Duluth.

ALEXANDER SALVINI.
He Achieves a Great Triumph in Duluth in "Don Caesar de Bazan."

Last night's audience was one of the finest and most fashionable that the Temple has seen this year, and proved to be one of the most enthusiastic for Alexander Salvini's work captured everyone. The romantic drama has been on the decline for some years, but Salvini is reviving it and in him is found an actor with the particular and peculiar abilities necessary. He has all the fire, dash, gallantry and impulse which were supposed to be the characteristics of the old knights of chivalry. In "Don Caesar de Bazan" he finds a role which gives him magnificent opportunity for the display of these particular characteristics. The play itself is admirable. The story is finely wrought out, the climaxes are strong and the auditor is always in a state of anxiety to know what is coming next. The comedy is sharp and bright and is most excellently brought out by Salvini. His change from the sublime to the ridiculous, are so quick that they are startling, are truly wonderful. He is a skilled fencer, too, and displayed it well in his contest with the guards. No one can see the younger Salvini and not feel that the genius of his remarkable father which has brought the world to his feet, has descended to his son.

Salvini's support is all that such an actor should have. Miss Judith Berolde, a Maritana street singer, after ward the wife of Don Caesar, has a trying role but carries it with remarkable force and feeling. There is a great deal dependent upon her but she is equal to it and combined with his talent has a pleasing stage presence. Maud Dixon as Lazarillo and Augusta de Forrest as the Marchioness are good. William Redmond is a finished actor and aids the star materially by his excellent impersonation of Charles II of Spain. William Ranous as Don Jose and Ben Johnson as the marquis are also entitled to credit. Tonight "The Three Guardsmen" will be produced. As Salvini presents the play, it is a beautiful picture of the time of the weak and fickle Louis XIII's reign and his work has received the highest commendations from the critics.

SENATION IN WISCONSIN.

Serious Charges Against the Superintendent of an Asylum.

DODGEVILLE, Wis., Jan. 7.—A sensation was sprung on the county board here yesterday by Henry Foltz, of Highland, preferring charges against the superintendent of the Iowa county insane asylum specifying cruel treatment.

One of the many charges is that the superintendent took hold of one of the female patients and stood her on her head in a wash tub full of soap suds, because she broke a wash board.

Another charge is that in a passion he pushed a female down stairs and she fell to the bottom and was greatly injured, that he frequently deprived them of food as a punishment. A committee was appointed to investigate the whole matter by sending for witnesses. There are numerous charges.

Still Dissatisfied.

The Most Sensitive Teeth Filled Without Pain Or Danger.

Whereas, Dr. Hale is the inventor of what is known as the Hale method for filling sensitive teeth without pain; and, whereas, many dentists over the country avail themselves of this method, one in each city only being permitted to use the same; and, whereas, other unathorized and unscrupulous imitators make claim to be in possession of this method, or similar or better method of their own, by imitating, advertising and seeking in a public manner to detract from and build up on the reputation established by me since my location in the city;

THEREFORE, I wish it distinctly understood that I am the only dentist lawfully authorized to use the Hale Method in this city, imitators to the contrary notwithstanding.

What They Say.

Read the following testimonials from a few of the best dentists throughout the country; others might here be given, but they are all of the same tenor:

PROVIDENCE, R. I., October 10th.
Owing to pressure of business I have neglected replying to your note of inquiry in reference to my success with your method for painless extracting. I cannot well express the satisfaction it has given me from the first; and as its value becomes more generally known, it will be used by all dentists—if they are fortunate enough in getting hold of it. You are at liberty to use my name, and to say that I regard your method of greater worth to both patient and dentist than anything yet offered to the profession.
W. H. TILLINGHAST, D. D. S.

WEST BEND, Wis., November 25th.
Your letter of October 25th received. You know already what I think of the Hale method, but if it will do you any good, will say that I am tickled all over with its success, not alone as a pain obtunder, but as a money producer as well. All hail to the new method! Let the good work go on.
W. E. WOLFRUM, D. D. S.

TERRE HAVEN, Ind., October 7th.
Your process for preparing teeth for filling without pain is most satisfactory to my patients and to me. I can now prepare any cavity for gold, no matter how sensitive the tooth. Have already doubled my practice through its use, and without any advertising, except a line in the daily papers.
C. F. WILLIAMS, D. D. S.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., November 1, 1892.
I have your letter in which you ask for my candid opinion of the value of the Hale method in my practice. I have used the method for more than a year, as you know, and am very glad of the opportunity to say that it has fulfilled every promise you made to me concerning it. I am now filling all teeth absolutely without pain, and I wish to thank you for the wonderful discovery. You are at liberty to refer to me anyone who is at all skeptical regarding its efficiency and value in a dental practice.
J. M. COMEY, M. D.

LYNN, Mass., July 30th.
You can write anything you wish for me in commendation of your remedies for painless filling, and sign my name. You have completely solved the most difficult problem in dental practice, and both fame and fortune stare you in the face.
W. J. VERBE.

JOLIET, Ill., Oct. 25th.
After four months' use of your painless method in our office, we take much pleasure in saying that we have yet to see it make its initial failure. It "does the business" precisely as you claim for it, and the man who buys the Method should order two or three extra dental chairs at the same time. Refer any and all to us at any time.

IS DAVIS IN DANGER STILL?

A Claim That His Election Is Not a Certainty.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 7.—The Journal says that danger still exists that Senator Davis will be defeated in the legislature, and that for this reason he has postponed his return to Washington. The Journal says:

To the outsiders it begins to look as if the senator himself was not so certain of the result of the balloting on the 17th, and does not consider a margin of four in a body that has a bona fide Republican majority of 26 anything to be counted upon with unerring certainty. "There's many a slip betwixt the cup and the lip" in politics, and while a very pronounced majority of Republicans in Minnesota desire Davis to be his own successor, it is useless to deny that the caucus of Wednesday night came very near being a failure, and that for an hour or more before it was finally called to order nobody was willing to wager that it would be held.

At the head and front of Davis' opposition are placed, by common consent, Lieut. Gov. D. M. Cough and H. F. Brown, both of Minneapolis. These gentlemen are understood to have discouraged a caucus in all ways possible, and to be more or less publicly advocating the election of Gov. Nelson to the senate. Really, it is said the two Minneapolis men are campaigning in the interest of Merriam with whom they are on terms of great intimacy, but Merriam's name is not mentioned, and the plan is to side track Davis and give Merriam a chance to defeat Washburn in 1894. It is said that in two years it will not be so difficult to defeat Washburn as to elect a Republican legislature to name his successor. But Merriam is willing to take his chances, or to be elected to the senate now, in case Davis is defeated, and the offer comes in a way that can be explained to the people.

But the scheme is not to elect Merriam this year, unless it should appear the only thing to do. That would interfere with the lieutenant governor who is credited with a strong desire to be governor of the state. If Nelson succeeds Davis, Cough would at once become governor. The point is made that he never will carry a state convention for governor, in the face of the opposition and rivalry of older and better known politicians, who have more of a claim upon the party. He realizes this, and so prefers to take the executive chair on a vacancy. Such a plan would be inexpensive and would save the labor and worry of a long campaign, involving a possible defeat.

To Meet Dr. McGlynn.
NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Dr. McGlynn has accepted an invitation to meet a number of Protestant ministers at the house of Dr. Funk, the well known prohibition leader, next Tuesday evening. Dr. Funk said yesterday: "There is no significance in this reception with regard to Dr. McGlynn's views on the single tax question or his recent restoration. It is merely to give Protestant clergymen a chance to shake hands with him."

Labor Directory.

The directory committee of the Trades assembly consider themselves fortunate in securing an article from the pen of Eva McDonald-Valeish. The following letter from her shows interest in the work.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 7, 1892.

James McDowell, president Trades assembly, Duluth, Minn.:
Dear sir: In reply to yours of the 1st inst, I see that the Trades assemblies are gathering material for a labor directory for your vicinity. I have seen those published in Chicago, St. Louis and other cities and think the one gotten out for the Twin cities was fully as good as any ever published. The people were much interested in it and the edition was so soon exhausted that not a stray copy can be found now. Before the directory was published in book form, it was almost impossible to keep track of the labor unions and their officers. Now we have the information in a most convenient shape, and incidentally a list of business houses who are considered friendly to industrial interests and therefore worthy of patronage.

In regard to your request for a special article. I am very busy, but will consider it a pleasure to write something for my many friends in Duluth and West Superior. Respectfully,
EVA McDONALD-VALEISH.

IS TRANSFERRED BACK

Berringer Lease of the Biwabik Has Been Returned to Dr. J. A. Crowell, of Michigan.

Longyear Operations at the Head of Lake Embarrass Have Been Suspended Until Spring.

A New Find in 59-15 Near Merritt—Great Western Sale of Forty Acres Falls Through.

News of an important mining deal consummated about two weeks ago has just leaked out, says the Mesaba Range. It is no less than the transfer of the Berringer lease of the Biwabik forty back to Dr. J. A. Crowell, of Iron Mountain, Mich. The Biwabik Ore company purchased this lease from Dr. Crowell and others about three months ago, and it is understood that the terms of the recent transfer was the return of the purchase price with interest at the rate of 7 per cent. Whether Dr. Crowell has others behind him in the deal is not known, but he was the individual who paid the money. A crew of testpitters commenced work on the forty Tuesday, and it is evidently the purpose of the new owner to thoroughly explore the property.

The Longyear Operations. The Longyear operations at the head of Lake Embarrass have been suspended until spring. Last week the drill broke and after futile efforts to extricate the portion of the drill left in the hole it was decided to abandon the project and start a fresh hole in the spring. Besides piping, about $700 worth of diamonds are lost. The hole is down 700 feet and Supt. E. J. Longyear says that the last 300 feet runs through a mixed ore and jasper, several thin streaks of ore appearing to be of very good quality. It is believed by Mr. Longyear that a bed of paying ore will yet be found deeper down, and if this theory proves correct it will thoroughly explode the prevalent idea that the ore is only to be found near the surface. And the finding of mixed ore and jasper under 400 feet of cove ing would indicate that Mr. Longyear's theory may be the correct one. At any rate he has sufficient faith to continue drilling until he satisfies his own mind.

New Find Near Merritt. D. D. Murphy, who recently secured an option on 59-15, section four, miles northeast of Merritt, has had a crew of men operating there with a churn drill during three weeks past. He reports that the drill is down twenty feet and in five feet of fine looking ore. Assays are now being made. Should the results of drilling prove favorable Mr. Murphy will begin test pitting in the near future.

Will Not Sell. The directors of the Great Western Mining company have decided not to sell the forty acres which it was some time ago announced would be taken by W. J. Ranney, of Cleveland, for $300,000. They claim that subsequent developments have greatly increased the value of the forty and that it is unwise to dispose of it at that figure. Thirteen test pits are down in ore.

Minong Mining Company. The Minong Mining company held a meeting in Superior, Thursday, and elected the following officers: F. E. Kennedy, president; J. B. Keyes, of Duluth, vice president; C. P. Frank, of Duluth, secretary and treasurer; H. C. Souffer, general manager. The above are also directors together with E. Evans and W. E. Cash. The articles of incorporation have been filed in Washburn county.

This company is developing lands about forty miles south of Superior. Late last night Mr. Kennedy received word that the mine was down forty feet and solid iron ore had been struck. A meeting of the directors will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock as a result of the find. Some action toward further developing the mine will be taken.

Other Mining Notes. D. A. Ross, with a crew of men, commenced excavations for a water reservoir on the Cincinnati property yesterday. It is intended to draw the supply from a large spring to the north of the workings. Civil Engineer Thorne finds that there will be a fall of 38 feet, which will give plenty of pressure. The land all around the mine is being cleared of underbrush to prevent fires from running next summer. The work of raising the timbers of one of the new shaft houses will commence next week. The new office will also be occupied next week and carpenters are at work transforming the old office into a laboratory.

G. M. Buckley, who is superintending explorations for John B. Weimer in 58-17, was in town this week. He reports that last week three pits were sunk in fire ore on the south forty of the Virginia. This was the first attempt ever made to explore that forty and results are very encouraging. Mr. Buckley says the Ohio and Virginia have both doubled in value during the past month.

John B. Weimer, who has been conducting explorations on the 64 of section 23, 58-17, closed down last week on account of the prevalence of water. Work will be resumed in the spring.

Just then several more people came in and the reporter took his leave greatly impressed with the importance of what he had seen both to the dental profession and to the people at large.

DULUTH BUSINESS UNIVERSITY

Has Opened for the New Year With a Large Attendance—No Business College in America Can Boast of Parallel Success.

Success was the motto that inspired the proprietors of this noted commercial college and institute of stenography when they opened its doors on Sept. 12, 1892. Since the first day of its existence in this city it has been steadily and surely growing in public favor until today it is known and regarded as the best equipped and most reliable school of its kind in the Northwest. Its graduates are foremost in securing and retaining the best paying positions and are enthusiastic in sounding its praises and acknowledging their success to the thorough training received within its walls.

The steady increase in attendance leads the proprietors to believe that they will soon have to seek new and larger apartments. The most successful opening in the history of the college occurred during the past week. The following students were enrolled since Monday, Jan. 2: S. G. Harn, Ed. Twomey, Peter Weimer, Emil Mark, James Colford, J. H. O'Neil, Everest Gaskell, John McNeil, Laura Stewart, R. H. Rathbun, J. E. Lundmark, J. E. Cotter, Frank H. Huse, James Lake, Adam Weir, Lincoln Nevin, Felix McCue, Gustave Gulbrenson, Anna Hanson, R. C. Gregg, Blanche Forsythe, John Lynch, B. F. Tenney, Mike Lapanta, Frank Thompson, Geo. O'Brien, C. S. Manning, Myliss Ross, M. M. McDonald, T. J. McCleagh, Nellie Phelps.

A large number who could not conveniently enter during the past week have arranged to enter on Monday, Jan. 9. This will be an excellent date to enter as new classes will be organized to accommodate those who have already arranged to enter. Remember the location, 105-107 West Superior street. NYE ON THE NEW YEAR

William Thinks That it is Not Well to be Too Much of a "Jolly Dog."

The Landlord Who Ran a Hotel at Hurley, and Something About That Pious Place.

A Pair of Very Newly Wedded People That William Once Met in a Pullman Car.

The new year brings with it many hopes and fears, joy and regret—hopes and fears for the future, joy and regret for the past. A great French philosopher says that after forty years we should be very grateful if we are not absolutely and com-

TICKETS

"NO SEATS, I SAY!" stantly unhappy. This ought to annoy up those who are only unhappy every four years or every alternate four years.

I like to sit down on the first day of every year for a few moments and think over the good I have done. It does not take long. I can mostly attend to it before breakfast. Then I can attend to my regrets for duties unperformed during the rest of the day. But I am a poor regretter and soon tire of this.

The glad new year should be more wisely used. We should only regret just enough to chastise ourselves, and then with a firm and rigid upper lip proceed to do better. Some people do not allow their sorrows to heal, but keep them open, torn and bleeding, just as weak and cowardly soldiers sometimes create and maintain ghastly sores in order to avoid a coming battle. We must cheerfully go forth to meet our duty with each returning year, and the home is the best place to investigate a man's efforts. There are a good many "jolly dogs" in this world, but as Gretchen says: "Did you ever see the wife of a jolly dog? She sleeps in a kennel. Did you ever see the children of a jolly dog? They are the curs of the street."

So the jolly dog may be as bad as the malignant regretter. Let us therefore not overdo the jolly dog business with strangers and exhaust ourselves, so that at home we may be more civil.

Parlor me for the first time on the glad new year, but there ought to be one day in each year when we can put our past out on the line and look it over and pound it with a broom to knock out the harvest of selfishness and unkindness.

Enough of the glad new year.

Last evening there was a pathetic scene at the box office in Paris, where we spoke for the benefit of a thirty church society under the auspices of the ladies committee. As usual in such cases, the seats were sold the day before. Paris generally is regarded as the wickedest and most immoral city in the world, but Paris, Ill., should not be confused with Paris, France.

We came at noon and registered at the Hotel Bristol, on the Place Vendôme—pronounced Plass Vendome—and in the evening we began our prayer meeting, it being Wednesday evening. At 9 o'clock a tired man, with tall, heavy boots and the sad air of one who had been thirty years trying to prove that agriculture was one of the most delightful occupations known to humanity, asked the man at the box office window for a good seat.

"If you had been here yesterday," said the ticket seller, "you could have bought a seat, but not today."

"Sir?" said the man.

"Seats all sold yesterday," was the gentle reply.

"I didn't hear what you said," answered the old gentleman, unrolling his cane and placing a hand with a red mitten on it behind the ear.

"No seats, I say!" was the hurried answer in a loud tone.

"Not even in the orchestra?"

"No!"

"Whimsy?"

"Well, that's me all over. Come fourteen miles over a road that's froze tighter than the top of a new bile, and can't hear nothing over eight feet to save my life, and got to buy standing room. Louisiana and the girls has got the laugh on me this time."

Much has been printed throughout the United States regarding the condition of society at Hurley, Wis. Probably some of it is true. It is said that the people there are mostly miners who have been imported from abroad under contract. Some of them were caught in Poland alive, and others were snared in Russia. They talk their own language, drink alcohol when depressed mentally and chew tobacco in the English language.

Several times the world has been startled by the news that a large stockade had been established in a forest a few miles from Hurley, and that young girls were being kidnaped from Chicago to be locked up in these stockades to lead wicked lives or be cruelly slain and buried at midnight in the asparagus bed adjoining the prison. It was a sad tale and aroused much sympathy, but later information shows that these girls were kidnaped from Boiler avenue, and that they also hung on the flank of the Union army during the war. They have therefore arrived at the age of discretion. If they did not care to be kidnaped they could have gone right away from there.

Womet retired landlady from Hurley on the train to Alpena the other day. He was a handsome young fellow of Irish birth and was dressed in purple and fine linen. He also wore a high silk hat, with a broad band on it, and his golden hair seemed to have caught the gleam of a dying day in October. He was just the kind of man to make a low, dirty, drunken, importunate, murderer and, he looked so cool and clean and sweet.

He had been at Hurley running a hotel. He had worn a white vest one day last summer to market, also a tall hat. He did not get his marketing, but he got a wealth of tobacco juice on his white vest, and his hat was found on the roof of the opera house after ten days had sped on winged wings.

Hurley has seven or eight opera houses which are open every day in the year. The audiences are entirely men folks, and opera glasses are not called for. The Sabbath is set aside as a day for recovering from the Saturday night delirium, but the recovery also requires Monday, and even Tuesday forenoon. The Hurley jag has a worldwide reputation and speaks for itself.

Social matinees are held in the morning to accommodate the miners who work at night and cannot see society except in the daytime. Men wear their hats and smoke Cable tobacco—i. e., tobacco that one can smoke in Wisconsin and snuff in Europe. Wearing their hats at these theatrical performances is a cheap imitation of the custom among ill-mannered ladies, but the tobacco habit they have picked up out of their own heads.

The opera is in the line of comic opera and consists of varied specialties and is played by artists who wear thin property clothes on the street, and their lights when on the stage show how high their boot legs come when they are dressed for the street.

The girl who sings about the picture that was turned toward the wall has an Arabian nose, through which she sings a sad lay. She stands on the outside of her feet as she warbles, and there are traces of sadness on her face, also traces of iron ore around her waist. Possibly some one has loved her—some man under the influence of drink, I mean—and with his iron covered arm has clasped her one and one, only to be repulsed impatiently by those thoughtless words, "Oh, go and chase yourself!"

And so he has gone away, leaving her there alone to face all those people and sing and try to be gay. Girls ought to be more careful what they say to men who are intoxicated.

I once knew of a young lady who told a man to avant under those circumstances, and now, although she is happy and wealthy, she is an old maid.

How much better it is to have some one you can call your own, no matter how worthless and low, than to be an old maid!

Hurley is gay and lively with its foreign tongues heard here and there, the merry music of the orchestra of the nearest theater and the dull thud that strikes one's ear as he is richly repaid for wearing eyeglasses on the street or wiping his nose with a handkerchief.

I can imagine a sweet voiced opera girl elocutionist reading one of Browning's poems here to these great, strong, manly fellows who never shirked who ever they happen to spring up, and who drink to excess.

We did not play Hurley.

I would not mind playing the Siberian tallow candle circuit, but Hurley does not appreciate real art.

Opposite to us one day in a Pullman there was a pair of newly wedded people. I was reading, but the story was too tedious for me, treating of tin canisters and one thing or another, and of living for a purpose, and of getting a firm grasp on the tail of the age in which we live, and so forth, and thus I sort of listened to the light and chitney talk of the two sweet things cuddled up there together, with her little gray gloves hand now and then gliding through his whiskers in such a way as to make him feel that he was one great solid mass of whiskers, whereas he only had little "sisters," which looked like ear muffs that had worked forward.

"And so we go to New Orleans, Ambrose," she asked as she opened her new traveling bag and took out a new cake of soap to sniff at.

"Yes," said Ambrose, smiling at the too of his new boot, which was hurting him, I judge, "we take the Q. and C. from Cincinnati, or we take the luxurious Illinois Central, which has such comfortable little depots all along its line, and we will spend a week in New Orleans."

"And what is New Orleans like, Ambrose?" she asked in a shy way, nestling her head under his arm, with her nose in his cigar pocket.

"New Orleans is an old city of the south," he said, "with crocodiles and crocodiles in it, and a shell road, so called because the two armies shelled each other along that road in the war."

"New Orleans," he said, looking hastily at his cuff, "is also a great sugar market for the plantations along the river."

"Oh, how sweet!" she said. "We will go out to a plantation where they are making sugar, and we will make wax sugar. Did you ever eat any of that, Ambrose?"

"No. What is it?"

"Why, you just take the hot sugar, you know, and pour it on the snow. It is real good."

She will make a good wife to him, I am sure, and will order things from the market. She will order her croquettes by the set and live for weeks on purple cold slaw because it matches the tablecloth.

But Ambrose will not care—that is, for three or four weeks—and then he will have the colic some night, and she will talk to him about his heart and how to keep it ever true to her, when it is not his heart that is hurting him at all, and she will put a beautiful pale blue night-shirt on him to roll on the floor in till the doctor comes, and the doctor will, after he has heard the history of the case, take her aside and tell her if she really does love Ambrose she had better get goods that will match his interior decorations instead of the tablecloth, and he will recover, and by and by they will accidentally know something.

THE NEWLY WEDDED PAIR.

"Yes," said Ambrose, smiling at the too of his new boot, which was hurting him, I judge, "we take the Q. and C. from Cincinnati, or we take the luxurious Illinois Central, which has such comfortable little depots all along its line, and we will spend a week in New Orleans."

"And what is New Orleans like, Ambrose?" she asked in a shy way, nestling her head under his arm, with her nose in his cigar pocket.

"New Orleans is an old city of the south," he said, "with crocodiles and crocodiles in it, and a shell road, so called because the two armies shelled each other along that road in the war."

"New Orleans," he said, looking hastily at his cuff, "is also a great sugar market for the plantations along the river."

THE LIBRARY TABLE

In Point of Excellence, the January Magazines Are Equal to Any Numbers Last Year.

Articles by Noted Writers Cover a Wide Range of Subjects in the North American Review.

Large Cash Prizes for Essays on the Immigration Question Are Offered by Public Opinion.

The North American Review for January is a notable number, containing contributions of exceptional interest from distinguished writers and covering a wide range of timely subjects. The opening article, "Should Immigration be Suspended?" is by Senator Chandler, of New Hampshire, whose position as chairman of senate committee on immigration gives him the right to speak as one having authority. After summing up the case in favor of the restriction of immigration he considers and answers the arguments of those who are opposed to that course. Bishop Coleman, of Delaware, in a thoughtful and temperate yet vigorous article, defines the "Limits of Legitimate Religious Discussion," and contends that any discussion which involves disrespect to the fundamental principles of religion transcends its proper bounds. No one is better qualified to speak of "Insomnia," than Dr. William A. Hammond, whose article on the subject is exceedingly interesting and instructive.

The question "Does the Republican Party Need Reorganization?" is authoritatively answered by Senator Dolph, of Oregon, in a concise and suggestive article. Two thoughtful papers, one by David Dudley Field on "Industrial Co-operation," and the other by Oren B. Taft on "Labor Organizations in Law," contain some practical suggestions for "Solutions of the Labor Problem." Mrs. Amelia E. Barr presents the case against "Flirting Wives" in a striking article, and is followed by Professor Keller, who treats the subject of "High Caste Indian Magic" in a most entertaining manner. "A Bible Lesson for Mr. Herbert Spencer" is from the pen of Gail Hamilton. In "Our City Vigilance League" the Rev. Dr. Parkhurst describes the principles and purposes of that organization, setting forth its methods of working and its hopes for the future. The longest article in the number is entitled "Political Organizations in England and the United States," and is written by James Bryce, M. P.

Public Opinion, the eclectic weekly, of Washington, D. C., which has made a feature of offering liberal cash prizes for the best essays on prominent topics, has just announced three cash prizes of $150, $100, and $50, respectively, for the best three essays upon the question "What, if any, changes in the present immigration laws are expedient?" The contest is open to any one and full particulars may be had by addressing Public Opinion, Washington, D. C.

The Argonaut of January 2 contains a very readable paper made up of extracts from Marion Crawford's new novel, "Don Orsino." It is entitled "The Boom in Rome," and tells of the fever of real estate speculation which brought wealth to some and beggared many of the great old families of Rome. Other extracts describe the ceremonies of the Papal Jubilee in 1890, and others again give a graphic account of the Roman year, the cycle of the seasons and their effect on the inhabitants of the Eternal City.

The Review of Reviews for January contains a galaxy of brilliant attractions. It may well claim to be the most amazingly up to date and comprehensive of the most thoroughly alive magazines ever published in the world. Its great and brilliant illustrations of President Diaz and the people and country written in the City of Mexico since that gentleman's inauguration for the new term, early in December; and the photographs for illustration were taken exclusively by the Review of Reviews, in the City of Mexico in December.

In view of the certainty of cholera next summer, the most sensational and interesting article of the month is the one the Review has secured from Paris on the successful treatment invented at the Pasteur institute for inoculation against Asiatic cholera. This number contains a fine little sketch of F. Marion Crawford, the novelist, a profoundly interesting article on the latest results of the University Extension movement in the United States, and scores upon scores of attractive pictures of the most interesting people of the day—politicians, theologians, literary men, distinguished women, and so on. If anybody is at a loss to know why the Review of Reviews has attained so extraordinary a circulation in so short a time, let him buy and read the January number and he will understand.

Few volumes of criticism receive or merit the kind of praise which the best authorities concur in bestowing on Mr. Stedman's new book, "The Nature and Elements of Poetry."

The prosperous Magazine of American History opens its twenty-ninth volume with an attractive January number. The leading article is by Edward F. Delancey, describing "The Columbian Celebration of 1793, the first in the United States." It is curiously interesting to discover, at this late day, that the Tammany society of New York celebrated the third anniversary of the landing of Columbus, and exhibited an illuminated monument in honor of the great navigator. O. O. of the toasts at the unique festival one hundred years ago was "May the New World never experience the vicissitudes and miseries of the Old." Among the numerous illustrations in Mr. Delancey's article is a fine picture of old Tammany Hall in 1830, the same building now occupied by the New York Sun, and a charming view of Genoa looking east. The departments are admirably filled this month, and there are five pages of important book notices. This magazine is edited with remarkable skill, as shown in its choice of precious material for permanent preservation. Subscription price, $5.00 a year. Published at 743 Broadway, New York.

The Indians are fortunate in one thing—the admirable figure they make in "The Song of the Ancient People," just published. Miss Proctor's poem, Mr. Fiske's introduction, Mr. Cushing's commentary and Julian Scott's colored pictures, make a book whose contents are worthy of the exquisite work put into the volume by the Riverside Press.

Christine Nilsson, the famous songstress who now lives in a palatial house in Paris, has prepared for publication a careful and explicit article of suggestions on the voice, which the Ladies Home Journal will shortly print under the title "The Study of the Voice."

The January number of the Atlantic Monthly, now entering upon its thirty-sixth year, is rich in interesting articles. Chief among these is a paper of great value by Sherman S. Rogers, on "George William Curtis and Civil Service Reform." Other articles of special interest are John Fisk's estimate of Edward Augustus Freeman, the English historian; the opening installment of Mary Hartwell Catherwood's "Old Kaskaskia," a story of the Illinois trading town in the early part of this century; the first of two papers by Francis Parkman on "The Feudal Chiefs of Acadia," and the beginning of Kate Douglas Wiggin's story, "Penelope's English Experiences." There are also papers by Edwin Lasseter Bunker, Frank Boies, Isabel F. Hapgood, Harriet Waters Preston and Louise Dodge, E. P. Evans and Ednah Proctor, Clark, who contributes the only poem in this number.

A handsome illustrated pamphlet, giving an account of the resources and interests of Southern California has been received at this office. The work is issued by Rand & McNally, of Chicago, and contains some fine work in the way of half-tone engravings and an excellent map of the section. Anyone who is interested in the land of oranges and olives, and desires a copy of this book can secure one by writing to the secretary of the bureau of information, Los Angeles, Cal., and enclosing a 2-cent postage stamp. The book treats of such subjects as the following: The semitropic climate, methods of irrigation, growing of the orange and lemon, California grapes and olive orchards, walnut and the almond, stock-raising in California, beet sugar manufacture, etc. It cannot fail to interest all who have ever visited California, or who expect at any time to journey to that interesting country.

Nathaniel Hawthorne's only surviving daughter, Mrs. Rose Hawthorne Lathrop, has written an article for the Ladies Home Journal, in which she will describe "My Father's Literary Methods."

The complete novel of Lippincott's "A Pacific Encounter," by Mary E. Stickney, is a pleasant tale of emotional adventures, matrimonial aspirations, and misunderstandings which occur on the good Southern Cross on the voyage from Panama to San Francisco. It is illustrated. The athletic series is continued in an illustrated article, on "Foil and Fencing," by Eugene Van Schaick, captain of the Manhattan Athletic club. There are three semi-biographical sketches, one, illustrated, by Colin Campbell Cooper, on "A Spanish Painter" (Velazquez); one, by Ellizabeth Ballister Bates, on "An Old-Time Philadelphian" (Capt. Charles Biddle, 1745-1831); and another, by Alfred Stoddard, on "An Actor" (Sydney Howard Armstrong). The two latter are accompanied by portraits. A chapter of Mrs. M. E. W. Sherwood's reminiscences is headed "In War Time," and the number is by Ina Lillian Peterson, Carrie Blake Morgan, W. L. Shoemaker, Professor Charles G. D. Roberts and William H. Havne.

Dr. S. R. Holden will open dental offices next Wednesday, Jan. 11, 1893, at 302 Burrows building. Crown and bridge work a specialty.

It is our earnest desire to impress upon the minds of the public the superiority of the service offered by the Wisconsin lines to Milwaukee, Chicago and all points East and South. Two fast trains leave St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth daily, equipped with Pullman vestibuled drawing room sleepers, dining cars and coaches of the latest design. Its dining car service is unsurpassed, which accounts to a great degree for the popularity of this line. The Wisconsin Central lines, in connection with Northern Pacific railroad, is the only line from Pullman vestibuled, first-class and Pullman tourist cars are operated via St. Paul without change to Chicago.

Pamphlets giving valuable information can be obtained free upon application to your nearest ticket agent, or Jas. C. Pond, general passenger and ticket agent, Chicago, Ill.

Winter Tourist Rates Are now in effect via the "St. Paul & Duluth R. R." to principal resorts in Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, California and Mexico, including Jacksonville, St. Augustine, Indian River points in Florida, Galveston and Houston, Texas, Los Angeles, San Diego and San Francisco, Cal., at lowest rates, with choice of variable routes. For particulars and rates, call at 428 West Superior street, City Ticket Office.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic for the Week Beginning Jan. 8. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Torric—The duty of every day. Are we doing it? Ex. III, 4. Eph. vi, 5-8.

The rough, unheaven block of marble is not transformed into a thing of beauty by a rough stroke from the sculptor. Repeatedly the blows must fall, making changes here a little and there a little until at last by numberless seemingly insignificant acts a mighty work is performed. This character is built. No character is developed by one act or in a single day. Day by day we must perform the duties that come to us if at last we would possess a character of beauty and desirability. Hence the importance of paying particular attention to the performance of the duty of every day.

1. They offered the daily burnt offerings by number, according to the custom, as the duty of every day required (Ex. xii, 4). By permission of Cyrus, king of Persia, the children of Israel have returned from their captivity in Babylon to rebuild the temple and walls of Jerusalem. In the seventh month the people all gather together at Jerusalem to celebrate the feast of Tabernacles. This feast lasted for seven days. The burnt offerings in it were more numerous than in any other feast. Each day had its peculiar sacrifices. These the people of Israel observed, "as the duty of every day required," or more literally, "the duty of the day in its day." Each day had its peculiar duty, and it was performed on that day. As each feast day had its peculiar sacrifices, so today each day has its particular duties, and the example of the Israelites in performing regularly and systematically these daily duties is one that may well be followed by all who are serving God.

2. "Not with eye service, as men please, but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart" (Eph. vi, 6). In giving instructions to servants as to how they should obey their masters and serve them, Paul lays down principles which may apply to daily Christian service. It was not to be eye service. "Eye service" is labor when the master is present, and idleness and neglect so soon as he is gone. Such work has always been characteristic of slavery. The slave can have no higher aim than to please the one standing over him with the lash, who has the power to punish. Paul urges the servants to a higher service, not as simply working for men, but remembering that they belonged not to men, but to Christ, and to please him they were to do their work faithfully and well, whether or no the overseer was standing over them, whip in hand. Among our daily duties will be many that apply particularly to our fellow-men—duties in the home, social obligations, business responsibilities, etc.—the like. The Christian should perform these duties regularly and faithfully, not simply as doing them to man, but as Christ's servants. The eyes of men may not always be upon us to see that we do our duty as we ought, but God sees us always. Christian Endeavorers, let us perform all the peculiar duties of each and every day, whether to God or to man, in such a way that when the all seeing eye of God looks down upon us his verdict upon our lives may be, "Thou art doing the duty of every day."

Where the Mansion Was Built.

There is an Indian legend of a king who reigned in the land of the Hurons. He was a powerful and warlike man, and his beautiful palace ever erected on this earth. To this end he employed Jacob, the builder, giving him a great sum of money and sending him away among the Hurons, there to erect the wonderful palace. When Jacob came to the place he found the people there suffering from a sore famine and many of them dying. He took the king's money and all of his own and provided food for the starving multitude, thereby saving many lives. By and by the king came to see his palace, but found nothing done toward it. He sent for Jacob and learned why he had not obeyed his command. He was very angry and cast him into prison, saying that on the morrow he must die. That night the king had a dream. He was taken to heaven and saw there a wonderful palace, more wonderful than any he had ever beheld on earth. He asked what palace it was, and was told that it was built for him by Jacob, the builder. In sending the king's money for the relief of suffering ones on the earth he had reared this palace inside of heaven's gates. The king awoke, and sending for the builder told him his dream and pardoned him.—A Cluster of Pearls.

Christian Endeavor Notes.

The latest statistics of Christian Endeavor growth in Australia: Victoria, 200 societies, 8,000 members; South Australia, 58 societies, 1,650 members; New South Wales, 51 societies, 1,650 members; Queensland, 10 societies; New Zealand, 10; Tasmania, 10.

"The Christian Endeavor meetings," says The Australian Southern Cross, "for scale, enthusiasm and spiritual influence have been a very great success. Dr. Clark, by his modesty, tact and wisdom in counsel and general power in speech, has won golden opinions from all who have listened to him."

Eight new Endeavor societies have been organized in Louisville during the past year. Nine of the societies now existing in the city are Presbyterian, five Methodist, two Christian and two Lutheran.

The membership of the C. E. societies in the Presbyterian church is 250,000. Two cents per week on the part of each member would give $250,000 yearly, a sum far exceeding that which the entire Presbyterian church spends yearly on the 800,000,000 of China.

There are now 627 Senior and 92 Junior Christian Endeavor societies in the state of New Jersey, a gain of 170 societies in twelve months.

TIED MEN AND WOMEN.

The Best Way of Revivifying Their Spirits

And Securing Full Benefits of Nature's Sweet Restorer.

The Physical Evils That Afflict Many Young and Old People.

In explaining the great demand for Paine's celery compound that was told in yesterday's papers, a member of the health board in an adjoining city said:

"The nervous systems of thousands of people in this city are sorely taxed. 'And the danger of overwork exists as much among women as among men' as the numerous cases of insomnia and kindred nervous diseases in every physician's practice show."

"Even in youth the symptoms of a disordered nervous system often show themselves. But it is not so much overwork as overworry that affects the health of the child and results in disease. A class of forty girls in a Boston school was questioned not long ago, and more than half the number were conscious of loss of sleep and nervous apprehension on account of their school work."

The physician gave a perfect endorsement of the practice among physicians in highest standing of prescribing Paine's celery compound in all cases of nervous prostration, and he continued:

"Take our working women. They stand in the retail store day out, year in, year out, their spines are weakened, hence their spinal cord suffers and their brain becomes affected in consequence. Other women live a sedentary life, do not exercise sufficiently, wear tight corsets, etc., and shatter their nervous system. Of course you must remove the outward cause, but at the same time it is most important to aim, in your treatment, to strengthen the nervous system, and to apply known nerve foods."

And the safest and surest nerve food, the one that is prescribed for "that tired feeling," is this Paine's celery compound.

For all nervous diseases, neuralgia, rheumatism and dyspepsia this famous compound is a true remedy. For the headaches and sleeplessness that come to "the tired," Paine's celery compound is a never-failing relief. Take the case of Mrs. C. E. Prescott, who resides at 8 Worcester street, Cambridge, Mass. Mrs. Prescott says that she had had nervous headaches of the worst sort ever since she could remember. And she would have continued to have them but for the discovery of Professor Phelps of Dartmouth college.

Says Mrs. Prescott, speaking of the remarkable benefits she has received: "There is nothing like Paine's celery compound. It has helped me wonderfully. For more than five years I have been troubled. My heart was so weak that I could not do any kind of work without a terrible throbbing. Ever since I can remember I have had nervous headaches of the worst sort. I have taken several bottles of Paine's celery compound, and find it the only thing that helped me. I heartily recommend it to all suffering with the complaint with which I was afflicted, for this compound has done me such a marvelous amount of good that I want others to know its value."

And this is from a Detroit paper: Miss Marie Fonpard, of Grosse Pointe, suffered with that most distressing disease, dyspepsia, for four years. But Paine's celery compound gave her instant relief. She writes:

"I have suffered terribly with dyspepsia for four years. Headache and dizziness were my most annoying symptoms, but I was troubled with variable appetite, nausea, gnawing at the pit of the stomach, loss of flesh, salivary skin, sleeplessness. Paine's celery compound gave me relief at once, and the use of it for a year has done me an immense amount of good."

That insure to Duluth's supremacy than any other Duluth paper. It is essentially the women's paper; its bright and crisp society gossip, its many features pertaining directly to the homes, and the recognition of the cause of the gentle sex make THE EVENING HERALD especially of interest to them.

The independent course pursued by THE HERALD in politics has won for it many friends who are not prejudiced by party ties, and who approve of a fearless newspaper, but who loathe and despise a hide-bound organ, that only reverberates the sentiment of some party platform that has nothing in common with Duluth or her varied interests. THE EVENING HERALD has given several examples of its independence the past year and will continue to do so whenever in its opinion the good of Duluth demands it. If you do not take it, subscribe for it.

The business man reads it and advertises in it to the exclusion of all others, because it GIVES THE NEWS and is read by double as many readers as all other Duluth papers.

The laboring man and the artisan want THE EVENING HERALD because it is delivered fresh from the press at a time when his day's labors are ended and he has the long winter evenings to read to himself and family all the day's happenings of his own city and from every nook and corner of a busy and heedless world.
